N.W. Association for the Retarded Meets in Warren

Report on Four-county Research Project Is Given by Wayne Larson

The counties covered in the study project are Becker, Clay, Wilkin and Ottertail, and the purpose is to determine the needs of a retarded child and its family and provide local facilities for the child through schools, churches and service clubs.

Mr. Larson stated that the solution is not to provide bigger state institutions but providing educational, training and diagnostic treatment resources on the local level.

Parent groups are the most effective approach to meeting the problem of retardation, but the public, which owes a fair chance to the healthy child, also owes the same chance to the retarded or handicapped child, Larson said.

Parents and friends must organize and present a united front for study, research and adequate facilities both on a state and local level, he added.

The local unit of the organization invites all families interested to attend meetings which are generally held every third Thursday of the month.

N.W. Bell Telephone Co. Seeking Increase in Schedule of Rates

An upward adjustment in telephone rates was requested by the Northwestern Bell Telephone Bell Telephone company in an application filed Tuesday with the Minnesota railroad and warehouse commission. In explanation of the company's action, Wayne L. Huffman, Minnesota vice president and general manager, issued the following statement:

"It has been nearly four years since the last adjustment in telephone rates. During this period the cost of materials, equipment and labor required to provide telephone service have increased substantially, and we have reached a point where we can no longer continue to absorb them. Practically all other industries have been forced during this period to increase their prices for the same reasons, and we are certainly no exception.

"These higher costs have raised the company's average investment per telephone considerably. The telephones we installed from 1954 thru 1956 represented an investment of about $150 per phone. Telephones added so far this year represent an investment of more than $650 each.

"Since the last rate adjustment in February, 1954, the company has made three necessary wage and salary increases that have added nearly $5 million to annual operating expenses. We are now negotiating with our union on its demands which include a fourth general wage increase.

"The company's tax bill is the highest in its history, amounting to $2.42 per month for each Minnesota telephone.

"In the three year period from 1954 thru 1956, we spent $88 million in Minnesota to improve service as well as to meet the heaviest demand in our experience. Our construction expenditure for 1957 will be a record-breaking $37 million, and we expect new construction requirements for the next few years to continue at the same high level.

"To continue to improve and expand telephone service to meet the economic growth of this state will require large amounts of new capital which we must get from investors. We can't expect that people with money to invest will buy telephone securities unless they can expect a rate of return reasonably comparable with that offered by other companies.

"An increase in Minnesota telephone rates is urgently needed. Depending on the size of the community and the type of service, an increase of about 30c to 90c per month for residence customers and a proportionate increase in business rates, together with a nominal adjustment in long distance rates and some miscellaneous charges, will assure the continuation of ample service of high quality."

difficult problems to the legislature for solution as has been the practice in the past.

Final discussion on the agenda was the proposal to establish a mental health clinic in an unused wing of Sunny Rest sanatorium at Crookston.

Recent changes in procedure at Fergus Falls would leave the northwest counties without such facilities, Alfin Hanson stated, thus making action on the part of the commissioners almost imperative.

The proposed clinic has been endorsed by the commissioners from several counties in Northwest Minnesota, Hanson said, and urged that all counties represented at the meeting join the associated northwest counties in running the clinic, rather than using the clinic on a fee basis.

The proposed budget of the new mental health clinic was outlined and Hanson said use of the clinic on a fee basis by the counties not cooperating in its operation would actually be more expensive in the long run.

The reading of the minutes of meetings of Sept. 3 and 10th was dispensed with until the meeting of Nov. 5, 1957.

At 11:00 o'clock A.M. the Board met with representatives of the Pennington County 4-H Leaders Council and the Pennington County Agricultural Society to discuss the problem of the time of holding the Annual County Fair. Albert Koep spoke in behalf of the Fair Board and informed the County Board that a meeting had been held previously and discussion had been had and reference to a later Fair date had been resolved at. It appeared that the problems and desires of the various interested groups and individuals had been thoroughly aired and freely discussed and a better understanding arrived at and the matter was closed.

Commissioner Lindberg introduced the following resolution supplementing a resolution dated June 4, 1957 and recorded in the Commissioners Record Book No. 4, page [illegible] and moved its adoption:

WHEREAS, Pennington County has, through the Commissioner of Highways as its Agent, entered into a Federal Aid Secondary Contract in the amount of $60,172.[illegible] for the construction of Grading State Aid Road No. 1 and designated as S.P. 57-601-01, Federal Project S 0615 (1) and the Gravel Surface of State Aid Road No. 1 and designated as S.P. 57-601-02, Federal Project No. S 0615 (2) and

WHEREAS, A special allotment of $4,000.00 was granted this County to assist in the financing of said Federal Project S 0615 (2) and Federal Project S 0615 (1).

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED: That we do hereby request the Commissioner of Highways to take such steps as may be necessary to authorize and cause the payment of said Special Allotment to the County immediately, that the County of Pennington will upon receipt of said payment, relinquish these funds with the Commissioner of Highways to be used by him in paying the County's share of the monthly estimates on said projects as they become due and until such funds are exhausted.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED: That a certified copy of this Resolution be submitted to the Honorable L. P. Zimmerman, Commissioner of Highways.

The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Anderson and declared carried.

Commissioner Tase introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

BE IT RESOLVED that the Commissioner of Highways be and he hereby is authorized and requested to take such steps and perform such acts, on behalf of the County of Pennington, as may be necessary to have the construction and improvement of the roads, hereinafter described, properly approved by the Commissioner of Public Roads as a Federal Aid Secondary project eligible for expenditure of Federal Funds thereon and eligible for present construction and the letting of a contract therefore:

Beginning at the Southwest Corner of Section 23, T153N, R41W; on State Aid Highway No. 8, (Old S.A.H. No. 1) thence Easterly along said State Aid Highway No. 8, a distance of seven and seven tenths (7.7) miles to the Northeast Corner of Section 4, T153N, R40W, and there terminating.

The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Hanson and declared carried.

Moved by Hanson seconded by Lindberg that the Road Committee and the Bridges and Culvert Committee inspect roads and bridges and culverts at 1:00 P.M., Oct. 11, 1957. Carried.

At 4:00 P.M. the Board convened to consider the alternation of County Ditch No. 41 in conjunction with Grading of S.A.H. No. 7 as advertised and called according to Law. No landowners or interested parties appeared. County Engineer Seidel presented plans and specifications of the minor change and after discussion it was moved by Commissioner Hanson and duly seconded by Commissioner Olson that the following resolution be adopted:

WHEREAS, The County Board of Pennington County has now duly considered the plan for a minor alteration in County Ditch No. 41 as submitted by the County Engineer pursuant to M.S. 1955, Chapter 525, and has been heard by all interested parties wishing to be heard, and there being no objections to the proposed minor alteration.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED: That the Resolution of the County Board requesting this hearing, the plan of the Engineer and the Notice of Hearing have all been made according to Law and said minor alteration to County Ditch No. 41 is hereby authorized as set forth and included in plan for grading SAH No. 7: SP 57-603-01 and upon completion such alteration shall be a part of County Ditch No. 41 as though it had been originally so constructed and established.

Upon a vote being taken on the foregoing resolution, all Commissioners present voted in favor of the adoption of the resolution and was so declared by the Chairman presiding.

Moved by Anderson seconded by Hanson that the following motion inadvertently omitted from the minutes of the meeting of December 4, 1956 be entered of record, to-wit:

Causes Defeat in County of Social Security Issue

The vote Tuesday in the referendum among Pennington county members of the Public Employes Retirement association on whether or not to come under the provisions of the federal social security act was 68 Yes and 38 No.

However, 44 members who failed to vote were counted against the proposal, making the vote 68 Yes and 82 No. Four absentee ballots that were cast will be counted in the St. Paul office, which will also be called upon to decide on ten ballots which are subject to contest for various reasons.

The final outcome of Tuesday's vote will not be known until the returns thruout Minnesota have been tabulated, the issue being decided on a statewide basis.

In charge of the referendum here were County Auditor C. W. Rodekuhr, Probate Judge Herman A. Kjos, and Ralph Hunt, acting secretary of the county welfare board.

Prowlers Face Bemidji Friday

Except for the series against the Crookston Pirates, the football Prowlers will engage in one of their longest-lived rivalries when, on Friday night on the Lincoln high school athletic field, they meet coach Kenneth (Red) Wilson's Bemidji Lumberjacks. The Bemidji vs Thief River Falls football competition began back in the 1900's, about '07 or '08, and it has been an annual event ever since 1928.

Over the years, the Lumberjacks have piled up a top heavy string of wins, having scored twenty-seven victories, absorbed but eight losses, and played two tie games.

In last season's game between the two clubs, the Prowlers, by a 20 to 13 score, defeated the Jacks at Bemidji.

In the long, and exciting series, the high scores have usually been tallied by the Lumberjacks. Back in 1929, Bemidji trounced the Prowlers by a 67 to 0 score, while the largest margin by which a local club has defeated the Lumberjacks was that 27 to 0 win posted by the 1943 Prowler aggregation.

Kickoff time for Friday night's tilt will be at 8:00 p.m. Coach Joe Mrkonich announced that the following players would comprise the starting offensive unit for the Prowlers: ends, Ken DeLap and Stan Torgerson; tackles, Don Lilstrom and Larry Gausen; guards, Ken Jones and Ken Sauve or Harold Froehle; center, Jimmy Nelson; quarterback, Phil Hanson; halfbacks, Dave Rasmussen and Lynn Nicholson; and fullback, Jim Bennes.

Goodridge Pupils at FTA Meeting in Bemidji Friday

Five members of the Goodridge high school chapter of the Future Teachers of America last Friday attended a FTA conference at Bemidji state college. Included were Jeanne Wikstrom, Ann Haugen, Shirley Arveson, Janice Wilkins and Margaret Benson.

Dr. C. R. Sattgast, president of the college, welcomed the group, and presented several student teachers who gave demonstrations of their classroom work, following which group discussions were held.

Climax of the day's activities was attendance at a concert by the United States Air Force band.

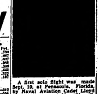
In Solo Flight



A first solo flight was made Sept. 19, at Pensacola, Florida, by Naval Aviation Cadet Lloyd R. Melvie, son of Mrs. Olga B. Melvie of Thief River Falls.

Ollie Mosestad Serves as Chairman of Campaign

Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 2793, plans to observe Minnesota's centennial year with the highest membership in its history, according to Commander Benhart Johnson.

"Not a small part of the pride of the state is in its military history," said Commander Johnson. "The first volunteers of the Civil War came from Minnesota, the first shot of World War II was fired by a Minnesota gun crew, and Minnesota lead the nation in the percentage of its young men found acceptable for military service."

Veterans of Foreign Wars Posts throughout the state have been asked to participate in the military aspect of centennial observances.

The organization of overseas combat veterans has already opened its 1958 membership drive, under the direction of Chairman Ollie Mosestad. The first phase will close on November 9th, when a delegation of post members will deliver their first reports to State Department Commander Joe Bobleter. Bobleter will fly throughout the State on that week-end in an effort to encourage the observance of Veterans Day and will make stops in each congressional district. Representatives of Post 2793 will meet him at Crookston when he arrives there at 3:00 p.m.

"We welcome as a member any eligible veterans who is interested in working for his community, promoting patriotic observances and assisting sick and needy veterans and the widows and orphans of those who lost their lives in the defense of their country," said Chairman Mosestad. Those interested in joining the post are asked to contact any member as soon as possible.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Wow!

Did you notice the score by which Duane Sundby's Crookston Pirates defeated the Bemidji Lumberjacks last Friday night? It was 47 to 6. We have delved into our record books, and they are quite complete, and it appears that defeat was the most one-sided that a Bemidji football team had received in regional competition.

It is a bit difficult to explain that high score, but sufficient to say that Kenneth (Red) Wilson's club (and Red admitted this fact early in the season) isn't the talent-laden squad of previous years. That's evident by their season's record. And the Crookston Pirates, with six wins and no losses mark, have developed into a stronger club than the pre-season forecast predicted. Much of this improvement in the play of the Pirates is due to the inspiring performance of fullback Ken Wold. He's one of the regions' better competitors.

Coming up on Friday night is the traditional Bemidji vs. Thief River Falls tilt. On the season's record, the Prowlers should be rated as the favorites; but in the games between the Jacks and the Prowlers the season's records have little bearing on the outcome.

It is reported that the flu has stricken the Bemidji area, approaching epidemic proportions, and that a large number of students and teachers have been forced to miss school. It is probable that several of the Lumberjack football squad members have been affected, too. But you can be sure that Red will have a squad of football players here for Friday night's game.

And the Prowlers will be hurting for Friday night's tilt, too, for they will be without the services of their big end, Dave Hanson.

Big Dave, and he has been playing a strong game at end for the Prowlers this season, and exhibiting a fine attitude towards the game and his coaches, was cut from the squad because of a training infraction. As we received the story, it happened like this: following Friday night's game at Warroad, the Prowler players were milling around the side-lines, and a spectator flipped a lighted cigarette. Dave, in an unexplainable boyish prank, picked up the butt and began puffing on the cigarette. The incident was noticed by a bystander and reported to the local principal. The principal in turn reported the episode to coach Joe Mrkonich. Rules being rules, coach Joe had no alternative but to cut Dave from the squad.

Lost

We made a follow-up on Stan (Sandy) Wilson's performance at the Grand American Trapshooting tournament at Vandalia, Ohio, this year. You will recall that Sandy, with a 94 x 100, and breaking his final fifty straight, was in line for quite a chunk of the option money.

Stan Wilson Sr. (and in the Wilson family, and among acquaintances, the senior Wilson is referred to as Stan, while the junior Wilson is called Sandy) told us that Sandy had received $200 as his share of the option money, and that an additional sum of $113 was received as his share of the purse.

In the junior trapshooting competition, Sandy, finishing among the leaders, was presented with a wrist watch.

The Wilsons, Stan and Sandy, have already made plans and reservations for attending next year's Grand American Trapshoot. We hear, too, that Dr. Jim Dlase, one of the local club's high overage shooters, intends to try the Grand American competition.

He Was a Good One

We didn't intend, when we made our recital of all the good guards that have been produced by the Prowler football squads, to make a catalog of these individual players. We merely noted some of the boys that came readily to mind.

Irv Wilson refreshed our memory about Dake Ayers, a stocky guard who played for John Lindenmeyer's Prowler club in 1940. Irv was a team-mate of Dake's on that team, and he stated that he was sure that Dake played every minute of every game on the 1940 schedule. That was Dake's senior year.

That 1940 Prowler team, which won four games and produced a startling upset when they defeated a highly-rated Moorhead Spuds team, winning by a 32 to 14.

John Lindenmeyer, the coach that year, visited here this past summer, and he remarked that that game, and its outcome, was vivid in his memory. Remember some of those boys? Tommy Carlisle, Babe Peterson, Johnny Parbst, Bob Wright, John Dablow, LaRue Anderson, Orrin Fjelerson, Eddie Flasch, Jim Ferguson, Doug Snelling, Connie Gestion, Don Berg, Luther Fjelstad, and Deke and Irv.

More Fertilizer Is Used in State

Still Lots of Crop Land in Need of Plant Food

Minnesota farmers are using more fertilizer than ever, but there is still a lot of state cropland which is going hungry for plant food.

There was about 15 percent more fertilizer used during the 1957 crop season over a year earlier, according to W. P. Martin, head of the University of Minnesota soils department and R. E. Bergman, state feed and fertilizer control office.

Total fertilizer use so far this year is about a half million tons in Minnesota.

But Martin points out that plant nutrient use is still outrunning fertilizer application. Only half of the farmers in the Gopher state use any commercial fertilizer at all. And most of what they do use goes on corn.

One bright spot in the fertilizer picture is a steady trend toward "higher analysis" fertilizer, Martin says. This means farmers are getting more for their fertilizer dollars than ever. Total plant food now makes up more than 40 percent of all fertilizer sold, compared to only 27 percent 10 years ago.

Martin attributes the upward trend in fertilizer use to increasing awareness by farmers that fertilizer is one of their best guards against the price-cost squeeze. Prices for fertilizer has risen only six percent in the past 10 years, compared to 40 percent for land and machinery, 25 percent for wages and building supplies and 56 percent for farm real estate taxes.

State Opens Study of Motor Vehicle Laws

Minnesota is blazing the trail for a new, and possibly national field of research to see that motorists get the fullest possible dollar's worth of value out of their long-range, 50 billion road building program.

The "Minnesota Plan", as recently acclaimed at the national convention of the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators at Roanoke, Va., is a long-range study of all laws, regulations and administrative policies that affect all phases of motor vehicle ownership and use. Its objective is to assure owners and operators of the future the safest, most economical and most efficient utility of the highway transportation facilities that are or will become available under the record-breaking construction program.

Origin of the Minnesota study is based upon the precept that, just as vast mileages of streets and highways have been completely outmoded by modern traffic trends, so may some of the statutory provisions which apply today be outmoded or inadequate to accomodate the vehicles and traffic of tomorrow.

The project is being conducted by the Minnesota motor vehicle and traffic laws study committee, of 68 citizens, appointed last year by Governor Orville L. Freeman and President Arthur V. Rohweder of the Minnesota Safety Council, to explore the problems of motor vehicle ownership, traffic, transportation, safety, and related legislation. George W. Lawson of St. Paul, first vice president of the Minnesota Safety Council, is chairman.

The larger committee functions with a subcommittee of nine, also headed by Mr. Lawson; a committee of an equal number of state department study advisors; and a working study staff of seven, headed by J. E. P. Darrell, traffic and planning engineer for the state highway department, as study director. The study staff members each represent one or more of the principal state departments or divisions involved in the study.

The Minnesota study organization is committed to:

1. A broad, continuing research program into the origin and effect of all laws, regulations and administrative policies of government that apply to the safety economy and convenience of all who own or operate motor vehicles, and

Water Resources Board Convenes

Studies Petitions from Northwest Minnesota

The first meeting of the Minnesota water resources Board with its original three members and two additional members appointed under the law passed by the 1957 legislature, was held Tuesday, October 8.

The board was reorganized with John Daley, Lewiston, as chairman, Charles L. Horn, Minneapolis, secretary, and a vice-chairman to be appointed. Other members are: Russell Younggren, Hallock; George E. Buscher, Alexandria, and Dr. Herbert E. Wright, geology department, University of Minnesota.

Other matters of procedure for meetings, public hearings and advisory opinions were discussed as the board immediately began consideration of water problems.

A petition from George A. Selke, conservation commissioner to intervene in the matter of the Metropolitan Airports Commission and the Liquid Carbonic Corporation petition was considered. The board accepted jurisdiction of the petitions subject to an opinion of the attorney general that the petitions had been submitted properly. Tentative public hearing dates were set for October 29-30 in the auditorium of the State Office Building.

The several petitions for the establishment of watershed districts were considered.

A public hearing date on November 5 at Hallock was set for consideration of the Joe River watershed district and the Warroad watershed district is to be resubmitted for further consideration and action.

Consideration was given to various problems in other areas that have indicated an interest in forming a watershed district. These include the Two Rivers watershed in Roseau County.

36,200 Acres of Wetlands in 58 Counties Bought

Minnesota game officials reported today that over 36,200 acres of wetlands in 58 counties have been purchased or optioned for purchase to date.

Wetlands presently under the control of the game and fish division may be identified by two types of signs which mark boundary lines and access points. The signs read as follows: "Wildlife Conservation Area — Minnesota Division of Game and Fish" or "Wildlife Management Area, Minnesota Division of Game and Fish." The latter sign will soon be in general use.

All areas marked with either of these signs are open to public hunting during the regular open seasons. Most of the wetlands located in the southwestern region of the state have good pheasant populations. Water conditions appear to be normal or somewhat above normal on most areas.

The duck hunter will find all types of shooting to be had on the wetland areas — jump, pass and decoy. Because of the heavy cover in most wetland areas the use of dogs is recommended.

Editorials . . .

"It is the prime secret of the Open Road that you are to pass nothing, reject nothing, despise nothing upon this earth. As you travel, many things both great and small will come to your attention; you are to regard all with open eyes and a heart of simplicity. Believe that everything belongs somewhere; each thing has its fitting and luminous place within this mosaic of human life. The Road is not open to those who withdraw the skirts of intolerance or lift the chin of pride. Rejecting the least of those who are called common or unclean it is (curiously) you yourself that you reject. If you despise that which is ugly you do not know that which is beautiful."

—David Grayson

County Taxes Up

Taxes for county purposes will be increased substantially again this year, and, once again, the increase is due to bigger expenditures for welfare. Our ability to pay higher taxes in the county is lower than it has been for some time. It therefore is not encouraging to learn that we will be expected to pay more.

This increase, it might be noted, is not due to greater liberality with the taxpayer's dollars at the local level. The increased costs are due to the more liberal regulations imposed by very liberal state and national governments. In this field the jurisdiction of local officials is very limited. The standards are established at the state and federal levels and in order to qualify for state and federal grants local officials must provide the matching funds—and those matching funds must be obtained through local taxes.

The local relief agencies have little authority in matters of relief. But the taxpayers still have considerable responsibility.

Could Be Good—Or Bad

Arthur Naftalin, capable commissioner of administration in the Orville Freeman government, suggests that Minnesota's state colleges (formerly called Teacher's Colleges) should be made a part of the University of Minnesota. The proposal has much to recommend it.

Our state colleges are very much a part of our system of higher education and, under our present method of administration, they are the part of our public education system that is most in need of a general reorganization. These schools and the University should be operated under a coordinated program, based on high, uniform standards. The University should become more and more a graduate and professional school, leaving the preparatory field to our private, state and junior colleges.

We can see many advantages in a program of this kind. It could provide better educational opportunities for young people in all parts of the state, and at lower costs in terms of tax dollars. And we are satisfied that these are the objectives of Mr. Naftalin and most of the advocates of such reorganization.

We are skeptical however about such good results being accomplished. The University and the state colleges are being operated, in theory, for purposes of higher education. Their main political support however, and they are strong politically, comes from those who benefit from them commercially. And there is reason to fear that reorganization might add more to the strength of the forces of evil than it would to the forces of good.

Nevertheless the proposal does have sufficient merit to justify careful consideration. Certainly there is need for a thorough study of standards maintained by these schools and the failure of the University to increase its production of doctors, dentists, lawyers, pharmacists and graduates in other professional schools, in line with its increased enrollment. It appears that these professional schools have been operated under a program of planned scarcity, in the interests of professions rather than in the interests of the people of the state.

These are some of the problems that should be studied toward the end that our schools of higher education might be made better and not just larger.

Canada and Trade Barriers

American and Canadian officials are discussing the trade problems in which we have conflicting interests, in an attempt to agree upon a course that will make it possible for us to continue our good relations in a spirit of cooperation rather than competition. Several of the questions on which we are divided are political "hot potatoes" involving the interests of special groups.

Canada's main complaint is our wheat export program. We are accused of "dumping" our surplus to the detriment of the Dominion's normal world market. And the Canadians do not like some of the barriers we have set up to keep them from selling other products in our country.

We are at a disadvantage in these arguments in that they buy a great deal more from us than we buy from them, and we therefore have more to lose if we try to solve our differences by retaliation rather than compromise.

Nearly half a century ago President Taft supported the idea of a reciprocal trade treaty with Canada that gradually would have leveled off nearly all the barriers to trade between the two countries. It was opposed by the special groups that feared increased competition, and these groups were strong enough politically to defeat it.

We probably should give consideration to such a plan at this time. A group of European nations have pooled their resources in a common market which, they realize, is going to disrupt some of their operations. They recognize the overall good however that will result from a free exchange of goods and services such as we have here among our 48 states of the Union, and believe the advantages will greatly outweigh the disadvantages.

We are sure that a gradual lowering and eventual elimination of all trade barriers between our country and Canada would be in the best interests of all of us.

Report on Viking News of the Week

Mrs. Arne Samuelson, Phone 173

Viking School News

Let's see what our faculty has to say about our school this past six weeks!

Grade 1-2 by Miss JoAnn Ness

In our room this year, we have fourteen second graders and six first graders.

On Thursday John and Bruce Pichard left. We were sorry to see them leave.

The first graders are leaving their colors and numbers and will soon start with their preprimers. On Friday we all made posters on safety and fire prevention.

We all are waiting for our carnival which is Oct. 18.

Grade 3-4 by Mrs. Halward Anderson (Principal)

Our room has taken on the Halloween appearance. We have a bulletin board up with pictures of some of the activities that take place. The boys and girls have also made some Halloween decorations.

We now have only 28 in our room, as David Pichard has moved to Clearbrook.

We have started multiplying and dividing in 3rd grade arithmetic. They seem to be enjoying it.

In 4th grade social studies, we have been studying about the men who discovered North America. We have had one test on it and 12 of them got a mark above 90 which was very good.

The boys and girls and we teachers will be looking forward to seeing you on Friday night at our carnival.

Grade 5-6 by Mrs. Larry Laymon

This year the 5-6 grade room has 21 pupils. 11 in 5th and with our new pupil, Iono Ostlund, we have 10 in 6th. These past weeks have been filled with much excitement for all because of the picture taking and of course our carnival.

This month our room is trimmed for the month of October. Columbus' ships, autumn, and Halloween cats and pumpkins. During the 3rd week of school a few children went to the demonstration at teachers institute at Warren. It was a very good experience and they enjoyed it.

Grades 7-8 by Miss Carol Leining

Our enrollment is smaller than that of any of the other rooms. We have 17 enrolled. There are 10 in the 7th grade and 7 in the 8th grade.

Our room is decorated for the month of October with a bulletin board on autumn and halloween pictures.

In the seventh grade social Studies class, we are studying about England and her colonies and how the colonists united to fight for freedom.

The 8th graders are learning about all the different foods we obtain from plants.

There has been much excitement in school for a number of reasons. First the demonstration of different physical education skills which was given by 12 of our pupils at Warren for the teacher's institute Sept. 19-20. Secondly, the taking of pictures which was on Oct. 9. Then of course the waiting of our school carnival Oct. 18. Hope to see you there.

How many "vitamin pills" per bottle?

Some vitamin preparations seem like bargains. Lots of capsules per dollar. But that's not the way medications should be measured. The true measure is potency—how much active, beneficial ingredient per dollar. When you measure this way, you will find that the real "bargains" are in your registered pharmacy. Before you buy vitamin preparations from a nonprofessional source, check with your physician. It pays.

Economics Bureau Compares Inflation in U. S. and in France

Worried because your dollar has shrunk until it only buys 50 cents' worth?

What if would only buy four cents' worth, compared to prewar days? Suppose the smallest paper money in your billfold was a $100 bill, and it wouldn't buy a dinner in a good restaurant? And you had to pay the newsboy $5 for a daily paper?

This is how much Jean Publique, French citizen, has seen his money, the franc, depreciate. The causes? Much the same as those that are at work on our American dollar, only in bigger doses, and at work over a longer period of time. Therefore the French inflation has crept faster and farther than ours, says the family economics bureau of Northwestern National Life Insurance company.

French retail prices now average approximately 175 times what they were in 1913, and about 25 times as much as they were before World War II, the bureau says.

By 1939 it was worth less than 13 American dollars. Today, since the recent further devaluation of the franc, an American tourist can get a 500-franc note in exchange for $1.19 in 1957 American money. It is now the smallest French paper money in common use.

The following are principal causes, says the bureau's report, which have made the French franc a tiny fraction of it former self: Huge war costs, financed mostly by borrowing. Continuation of government deficits long after both world wars, with further heavy borrowing. Government subsidies and other benefit payments to many and various groups. Mass wage raises and price increases, in repeated cycles.

In short, the war-born French inflation has continued by way of "easy money" and "easy spending" policies. In France there is now about 33 times as much money in circulation as before World War II, says the insurance company's report.

About half of the French money supply consists of coins and paper currency; the rest is "deposited money", corresponding to our demand deposits.

This is in contrast to the United States, where less than one-fifth of the money in circulation is actual coins and paper money. The rest is demand deposits, or "checkbook dollars", a substantial part of which are created by the signing of various forms of promissory notes by government, business and individuals.

Our money in circulation now totals four times what is amounted to before World Warr II. It has increased by about 23 per cent from the 1947-49 level, or very close to the proportion (21 %) that living costs have risen in the same period. Our money is circulating much faster than in the past, also. If it weren't for producing more than twice as much goods as in 1939, our dollar would have shrunk more than it actually has, the bureau says.

In France, as in the United States, there has long been bitter complaint over the rising prices. But through powerful pressure groups Frenchmen, like Americans, complain just as bitterly when their government attempts to tighten up the easy money policies that feed the inflation that makes high prices.

In recent months the French government has faced a mounting tide of indignant protests from millions of citizens as it set out to reduce government expenditures, tighten credit, and halt the wage-price cycle.

The real problem of halting inflation, says the bureau, is the widespread popularity of the causes of inflation. Even a mild readjustment after a prolonged inflation "joy-ride" is unpleasant to many large groups.

Pheasant Hunting Starts Saturday

Game Division Requests Cooperation of Hunters

Noon on Saturday, October 19 will see the start of the pheasant hunting season which continues through November 3. Hunters are expected to find it tough going on opening weekend with much of the corn still unpicked and a heavy growth of weeds and underbrush.

Game biologists under the direction of Dr. Stanley Harris, upland game specialist, will be conducting bag checks in Fraser township, Martin county. This area is the scene of intensive research on pheasants. Biologists trapped and released 298 wild pheasants in the township in a study survival. Land use changes along with new agricultural practices are being evaluated by the biologists as they relate to pheasant populations.

In addition, some 3,000 game farm pheasants have been banded and released in six townships under study. Sportsmen clubs have released 2,167 banded cocks in three general areas. These birds were raised under the cooperative "day old chick" program.

Also, 250 bill marked birds were released in Fraser township and 250 at Heron Lake, Jackson county. These markers are being used in a study of winter survival. They show up readily from the air and can be used in making population estimates.

"The hunter is the key to the success of these research projects", stressed Dr. Harris. "Without his cooperation in returning bands and bill markers we couldn't carry on our studies. Pheasant wings and feet are also important to our researching, for with them we get a picture of the age makeup of the population. We want to get as many wings and feet as possible from pheasants all over the state. As in the case of grouse, special prepaid collection envelopes are available from game wardens and other department personnel."

Cub Scouts Depict Pioneer Days

Patrol Students Hear Zimmerman

State Highway Chief Speaks at Camp Ripley

"The Minnesota highway department is just as much concerned with preventing traffic accidents as it is with building roads," according to State Highway Commissioner L. P. Zimmerman.

In an address at the highway patrol training school at Camp Ripley Wednesday, Commissioner Zimmerman said, "When our trunk highway system was established 37 years ago, the principal concern of the Minnesota highway department was building roads. Nine years after the state trunk highway system was inaugurated the legislature passed the legislation establishing the Minnesota Highway Patrol.

"Even in those early days the highway department recognized the need for patrolmen to direct and control traffic on our highways," he said. "The ever increasing number of vehicles and miles driven on our highways has made the job of preventing accidents more important thru the years, until now the highway department is placing almost as much emphasis on preventing accidents as it does on building roads," the Commissioner explained.

"Eventually," he said, "we will eliminate many accidents through engineering and education, but strict, uniform law enforcement will always play an important part in keeping our highways safe.

"This job of enforcing our traffic laws and patrolling our highways requires an extraordinary sort of man with a unique combination of qualities. First, he must be a strict and impartial law enforcement officer. But he must be more than that. He also must be a diplomat, an angel of mercy and a tourist guide."

He told the 58 future highway patrol candidates attending the school that the patrolman's job was never more important and never more difficult. "It is true," he said, "that you will be better trained and better equipped than any of your predecessors [illegible] you will need every resource available to cope with our traffic accident problem."

129 Arrested for Violating Game Laws Last Month

Game wardens made 129 arrests for violation of the game and fish laws in September, reports Arthur Emme, deputy chief warden.

With the advent of fall weather wardens report an upswing in violations surrounding the transportation of firearms. Thirty-three arrests were made for transporting loaded or uncased firearms in motor vehicles.

"There is no excuse for a hunter to carry a loaded gun in his car," warned Emme. "He not only endangers himself but other occupants in the car as well."

Fishing violations resulted in 59 arrests, while small game and waterfowl violations resulted in 10 arrests. Seventeen arrests were made for violations of the wild rice laws.

We, as professional pharmacists, work with doctors, providing the drugs they order. So, if you have any kind of a persistent pain, see your physician. THE BLACK SHEEP OF OUR FAMILY

When Johnny started Sunday School . . . the Devil thought he had his foot in the door.

The teachers must have been at their wit's end—but they never showed it. The Superintendent faced many a crisis—but always he was patient. The Pastor even smiled as he returned the confiscated peashooter. "You're not a bad shot, Johnny," he said!

Claire and I soon began to realize that Christians do turn the other cheek . . . In the Junior Department it's standard operating procedure.

TODAY, Johnny is a freshman in college. Every Sunday he attends the church of our faith near the campus. And, recently, he confided to me his ambitions:

He wants to become an engineer. Then, he wants to marry his childhood sweetheart, Jane. And as soon as they're settled, he wants to teach a class of "real gone" kids in the Junior Department.

Now Claire and I realize what the Church means in the life of the "black sheep"—of your family or ours!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

WHO DOESN'T? Especially you. And who deserves one more than you? Nobody.

Now wait a minute—don't drag out the excuses yet. Sure, major appliances cost money. Maybe more than you can comfortably put your hands on right now. Or maybe you don't want to touch that savings account. Perfectly understandable.

But if you're ready for that new appliance now—and your credit is in good shape—you can get it.

We at the bank like to make appliance loans. We like to make them to people like you who can use them profitably to make living more comfortable and convenient.

You'll be surprised to discover how low the monthly payments can be. And pleased with the low bank rates.

So decide on the appliance you want. Pick out the make and model. Then come in and talk with us. There's a good chance we can get together on it.

Our Land

Increases "Beef Per Acre"

When you measure the amount of "beef per acre," you can more clearly see the difference between good and poor pastures and the value of improved feeding practices for beef cattle. This was proven again during the past year by a trio of University of Minnesota men—Al Harvey, livestock scientist, Paul Burson, soils scientist and Al Schmid, agronomist. They increased beef profits per acre by 60 percent through fertilizing the pasture, feeding grain and implanting the steers with stilbestrol pellets.

All three of these practices were important. Fertilization alone increased the amount of beef produced per acre from 254 to 312 pounds. And when steers on fertilized pasture, were also fed ground corn and were implanted with stilbestrol, there were 582 pounds of beef produced on each acre. That is more than twice as much as on a "check" pasture where none of these practices were followed.

The most striking part of this story is the profit picture. After subtracting the feed and fertilizer cost, the scientists discovered that using all three practices resulted in almost $90 profit per acre, compared to $35.88 on the check pasture. This is a convincing argument for pasture fertilization and better management of beef steers on pasture. The University men add, of course that 1957 was a particularly good pasture year. But they are also certain that fertilizing would still bring proportionally good results in a dry year.

These tests were conducted at the University's Agricultural Experiment Station at Rosemount, as part of a long-time beef-grassland project there. There have been other important findings there too; for example, steers graze manure dropping spots better on fertilized pastures than where it's unfertilized. They also have found silage corn makes the best silage for wintering beef calves. But even though grass silage has less feeding value for these animals than corn silage, grass silage is still recommended where it's difficult to make hay.

More people would follow the straight and narrow path today if there were an admission charge.

Traffic Fatalities Mount Again in State

After two months when Minnesota traffic fatalities dropped below corresponding months of 1956, the state's good record was broken during September when [illegible] fatalities resulted from traffic mishaps. This was two more than September of 1956 and four more than the average of the previous five years.

Reports of the accident record section of the Minnesota highway department show that September, 1957, had the second highest death toll in ten years. Only in 1953, when 638 persons died in traffic, was the September toll higher; 90 persons were killed in that month.

Despite the slight increase in fatalities, the rate per 100 million miles of vehicle travel remained the same at 4.8 deaths and 3.9 fatal accidents. This resulted from an increase in the number of vehicles driven and an increase in the number of miles driven as vacation trips put more people on the roads.

The increase could be attributed to the fact that pedestrian deaths doubled from previous months as 12 pedestrians were killed, compared to six the previous month. Nine of these deaths occurred on rural highways. These deaths brought the nine-months total to 63 of which [illegible] were killed in urban areas.

Excessive speed continued to head the list of driver errors resulting in fatal mishaps, the department reported. In 34 deaths, drivers were reported to have been traveling at speeds in excess of that safe for conditions or over the stated limits. Drinking drivers contributed to 15 deaths; while in ten mishaps, the fatality was attributed to pedestrian error such as jay-walking or drinking.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor Times:

At the close of the special hearing called in the dispute over whether school Districts 15 and 46 in Pennington county and 76 in Marshall county should join Thief River Falls District 563, B. W. Hendrickson of the state department of education stated that the final decision in the case will be based on its merits in relation to pupil benefits in getting a better education. We are concerned in the public announcement of this final decision. We are interested in whose merits and whose pupil benefits will be considered. Will these common independent districts be given a special voting privilege that was denied other neighboring common independent districts. Will the pupils of the three districts in question be the only pupils considered, or will the pupils of the area be considered, as certainly the pupil benefits of the area would be greatly impaired in relation to a better education.

At the time of the reorganization act Districts 66 and 68 of Pennington county were not given the right to vote as common independent districts, altho they were common independent districts. This is true of neighboring common independent districts. We are using Districts 66 and 68 as an example. District 66 had bussed to Goodridge for two years and District 68 had maintained their own school. These districts were given the right to vote on the area basis, but not on the district basis. Had they voted one hundred per cent to stay out of Goodridge district, they still would have been in the Goodridge district because of the area vote. The pupil benefits for a better education of the two districts were not considered, but pupil benefits on the area as a whole were considered. At this time Goodridge did not have home economics, music department, or vocational agriculture, but because of the reorganization act these districts were given no choice. If a method of voting which was adjudged right for these districts is not right for Districts 15, 46 and 76, why isn't it? Is it because Districts 15, 46 and 76 offered a nuclei of resistance and implemented this resistance with the services of a lawyer to bring about pressure to bear so as to get for themselves a freedom of choice not enjoyed by their neighbors.

In all the various surveys and recommendations the state department of education contends that a high school should be maintained in this large Goodridge area. Again the state department of education is looking at the area as a whole. In numerous surveys and recommendations the findings have been that these three districts should be considered as part of the Goodridge high school area. If Goodridge should be forced to close, what about the education of all these children in the outlying area. Can the state department of education be justified in giving special privileges to a few, while at the same time impairing educational opportunities for so many others.

It was brought out at the special hearing that a group of Mavie citizens made a trip to the Cities to contact the state department of education in behalf of their school problems and that Mr. Hendrickson made a phone call to Mr. Mickelson, Supt. Schools, Thief River Falls and Mr. Mickelson was advised to enroll the children of the three districts concerned. Mr. Mickelson asked Mr. Hendrickson if the phone call would be confirmed by letter and such letter was received by Mr. Mickelson. Now all of this transpired before the special public hearing, before all facts were in and considered. Mr. Wiseth was requested by the Goodridge Citizens Committee to contact Mr. Hendrickson and inquire as to the method of procedure at the special hearing. Mr. Hendrickson informed Mr. Wiseth that it would be the regular procedure. But when the special hearing opened Mr. Hendrickson stated that the procedure would be reversed and the opponents would be heard first.

In speaking for the three districts wishing to join Thief River Falls District 563, lawyer Chommie said the Thief River Falls district has "leaned over backwards" to comply with laws and recommendations. And may we assume this would include being a good neighbor, if so, may we also ask why the Thief River Falls board of education found it too inconvenient to meet with the Goodridge board of education to discuss this issue. Such a request was made shortly before the Goodridge Citizens Committee was organized.

Those of you who have followed this school discussion know that the three districts in question contend that they have much more in common with Thief River Falls district, but yet they are from our own area. Thief River Falls is our trade area, our marketing center, our purchasing center, as well as our medical center and hospitalization center, the county seat for those of us who live in Pennington county and thus our general business center.

The three districts in question are near the Goodridge school, in fact the boundary of the area comes within four and one-half miles of the Goodridge school. If these three districts are taken out of the Goodridge high school area, it would form an irregular district, or have the same effect as gerrymandering. Transportation would be uneconomical. This would take away from Goodridge some of the shorter bus hauls and some of the better roads, while at the same time Goodridge busses would still be serving the more distant area. Some of the bus routes are over 40 miles long with poorer roads.

As stated at the hearing by Glen Tasa, Pennington County Commissioner, the Goodridge school district is the largest in the state in area and has a sparse population, low valuation and the highest cost per child in attendance. He said the school should not be closed under any circumstances, in an answer to some arguments by the Goodridge folk that "if the three districts join Thief River Falls, all should join." If the three districts in question are allowed to withdraw from the Goodridge high school area, it would mean a loss in revenue which would increase the tax rate about 12 mills, and Goodridge with the highest cost per child in attendance would then go still higher. The Goodrige school problems will not be solved by adding more hardships. If Thief River Falls takes in the three districts in question, by consolidation or any other means, they will definitely be adding to the problems of the Goodridge school.

At the special hearing the Mavie folk had a great deal to say about the Goodridge school. If the Goodridge school be so poor, then may we be justified in asking this question, "why then did three of your high school students choose to go to Goodridge high school this year instead of Thief River Falls?" Goodridge children are provided with a wholesome noonday lunch with ninety-five per cent participation. Goodridge folk are interested in giving their children the best educational opportunities possible. That is why they have added student driver training instruction, home economics, vocational agriculture and music, as well as other special training. All of this was added without the full cooperation of all the outlying districts served by Goodridge. Think what the school could do if all in the high school area would give full support and cooperation.

On the other side of the picture, consider what could happen if the state department of education base their final decision on the merits of the three districts involved, considering only "child benefits" of the children of the three districts and not "child benefits" of the children of the area at large. This could well be the beginning of school disintegration of the entire Goodridge area. The question is not as simple as the Mavie folk would have us believe. We agree that they should have the right to vote, but give them the right to vote on the same basis that the other common independent districts were given. The other common independent districts were given the right to vote on the area basis, which doubtless was based on the merits and pupils benefits of the area at large. The annexation of the three districts in question with Thief River Falls would broach a threat to our inherited rights of equality and justice.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

1,500 Teachers at NMEA Convention

Roseau Man Elected President at Final Session Here Friday

While no registration of delegates was conducted, officers estimated that nearly 1,500 teachers and school administrators attended the biennial convention of the Northern division of the Minnesota Education association in Thief River Falls Thursday and Friday.

In addition to attending the business sessions, the teachers took occasion to patronize local stores generously, merchants reported.

Announcement was made at the closing session Friday afternoon of the election of Ambrose Kramer of Roseau as president of the NMEA, and Philip Stoltenberg of Bagley as vice president. Named to the state executive board were Ray Green of Warroad and Daisey Norgart of Bemidji, while Paul E. Anderson of this city was elected to the state resolutions committee, and Harry Jorgenson of Bagley to the state legislative committee.

Elected to the state delegate assembly were Stan Baraga, Clearbrook; A. C. Clark, Bemidji; Lloyd Cox, Blackduck; Herman Erdman, Bemidji; Burchard Hayes, Mahnomen; Ted Hellie and Gladys Johnson, Thief River Falls; Grace Landin, Warroad; Boyed Larson, Hallock; Lily Rolczynski, Hallock; and Loren Wood, Cass Lake.

Thoralf Melby, vice president of the NMEA, presided at the Thursday afternoon session, which opened with organ selection by Mrs. A. L. Hamilton and a short concert by the Roseau high school band, followed by the invocation by the Rev. E. C. Mead.

A. L. Gallup, executive secretary of the state association, discussed the value of organization work in achieving objectives. John Schulling, retiring president of the NMEA, told of the great improvement in the status of the teaching profession in the last 35 years.

Harvey W. Schmidt, salary consultant of the MEA, served as moderator of a panel discussion on the controversial issue of merit salary schedules for teachers. Results of Public Employes Pension Vote Undecided

Administration Chief Reports That Tabulation Is Not Yet Completed

It will be sometime later this week before all votes in Tuesday's pension fund merger election have been tallied, according to Arthur Naftalin, state commissioner of administration.

Two groups voted Tuesday on whether their pension plan should be merged with federal social security.

The state employes belong to the State Employes Retirement association (SERA) and the local and county employes belong to the Public Employes Retirement association (PERA).

"We have no basis on which to make a report now," Naftalin said Friday. "We want a complete tally before we make a statement."

Sees Little Hope of Assistance of Corps in Siltation in Pool

Colonel Earl Brown of the St. Paul office of the corps of army engineers, together with Mr. Culkins, civilian consulting engineer, last Friday morning made a tour of inspection of Thief River and Red Lake river, as well as inspecting ditch improvements in the watershed.

The purpose of their visit was to study the need for work on the channel of Thief River, due to an increased flow of water following recent improvements in the ditches leading into the river; and also to consider the siltation problem in the river pool in Thief River Falls, which is reaching serious proportions.

Accompanying the officials on the tour were A. F. Berge, president of the city council; State Senator Roy E. Wiseth; Joseph Seidel, Pennington county engineer; City Engineer Douglas Stewart; Don L. Olson, member of the county board; and Bill LaFave.

The party drove north from this city along Thief River as far as the game refuges, and then drove east to the Goodridge area, inspecting the larger ditches including Nos. 18, 200 and 20. They returned along Red Lake River, which they examined in Smiley and Kratka.

Colonel Brown indicated that he did not see much prospect for assistance from the army engineers in solving the siltation problem in the river pool, but he promised to send up some information and suggestions on the best way to handle the situation.

Some of the local men accompanied Brown to Red Lake Falls in the afternoon, where problems involving the projected Huot dam, Clearwater river and Lost river were discussed at a well attended meeting.

Sugar Beet Plot Was 1-50th Acre

Steimaschuk Corrects Report in Thursday Times

The local sugar beet test plot of 1-50 of an acre produced 860 lbs. of sugar beets, County Agent Paul Steimaschuk pointed out today. (Not 1/15 acre as quoted in the Times issue on Thursday.) The beets were grown in North twp., two miles west and one mile north of Thief River Falls.

The total yield per acre would be 43,000 lbs. or 21.5 tons. After washing, the beets were found to have 9 percent dirt dockage. After subtracting the dockage, the yield of clean beets was 19.4 tons per acre. Since the trial plot was conducted only one year there is not sufficient evidence that this yield can be expected on a large field basis. However, said Steimaschuk, it does show that sugar beets can successfully be grown on certain soils in this area.

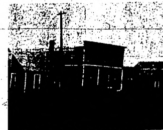
Germantown Was Hustling Outpost



Germantown was a hustling outpost in 1911 when the Germantown Mutual Telephone Co. was organized, the business and social center of an old and well established farming community. Pictured above are two of the important businesses that served the area, the Vaughan Bros. general store and the creamery. The Germantown post office was in the Vaughan store, operated by William and Morgan Vaughan. And there was also a Germantown bank.

Pioneer family in that community at the present time are Mr. and Mrs. John Phillipps. Mrs. Phillipps was Sarah Klockman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Klockman who settled there in 1886. Mr. Phillipps moved in from southern Minnesota in 1901.

When Mavie was established on the newly built electric line operating between Thief River Falls and Goodridge, the business portion of Germantown was moved to that location and John Phillipps became the Germantown postmaster, operating the post office in his home two miles northwest of the place where the Germantown business section had been located.

Standing in the doorway of the creamery is the operator, H. O. Paulson, now living in Highland, Ing.

Famed Author Gives Inspiring Address at Teachers Convention

A tremendous breakthrough in the treatment of emotionally disturbed persons has been scored by the discovery of a new concept of mental health, Dr. John Schindler said Friday.

Dr. Schindler addressed the final assembly of the Northern Minnesota Education Assn., and his lecture was enthusiastically received by the large audience in attendance. The program opened with organ music by Mrs. Arthur Hamilton and selections by the Wadena high school band.

Dr. Schindler, who was flown here to make the concluding address of NMEA, is a member of the staff at Monroe Clinic, Monroe, Wis., and is a specialist in the field of internal medicine. He is also the author of several well-known books and an accomplished speaker.

He described the new concept in mental health as being "a maturity concept," i.e. the problems of most emotionally disturbed persons are the result of an immature mind faced with an adult situation. Old concepts actually held back mental health programs in not accounting for this fact, he said.

The new concept has been called by many authorities "the master concept of the century" because it has helped immeasurably in the treatment of many patients who were faced with situations causing their emotions to be manifest in various symptoms of physical illness.

In this respect, Dr. Schindler said, the work of teachers, doctors and psychologists is related. Teachers have a very important part to play in the formative years of a person's life and this part can be important in the prevention of emotional situations and actual physical illness resulting from maladjustment.

The correct mental adjustments should be made early in life but teachers today are not aware of their responsibilities in this respect, Dr. Schindler stated. On the other hand, the average family is one of the worst influences for immaturity, whereas the school is a wonderful place to influence mature thinking on the part of the pupil.

A person's emotions are physical as well as mental Dr. Schindler said, and he described the various physiological changes that take place in the body under the various emotions, notably anger.

The physical strain on the body as the result of the emotions is terrific, which is the reason that a mature mind and the ability to meet the various situations in life with a realistic attitude are so important to an individual's physical well being.

Applications for Soil Bank Are Now Being Taken Here

Patrick W. Culkins, office manager of the Pennington County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, announced today that applications for soil bank participation are now being received at the county ASC office.

It is suggested that all producers who intend to put all or part of their farms in the Soil Bank for 1958 contact the county office and sign an application as soon as possible.

Signing an application does not obligate the producer in any way, but it will authorize a representative of the office to make an inspection of the farm for the purpose of determining the cropland use and establishing a soil-bank base for that farm.

Soil bank bases will also be established for producers who intend to put their wheat acreage in the soil bank in 1958.

Woman' Club History Is Related by Mrs. Prichard

The following interesting account of the early history of the Thief River Falls Woman's club was prepared by Mrs. W. Prichard, a long-time member and former president, and was read by her at a meeting of the club Monday evening, October 14:

Reading minutes 10 to 32 years old, necessitates a great deal of reading between the lines.

$25 to director, no funds for $7.50 to director and accompanist, committee appointed, committee reported.

When a group of civic-minded women met on Jan. 25, 1914 to discuss forming a Woman's Club, they begot an organization with vital influence in this city.

Meetings were held on the 1st and 3rd Monday afternoons of each month with four months recess during the summer. The club motto was "Co-operation", colors, green and white, dues, $2.00. Sometime later the sweet pea was chosen as club flower and for a few years a prize was offered at the county fair for the best entry of sweet peas.

The first year of their organization they had a book shower for the public library, arranged for a lyceum course for the community, contributed $100.00 toward furnishing a ward in the new Physicians' Hospital. They instituted "clean-up work" and distributed 238 packages of flower seeds, awarding prizes for the most beautiful flower garden. They circulated a petition for a sanatorium for turberculosis patients and helped with the sale of Red Cross seals. Membership was 71.

In April, 1916, the president of the city council asked the club to circulate a petition requesting the removal of hitching posts from the streets and present it at next council meeting.

During the first 23 years the club was shuttled from place to place for their meetings. They met in the Commercial club rooms, the library basement, church basements, Elk's hall, and the lounge of the Brumund Hotel until they finally obtained their own club room thru the courtesy of the city council.

During the First World War the question of loyalty arose. A resolution pledging loyalty to the government in word and deed was adopted and signed by the members. Red Cross work predominated but they still found time to sponsor a community Christmas tree for which the club spent $23.56 for 5 boxes of apples, 4 cases of popcorn and 40 pounds of stick candy, providing for 700 children, made contributions to Belgium and French refugee work, bought thrift stamps and distributed pamphlets on wheat substitutes.

Some members placed loaves of bread made from wheat flour substitutes in grocery stores to encourage such baking. Scrap books were made for our boys in service.

Mrs. H. W. Froehlich was elected president in February, 1918. That year the constitution was amended to permit election of officers in May and Mrs. Froehlich was elected for another year. She is the only one to be elected twice.

It was during this club year that the first groups were formed and from then on we had a succession of them: History, music, business law, social welfare, French, a gym class, practical nursing, practical cooking, sewing, arts and crafts, garden, and child guidance. Interest in the groups became so great that general greetings were held only once a month and time changed to evening. Most of these groups folded and by 1932-33 we had current events, social welfare, drama and the child guidance group changed its name to young matrons. General meetings reduced to five and then 3 in 1945.

The annual orthopedic clinic has its beginning in 1918 when 97 children were examined.

In 1920 membership in the club reached 289. The program during these years consisted of papers by the members, discussions of civic and world affairs and various musical numbers. One program was put on by husbands, a debate, "Resolved that the can opener has brought more happiness to the home than the radio."

Many outside speakers and entertainers were obtained from the University of Minnesota and U. of No. Dak. Among them Maria Sanford, M. Beatrice Olson, Dean of women at N. D., also Clara Baldwin of Minneapolis library and John S. Garnes of McPhail.

Twice the club sponsored recitals for promising music students.

In 1922 the ladies felt there was a need for a swimming pool and a "swimming pool fund" was started.

At about this same time the growth of jazz music evoked a resolution to do all in its power to discourage and prevent its use at local dances.

Over the years donations of from $2 to $50 were made to such worthwhile causes as Red Cross, Infantile paralysis, Salvation Army, Indian relief, books for Oakland Park San., girl scouts, cancer control, to American Legion skating rink fund, and many more. Up to 1944, 4 pianos had been purchased. A fund was started toward a womans building at the fair grounds.

Money for all these projects was raised by hard work since the dues weren't raised to $2.00 until 1940.

They had food sales, sponsored films on a commission basis, put on home talent plays and minstral shows, sold magazine subsriptions, held "vanishing teas", sold advertizing for the movie curtain, sold "ski doo" and held spring festivals and carnivals, card parties.

In 1935 no one would accept the office of president so the year closed without leadership. At a special meeting called in the fall it was deemed unthinkable to disband and a slate of officers was elected. It was at this critical time that it was decided the secretary should automatically become president.

This seemed to put new life into the ladies for they assisted with an Elk's convention, WCTU convention, and Dairyman's convention and a "Pine to Palm" tour. They bought play ground equipment for the two city parks consisting of swing unit, merry-go-round, sand boxes, teeter-totter, and a ski-slide.

In Nov., 1929 we presented the Park Board with a check for $1000.00 with the stipulation that $600 be used to improve Tindolph park pool and $400 for the prospective pool at the old mill race, if feasible. $162.93 had already been spent to lay a pipe from the dam to the mill race.

For a number of years the club donated children's gifts to the Elk's Christmas baskets for the needy. The depression years were busy ones making quilts and layettes and assembling clothes for needy families. The city raised funds for the unemployed to which we contributed $50.

In 1935 we were assigned a room for our meetings in the auditorium and the task and expense of furnishing it began.

In 1938 Mrs. C. W. Vorachek became the first member of our club to be elected District president. Shortly afterward an acre of trees was planted through the Forest Conservation in her honor.

The Woman's club chorus won a trophy at some time during those early years since in 1932 the district president asked its return for other purposes!

4 district conventions were entertained here.

Group Will Travel to Norway in June, 1958

The Concordia College concert choir of Moorhead, under the direction of Paul J. Christiansen, will present 30 concerts during their tour of Norway in June, 1958, Kurt J. Wycisk, coordinator of music, has announced.

The invitation to the choir to come to Norway for a concert tour was extended by the League of Norsemen (Nordmanns Forbundet) of Oslo, Norway. The same organization assisted with a concert tour by the Concordia College concert band in 1955 and the choir in 1949.

Dr. Joseph L. Knutson, president of the college, stated that Concordia College is grateful for the assistance from the League of Norsemen. "The cultural exchange programs among the nations are being accelerated, for an intelligent leadership recognizes that this kind of activity does much to foster understanding and peace," Dr. Knutson said.

State ASC Has Funds for Practices Made Necessary by Floods

Floyd E. Sjolander, chairman, Minnesota Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, announces that funds and practices are available under the Agricultural conservation programs to assist farmers in carrying out certain conservation practices on their farms where needs for such practices have been aggravated by floods earlier this year.

Under the Emergency ACP, costs could be shared with farmers for a few practices which are not included as a part of the regular ACP.

The ACP is designed so that the government may share the costs with the farmers up to a maximum 80 percent on practices such as (1) establishing sod waterways which may include the cost of heavy earth moving equipment necessary to fill gullies or washouts in reshaping the area for seeding or sodding; (2) constructing diversion terraces or ditches to intercept run-off and divert excess water to protect bottom land from overflow and controlling gullies; (3) constructing erosion control, detention, and sediment retention dams to prevent or heal gullying; (4) constructing pits or ponds to protect vegetative cover through proper distribution of grazing and better grassland management; (5) constructing channel lining, chutes, drop spillways, pipe drops, drop inlets or similar structures for protection of outlets and water channels. In addition, cost-sharing is available for ditching to drain cropland at the rate of 5 cents per cubic yard of earth moved.

Mr. Sjolander further pointed out that cost-sharing may be approved for new seedings of legumes and grasses to be made next year for the purposes of (1) improving permanent vegetative cover; (2) establishing permanent vegetation on dams, ditchbanks, filter strips and field borders; (3) complete reestablishment of permanent pasture land; (4) establishing permanent vegetative cover on land which should be retired from the production of cultivated crops; and (5) for green manure and protection from erosion.

The cost-sharing rates vary for the different types and purposes of the seedings. These practices may also include fertilizer or liming materials where needed to establish good stands and growths. Establishment of contour stripcropping is another practice which should be used by more farmers, and is included in the Agricultural Conservation Program.

This program is administered by the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committees, and farmers desiring to participate should check with their county ASC office to get complete details and cost-share rates on these practices.

Committee Named to Serve Valley Potato Growers

Group Is Appointed by Agriculture Secretary to Handle Marketing Act

The names of members and alternates to serve on the Red River Valley (North Dakota and Minnesota) potato committee which administers the federal marketing agreement and order regulating the handling of Red River Valley potatoes were announced today by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, according to Lyle W. Currie, executive secretary of the Red River Valley Potato Growers ass'n.

The committee is composed of fourteen members and a similar number of alternate members who may act in the place of absent members. This is the initial committee membership selected under the federal marketing program recently approved by growers in a referendum. Committee membership and districts are the same under the federal program as the membership and districts under state marketing programs for the Red River Valley. Members and alternates will serve from the date they accept appointment until the end of their term, which for each appointee is June 30 of the year indicated. Selections from this area are as follows:

District No. 4, John P. Bushee (1958), East Grand Forks, member, and Ordean Estenson (1958), Climax, alternate;

The committee members and alternates were selected by the secretary of agriculture from nominees submitted by representatives of potato producers in the production area.

Warren Council to Get Bids on Huge Water Supply Job

Bids for Warren's proposed $500,000 new water supply system will be opened by the city council on November 7. The council took the necessary action at its regular meeting Tuesday when it set November 13 at 8 p.m. as the date for the public hearing to hear pros and cons on the big project, Chas. J. Carlson, City Clerk, announced.

W. J. Forney of L. W. Burdick, Grand Forks consulting engineer, submitted a final draft of the plans and specifications to the council.

After the bids are received and the public hearing is held, it will be necessary for the council to hold a bond sale to raise the necessary funds to finance the huge project. Date of the sale will be determined after the public hearing.

The work consists of 5,300 feet of 12 inch water main; 35,000 feet of 8 inch main; 2,000,000 or a 1,000,000 gallon storage reservoir; 2 pump houses; well and other miscellaneous items.

The well is to be located about 7½ miles northeast of Warren and will have an 8-inch main to a point near the Riverside Country club where the reservoir it to be built.

Damage from mice can be prevented by protecting the base of fruit trees with a cylinder of ¼-inch mesh hardware cloth. Plunge the cylinder into the ground to a depth of 2 inches so mice cannot get underneath. Poison baits and chemical repellents may also give good control.

Strawberries should be covered with clean straw or marsh hay, but not until the plants have been exposed to a few frosts. Apply a 2-inch layer of the mulch after the plants are hardened. If snow comes before a mulch is applied, place the mulch over the snow.

Before the ground freezes, grape vines should be laid down and completely covered with soil.

Town Youngsters Can Join 4-H Club, Says Stelmaschuk

County Agents Says Many Projects Suitable for These Living in Town

Boys and girls living in cities, towns and suburban areas as well as in the country are eligible to join 4-H clubs, says County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk.

Last year 8,500 of Minnesota's 48,000 4-H members came from urban and other non-farm areas.

In the Twin Cities area, for instance, there are 34 city and suburban 4-H clubs with 1,318 non-farm members enrolled.

Many projects are suitable for children and young people living in cities and towns, Stelmaschuk points out. Girls can select any of the six homemaking projects which include work in foods, clothing, and homemaking. Boys may be interested in the mechanical projects, garden, home yard improvement or the rabbit projects. In addition, all members may enroll in activities in health, safety and conservation. The older boy or girl may enroll in the junior leadership project.

In addition to project work, 4-H'ers have fun. Recreation, talent show, picnics, club tours, and county camps are among the ways members make new friends.

The four H's on the 4-H cloverleaf emblem stand for "head," "heart," hands," and "health," which are emphasized in the club program and which imply these goals: head—to learn the value of science through applying the latest scientific knowledge to agriculture, homemaking and other projects; hear—to develop wholesome character and personality and the qualities of good citizenship; hands—to acquire useful skills in homemaking, agriculture and other vocations; health—to cultivate food health habits which lead to satisfying, happy living.

Anyone between the ages of 10 and 21 is eligible to join a 4-H club. If you live in town and would like to belong to a 4-H club, contact the county extension office for help in forming a club.

Shootin' the Breeze

BY Mack Draper

It happened at 6:27 p.m. last Monday, too late to announce in that edition of the Times, so we're proud to announce today that Mamma and Daddy's pride and joy is a bouncing baby boy.

And, we might add, we're happy to say mother and son are doing fine, which is a big relief to proud pappy!

A Minneapolis first-grader, in telling what the various colors of traffic signal lights mean, said they stand for stop, go and concussion. We've often wondered if that isn't what the yellow light means if the truth is told!

The most used and abused word in the English language today is "profit". The big concern say they aren't making enough, labor says they're making too much, the farmer says he isn't making any, and the eggheads say it's a bad word anyway.

There are some reports that this unseasonably warm weather is causing the trees to start sprouting again. We saw some buds on bushes when out hunting a week ago but couldn't quite believe they could really be sprouting again.

That inch of rain we had last week definitely was real, though. When will it ever stop raining and dry off for a change?

We hear that Sputnik has caused a lot of wrathful "sputtering" in Washington circles but, according to Time magazine, the nation's toy-makers are gurgling with glee as they work overtime turning out space toys, inspired by Sputnik in time for the Christmas rush season.

Incidentally, Sputnik isn't some fancy name the Russians picked out of a science fiction magazine, we hear. Sputnik, in Russian, merely means "satellite." There are lots of Sputniks right around the Russian borders here on Earth, too.

Unfortunately, these are about the only things the Russians don't claim they invented. (OK, OK, so they did launch the first space Sputnik—that doesn't necessarily mean they didn't steal the "how to build it" book!)

Odd, isn't it, how people react to various things with the passage of time? For instance, Queen Elizabeth and Philip were welcomed royally last week, just a few miles away from where Cornwallis surrendered the armies of Great Britain less than 200 years ago.

Ever hear of an event, called the Draper's Valley Massacre, that happened down southwestern Virginia about the time of the Revolutionary War? Indians swooped down on the settlement there and gave the inhabitants Indian haircuts but apparently a few Drapers escaped—as you can plainly see!

We don't know if there is any connection between our name and that of the fateful valley or not. We do hail from that part of the country, tho.

Whether or not integration or segration is the right thing and the good thing for the country is a tough question. Unfortunately, no one has stopped arguing pro or con long enought to explain just exactly what the negro hopes to accomplish by achieving complete intergration. So far all that's been done is create unneccessary uproar, which definitely isn't good for the country.

It's very fortunate for us here that we're able to sit this one out. SO LONG!

Car in Mishap on St. Hilaire Bridge

Mrs. J. E. Maney Escapes Injury in Accident

Two accidents in the county were reported by Sheriff Charles Richards this week, neither of which resulted in personal injuries, but both caused extensive damage to the cars involved.

In the first accident reported, which occurred about 1:30 p.m. Monday, a car driven by Mrs. J. E. Maney, city, went out of control when Mrs. Maney was crossing the bridge across the Red Lake River northeast of St. Hilaire on SAH 1.

It is believed the car's wheels slipped off the wooden bridge tracks causing her to lose control and hit the railing. Damage was estimated at $385 to the car. Damage, if any, to the bridge was not reported. Mrs. Maney was not injured.

In the second accident, which occurred a mile north of the city limits on Hwy. 32 at 6:06 p.m. Tuesday, cars driven by Edward L. Phelps, Minneapolis, and Orville P. Urdahl, Goodridge, sideswiped each other, causing $200 damage to the Phelps car and an estimated $75 damage to the older car driven by Urdahl.

Deputy Eugene Prestegaard said charges would be filed in the accident but the nature of the charges has not been decided as yet.

Two Escapeees Are Taken Near Grygla

Patrol Picks up Pair That Fled Moose Lake Hospital

Two escapees from the Moose Lake State Hospital were returned to that institution by hospital authorities this weekend after the two had been apprehended by the highway patrol October 18.

The escapees, one of whom was called "dangerous" by the highway patrol bulletin issued October 17, were Wallace Rye, International Falls, and Ann Hanger, 30, Duluth. They had driven away from the Moose Lake State Hospital in a green 1940 Chevrolet.

The escapees were apprehended after a party reported a car, answering the description of the one used by Rye and the woman in their getaway, had tried to force them off the road near Grygla about 3 p.m. Friday.

After checking into the incident the officers picked up the escapees at the Ekwall farm, near where the incident was reported, about 6:30 the same day. They were held here until the Moose Lake hopital authorities came for them and they were returned there October 19.

Warden Clarifies Law on Gun in Car

Weapin Must Be Broken Down and Placed in Trunk

Game Warden Carl Sundstrom said here last week that there has been some confusion concerning the carrying of guns in vehicles and that several points should be cleared up for the benefit of hunters in this area.

It is not legal, he said, to carry an unloaded, uncased gun in a car even if the gun is broken down. The only time such an uncased gun can be carried in the car is when it is broken down and carried in the trunk of the car.

Nor does wrapping a gun in a jacket, sweater or other clothing or material constitute a satisfactory casing of the gun to satisfy the law, Sundstrom pointed out.

And, in order to be on the safe side, he emphasized, hunters should not consider carrying an uncased, broken-down gun in the rear compartment of a station wagon or bed of a pickup truck as being satisfactory adherence to the law that such guns must be carried in the trunk of a car.

There has been at least one case involving the above points in this area since the 1957 hunting season opened, Sundstrom stated, and he emphasized that the best way to comply with the Minnesota law is to have the gun unloaded and fully cased if it is to be transported in any vehicle.

Two Cars Collide Thursday on 3rd St. at Crocker av.

Only one traffic accident was reported over the last weekend by city police, continuing a quiet trend of recent weeks as compared with the first few days of October when a rash of minor accidents was reported.

The one accident occurred Thursday afternoon when Dean G. Gleason, city, driving west on E. Third st., collided with a car driven by Mrs. Inga Melby, who was driving north on Crocker ave.

According to the police report Mrs. Melby had stopped at the intersection before proceeding north across the boulevard but was hit when she drove across the north lane of E. 3rd st.

Damages were reported as an estimated $250 to the Gleason car and $125 to the Melby car. Charges, if any, were not reported.

Snow Is Forecast Tonight, Tuesday

Falling Temperatures Are Expected in Area

If you think the weather is bad now—just wait! The weatherman has come up with about as nasty a forecast as one could expect to see at this time of year and little, if any, improvement is in sight before midweek.

The forcast, according to KTRF: rain and cooler temperatures today, with rain or SNOW and colder weather tonight. Occasional SNOW and colder Tuesday.

Temperatures for the period since Thursday have ranged from the mid-forties to the low fifties and the sun shone brightly until Sunday when our present nasty situation came up.

Highs today will be in the upper forties and lows from 20 to 30. Southerly winds 10 to 20 m.p.h. will prevail today, changing to northerly tonight.

The Wednesday outlook is for continued cold weather with snow likely.

About that boulder in your eye

"Got something in my eye," the customer said. "Feels like a boulder. How about taking it out?" He was hurting and wanted help then and there. The pharmacist remembered hearing about another man whose "something" turned out to be a steel splinter embedded in his eyeball. He advised him to see his physician. Prompt surgery saved his sight. So, we're careful. And if we seem overly cautious sometimes, remember—we're pharmacists, not physicians. We work with doctors, dispensing the drugs and medications they prescribe. But we don't practice medicine.

GROWING WITH YOUR CHILD

Institute of Child Welfare

First Aid to First Graders

First grade teachers have to spent a lot of time giving first aid to many small and large physical, mental, social, or emotional ills, which are preventable. This first aid is but a bridge to the still longer process of educational cures which, given enough time and skill, teachers at least partially accomplish.

The sad fact is that while first grade teachers are spending their time applying first aid they cannot also be providing new and creative learning experiences. Much time is lost: the ill-equipped children must catch up and the well-equipped and ready-to-learn must wait and often develop slovenly work habits or poor attitudes.

It is taken for granted in a general way that the child's home background is influential in shaping his school behavior, but such generations are not usually helpful to parents.

Recently twenty-five able first grade teachers in a metropolitan area were interviewed about specific home factors which they consider to help or to hinder the child's school adjustment. More than one-third of the teachers stressed the importance of the home in fostering independance in good health habits.

Nearly half mentioned the values the child receives from the parent reading to him and providing trips, magazines, and books. Above all other things teachers emphasized instilling in children social attitudes and responsibilities through consistent experiences in learning to share, respect for other persons and for property, following rules and accepting the reasons for them, doing things cooperatively in family and neighborhood groups.

The kindergarten or first grade teacher, who meets the child first when he comes to school, will do willingly what first aid needs to be administered, but not without wishing all beginners had the full benefits of the things which good homes, better than any place else, can supply.

HOME Garden TIPS

ORRIN CATURNOUGHT?

Winter Protection of Fruits

The home fruit grower should provide proper protection for his fruit plants, just as the gardener does for perennial flowers. The severe winters usually take a heavy toll of fruits if they are not properly protected.

• • •

Apples and pears need protection against sunscald, mice and rabbits. Sunscald results from bright sun reflection from the snow striking the southwest side of the trunk and branches. On bright winter days the bark warms up to the point where cold resistance is lost. This is especially true when a sudden drop in temperature follows the warming process. As a result, the bark is injured and wood rotting organisms get into the wood and cause decay. To prevent sunscald, protect the southwest side of the tree with boards or evergreen branches.

Tree Orders

An exceeding strong demand for tree planting stock has exhausted some tree supplies at this early part of the season. The trees no longer in stock are White Pine, Norway Pine, and Scotch Pine.

The trees still available for farm shelterbelt and grove plantings are Jack Pine, White Spruce, White Cedar, American Elm, Green Ash, Soft Maple, Caragana, and Black Walnut. The first three species which are evergreens cost one cent each to the farmer and the last five deciduous species cost three-quarters of a cent, plus the express or shipment into Thief River Falls.

Farmers wishing to secure tree stocks are encouraged to submit their orders immediately. You can pick up the blanks at the extension office and the order must be for a minimum of 500 trees.

• • •

County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committees are authorized to increase annual payment rates for land planted to forest trees.

Under this change, farmers who put any land in the program to be planted to trees can receive "non-diversion rate payments of up to 50 percent of the regular rate. Previously, the non-diversion rate was 30 percent of the regular rate. Where the entire eligible acreage is in the Conservation Reserve and all land is planted to trees non-diverson payments can be up to 100 percent of the regular rate.

"Non-diversion" rates apply to land such as hay or permanent pasture but which has not been raising soil-depleting crops. The full regular rate is given for diverting land out of soil-depleting crops, such as corn or wheat.

Another change in the 1958 Soil Bank conservation program gives the landowner the option of a 5 or 10-year contract for land planted to trees or shrubs and designed as a shelterbelt, windbreak or wildlife habitat. Previously, all tree and shrub plantings were under 10-year contracts only. But the 10-year provision is still in effect for tree plantings for forestry purposes.

Rural Youth Meeting Held

The Rural Youth group met Monday night for a program of education and entertainment. They enjoyed the company of youth from Marshall county and are planning to return the visit at their neighbors the next meeting, November 20. Education: Wildlife conservation; Doctors to discuss various diseases such as cancer, heart, etc.; Family life specialist or other person qualified to discuss topics such as "How to choose a partner" and "dating." Highway patrolmen or other persons qualified to discuss highway safety; Clergyman on topics such as marriage or you and your church; money management.

Tours: Paper mill, Itasca state park, beet sugar factory.

Others: Movies.

Recreation: What's wrong with the group? weekend tour, fishing trip, roller skating, skiing, modern dancing, square dancing, tobogganing, sleigh rides, birthday parties, camping, basket social, learning how to dance.

Area People Have DFL Appreciation Banquet Tickets

Serving on the arrangements committee for the Humphrey-Freeman appreciation dinner on November 23 are Carl R. Anderson, Red Lake Falls; Mrs. Alfred M. Johnson, Thief River Falls, and Roy E. Wiseth, Goodridge.

Aimed to raise funds for the Minnesota DFL's 1958 campaign, the dinner begins at 6:30 P. M. in the St. Paul Hotel, St. Paul. Main speaker will be newly elected Democratic Senator William Proxmire of Wisconsin, who won a surprise victory over former Governor Walter Kohler in August.

Tickets at $25 each are available from any of the above committee members or at the Democratic-Farmer-Labor state office, 6 East Franklin Avenue, Minneapolis.

Prowlers Whip Bemidji; to Face Crookston on Friday

The Prowlers made hard work of beating coach Kenneth (Red) Wilson's flu-weakened Bemidji football team on Friday night, defeating the Jacks by a 21 to 6 score.

Friday night's win over the Jacks, which was a regional and conference tilt, sets the stage for this week's game, against the Crookston Pirates, as the "game of the year." On the outcome of Friday night's game will hinge the district, regional and Northwest conference football championships. The game, which will be played on the Lincoln high athletic field, will kickoff at 8:00 p. m.

Coach Duane Sundby's Crookston Central team will enter the game with a season's record of seven wins and no losses; while coach Joe Mikonich's Prowlers will be carrying a six wins and one loss (that to Fergus Falls in the season-opener) record into the game.

Last Friday night the Prowlers had their troubles in subduing the Bemidji Lumberjacks, and while the locals were the stronger team, the blue-and-gold, except for a drive in the fourth period, had difficulty in sustaining an attack.

Midway in the fourth period, after holding for downs on the Prowlers 20-yard line, the locals flashed a sharp drive, scoring in six plays. Jim Bennes rushed to the 40-yard line; Dave Rasmussen rammed off left tackle to the Bemidji 40-yard line; Lynn Nicholson sprinted to the 16-yard line; Rasmussen added a pair of yards; Bennes picked up four yards; and then Nicholson sliced through the line for ten yards and the Prowlers third touchdown. Rasmussen added the point on a rush. That drive was Prowler football at its best.

The locals scored early in the first period after Bob Jorstad had intercepted a Bemidji pass on the Prowlers 31-yard line. Five first downs carried to the Bemidji 9-yard line. Bennes drove to the 2-yard line. Nicholson slid off left tackle for the touchdown, and Bennes, on a plunge, added the point, giving the Prowlers a 7 to 0 lead.

Bemidji tallied their lone touchdown a short while later, with a "roughing the passer" penalty setting up the score. On the play, from the Prowler 40-yard line, Harold Froehle intercepted a Bemidji pass, but the interception was nullified and the Prowlers assessed a penalty. The Jacks too advantage of the "break" and, from 16 yards out, Dick Olson swept right end for a touchdown. A pass play was attempted for the conversion, but that aerial was batted down.

Don Listrimt presented the Prowlers with the opportunity to tally their second TD when re recovered a Bemidji fumble on the Jacks' 20-yard line. With Nicholson and Bennes carrying the ball, the Prowlers moved to the 4-yard line from where Rasmussen plunged through center for the score. Bennes, over right tackle, added the point, giving the locals a 14 to 6 half-time lead.

The Prowlers made one threatening gesture in the third period when Nicholson, who was running well all evening, broke loose around left end and sprinted from midfield to the Jacks' 10-yard line, but a clipping penalty erased that run and the scoring opportunity.

Chain Saw Won by Oklee Man

Knute Evenson, Oklee, was the lucky winner of the Homelite Chain Saw after a prize drawing held at the local Coast-to-Coast Store Saturday. The contest was part of a cooperative promotion by the saw company and dealers and everyone was eligible to enter without obligation. Shown here congratulating and lucky winner is Don M. Olson, owner-manager of Coast-to-Coast Store, left, and Evenson with the saw he won. The young lady smiling her approval in the background doesn't know anything about the happy occasion, though — she's part of a merchandising display so is merely a very attractive piece of cardboard!

Notes and Comment

The other day we received a gracious letter from Vernon Gunvalson of Bemidji, the regional game manager for the Minnesota conservation department.

His letter was occasioned by our recent comments about the upland game-bird season. We made some snide remarks about the ineptness and shortsightedness of the department, and stated that the ruffed grouse had been subjected to unwarranted shooting pressure during their "low" cycle.

Mr. Gunvalson states: "I would like to explain briefly the reasons for these 'low fables' and then turn to the words 'exact science'.

"As every hunter knows, there are years of ruffed grouse abundance and years of scarcity. This same condition exists for other game birds and animals too,— but not quite in the same fashion as that applicable to ruffed grouse!

"Generally speakng, the ruffed grouse population has a 'high' and a 'low' during approximately ten-year periods. AND THESE HIGHS AND LOWS OCCUR WHETHER THE BIRD IS HUNTED OR NOT! Prediction of the exact year of the 'low' or the 'high,' however, is extremely difficult for this reason: The population does not increase or decrease UNIFORMILY throughout all portions of the ruffed grouse range. In other words, a local population may be yet decreasing while the birds are starting their upward climb in other areas.

"The usual population pattern is two to four years of spotty distribution with poor to fair hunting, a surprisingly rapid jump to over-all abundance with three years or so of good to excellent hunting, and then tapering off to the spotty distribution again.

"The statement that 'game-bird management is not an exact science' certainly contains a large grain of truth. It is not considered an exact science when compared with mathematics, physics or chemistry, etc. But it does have a scientific foundation and researches pertaining to secrets of Mother Nature follow scientific procedures. Its 'exactness' as a science is warped by uncontrollable variables — variables in weather, in reproduction, in sex ratios, in habitat capabilities, in the inherent behaviorism of the species itself, and in the complexities of human reactions. It is as such points that 'exact science 'slows down, and where, we hope, 'art' can enter in!"

So says Mr. Gunvalson, and he has proven to be a good spokesman for the conservation department.

We did not challenge the fact that the ruffed grouse are subject to cycles of 'high' and 'low' populations; but we were skeptical, and still are, that the ruffed grouse can continue to be hunted and shot during their 'low' cycle without affecting the 'brood stock' for the next season. Sure, we will agree that a number of grouse will die off during the winter; but what assurance has the ruffed grouse hunter, when he bags a grouse, that that bird would have died during the winter. That bird, when shot, is definitely taken out of Nature's plan, and the bird may have been one that had been ear-marked for a fertile season.

The ruffed grouse is our last great hope for a game-bird that will survive and provide hunting for the youths who are now in grade school. The prairie chicken has gone, the sharptailed grouse are going, and the ruffed grouse need assistance.

Is It the Truth?

We have had our difficulties in securing supporting evidence, but we have learned that one of the city's most experienced hunter-trader-trappers missed some point-blank shots at geese the other day. The sad event is said to have occurred in the vicinity of Goodridge.

This hunter was well-concealed in a blind (and that takes some doing as he doesn't conceal very easily) when a flock of Canada geese flew over. Bang, bang, bang, went the automatic, but the visions of a goose dinner conitnued to fly on. And were these geese really close? Well, they befouled his hunting cap as hey flew over!

We won't identify the hunter, for we sympathize with him in his humiliation. Suffice to say that he is a retired amateur wrestler, and since his retirement he has become short-winded and layered with suet. And, too, his liver acts up every once in a while.

Truck Kills Cow on Highway No. 1 Near City Friday

The highway patrol reported only one accident, involving a cow and a pickup truck over the past weekend.

The mishap occurred about four miles west of the city on Highway 1, about 7:30 Friday evening. William Halbasch, rt. 3, city, was driving the truck which hit the cow, believed to have belonged to Joe Holtan, rt. 1, the patrol said.

The cow was killed by the impact and the truck so badly damaged it had to be towed away but no exact damage estimate was available.

No charges were filed, the patrol said.

Ask Public to Finish Salk Vaccine Series of Shots During Fall

With the supply of Salk polio vaccine once again plentiful, Minnesotans can be prepared for next year's polio season by beginning or completing the Salk series now, according to Dr. D. S. Fleming, director of disease control and prevention, Minnesota Department of Health.

"It now appears possible, for the first time, to have enough vaccine available to give protection to substantially all the population under 40 before the start of next year's season of peak incidence," said Dr. Fleming. Although Minnesota had a light polio season this year, there is no reason why the state can't have another big polio outbreak in the future, he said. "The task which remains to be accomplished is a major one if maximum public protection against paralytic polio is to be achieved before the next season."

Dr. Fleming expressed particular concern over the number of young adults who have not been immunized. In the 20-35 year age group, only 24 percent or approximately 163,000 persons have received two or more injections. An additional 53,000 have had one shot. This leaves about 460,000 persons between 20 and 35 who have not received any polio-preventing vaccine.

"It is of concern that these persons do not have protection since young parents run a greater risk in catching polio because of young children," said Dr. Fleming. "Polio in a young parent, too, is generally more serious since the breadwinner in the family may be the victim."

In the 0-19 years ago group about 66 percent or 789,000 persons have had two or more shots. Percentage is highest in the five-to-nine year ago group where nearly 95 percent have received protection.

Up to October 10, 43 cases of polio have been reported this year. Twenty-two cases were paralytic. Of the 43 reported cases in 1957, 23 were in persons age 15 and over. Both fatal cases were in young adults, one in the 25-29 age group and the other in the 35-39 age group.

In 1956, 150 cases of polio, including 83 paralytic cases, were reported. There were four deaths.

"It is especially important for those who have had one or two injections to complete the Salk series," said Dr. Fleming. "The first two shots afford a good measure of protection from paralytic polio, but protection is significantly greater and longer lasting when all three shots have been taken."

Although it is recommended that the second shot follow the first by about four to six weeks, and the third injection about seven months later, Dr. Fleming pointed out that the time table need not be followed exactly. "It's not necessary to begin the series again if the injections were not given strictly according to the original plan," he said. "Indeed, it does no harm to have more than three shots as, presumably, booster shots maintain a person's protection." The Salk vaccine, he emphasized, is the only currently available method to prevent paralytic polio which is both safe and effective.

A total of 3,702,375 cc., or enough vaccine to provide one injection for every person in the state or two injections for 56 percent of the population, has been shipped to Minnesota since the beginning of the vaccination program in October, 1955. From August 23 to September 20 of this year, 402,642 cc., or an average of more than 100,000 cc. a week, has been supplied to physicians.

"For many years," Dr. Fleming said, "this country anxiously sought the means to avert the suffering and anguish caused by polio. Today, with the steadily increasing supplies of Salk vaccine, the means are at hand."

Last fall, the demand for Salk vaccine dropped sharply. Supplies piled up in warehouses and production was cut back. The demand rose in the spring, though, and the supply was short. Many industry and community plans for vaccination programs had to be postponed. "This sort of boom-or-bust cycle seriously impedes an effective vaccination program," said Dr. Fleming. "It is hoped that those who have not been vaccinated will take advantage of the present ample vaccine supply to begin or complete the Salk series."

Christmas Seal Workers to Meet

Annual Meeting at 'U' M. Next Monday, October 28

Dr. Mario Fischer of Duluth, president-elect of the National Tuberculosis association, featured speaker for the annual dinner meeting of the state Christmas Seal organization on Monday, Oct. 28, will outline top priority problems in the nation-wide fight to defeat tuberculosis. The session is slated for 6:30 p. m. at Coffman Memorial union, University of Minnesota campus.

Active for many years in TB programs, state and nation-wide, Dr. Fischer is an executive commitee member of the Minnesota Tuberculosis and Health association.

Officers of state and county TB associations, Christmas Seal volunteer workers, health officials, doctors, nurses, and others active in health programs in all parts of the state will attend the annual dinner meeting. There will be afternoon business sessions of the state organization's executive committee and of directors and members, according to the state Christmas Seal release.

During 1956, 1,400,000 persons were injured in motor vehicle accidents, the National Safety Council says.

Dr. Chas. Martin, Family Life Specialist, to Speak at Court House at 10 a. m.

Dr. Charles Martin will meet with representatives of homemakers groups, to discuss the subject, "What can we expect from our teenagers?" The training meeting for local leaders in the extension home program will be held Thursday, October 24, at 10:00 a.m. in the court house meeting room, announces County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk.

Martin, extension family life education specialist at the University of Minnesota, will conduct the meeting, which is sponsored by the agricultural extension service.

The leaders will later have charge of discussions on this topic at local extension home group meetings. There will be no open meeting in the afternoon as previously announced, Stelmaschuk adds.

According to Martin, parents must understand the physical growth and development and the emotional changes that take place in the teenager. The physical changes that take place in early adolescence have a trigger effect on the teen-ager's actions, attitude and thinking. A teen-ager may be mature physically but immature in his emotions and actions. Intensity is characteristic of all adolescent emotions.

One of Martin's tips to parents of teen-agers is this: Live in the present and develop an appreciation for the world in which your teen-agers must grow and adjust.

The middle years of childhood, covering the years 6 to 12, have been called by Martin the forgotten years of childhood. It is a period when parents tend to be less observant and appreciative because growth and development at this time are not as spectacular as they are in the pre-schooler or teen-ager. On the other hand, they are the years when language abilities grow rapidly, hobbies are of high interest and when boundless energy requires space for the development of skills, interests and activities stimulated by an aroused imagination.

Advise Farm Workers on Social Security

Farm workers should know the rules for deciding whether their work falls under social security, according to Walter D. Kistler, manager of the Grand Forks, N. Dak. social security office.

In 1955 and 1956, if a farm operator paid a farm worker $100 or more in cash wages during the year, the work was under social security; the farm operator was expected to deduct the employee's share of the social security tax from those wages; he was required to add a like amount himself, and to report and pay the total to the Internal Revenue Service, along with the worker's name and social security number.

"Beginning with 1957 the rule was changed somewhat. Now if a farm operator pays a farm worker $150 or more in cash during the year, the cash pay is covered under social security," Mr. Kistler explained. "Cash pay" includes payment by check, as well as by currency and silver. It does not include the value of such things as room or board.

"Also, even if the worker fails to earn as much as $150 cash pay from the farm employer, but does work for him on 20 days or more during the year, the pay is covered provided the work is done on a time basis — by the hour or day or week. The number of days worked and the manner of figuring the pay doesn't make any difference, however, if the $150-a-year test is met."

Since the farm employer who pays wages for work covered under social security has to report the wages and pay the social security taxes to Internal Revenue Service, he must know the worker's name and social security number so he can report correctly. His report for 1957 isn't due until January 31, 1958, but in the meantime he should keep records of the wages paid to his farm employees. Consequently it's important for a farm worker to have a social security card to show his employer.

Farm workers, like other workers, can have their social security earnings records checked to see if their wages are being reported. To get their records checked they should go to their nearest social security office. There they can get a post card form to fill out and mail to Baltimore, Maryland, where the wage records for all persons in work covered by social security are kept. Baltimore will mail them a statement showing the wages reported under their social security number.

If the wage statement isn't correct, the farm worker has three years in which to see his social security office in order to get it corrected. "Farm workers should keep a record of the names and addresses of all the farm employers they work for," Mr. Kistler explained. "By doing so the Social Security Administration can help farm workers get their wage records corrected if they have been incorrectly reported."

Mr. Kistler also pointed out that beginning with 1957, a farm labor contractor, or crew leader, is generally considered to be the employer of the farm workers whose labor he uses. The only exception is the case of a farm labor contractor, or crew leader, who makes a written agreement with the farmer saying the contractor or crew leader is not the employer. In these cases, both the crew leader and the farm laborer are employees of the farmer.

PLUMMER SOLDIER NOW AT CAMP HANFORD, WASH.

Waldal entered the Army in July, 1957 and was last stationed at Fort Carson, Colo. He is a 1957 graduate of Pershing high school, Plummer.

Two Eggs A Day

A hustling hen established a new egg laying record recently, turning out just a few short on one a day for a period of a year. We asked an egg man about this and he assured us that hens laying 365 eggs a year would soon be quite common in high producing flocks. There now are hens that are producing two eggs a day for limited periods of time, he said.

Cheerful news, this, for consumers. For the egg industry however, the more efficient production will bring no permanent benefits unless there also are a few marketing controls. The egg men should take a lesson from the fruit men in the marketing of their product.

Vaccine Available

United States health officials announced last week that results of Salk vaccine polio immunization have been gratifying. About 68 million persons have had one or more of the shots, the report states, to which is attributed much of the 80 percent drop in paralytic polio during the past two years.

It was also stated that there now is an ample supply of vaccine to protect the 37 million Americans under 40 who have not yet gotten their shots. We agree that "it would be tragedy if, simply because of public apathy, vaccine which might prevent paralysis or even death lies on the shelf unused."

Keeping the Facts Straight

In a letter to the Times, published in a recent issue, Senator Roy Wiseth defended the position of those who say the administration is not distributing federal funds, appropriated for emergency conservation measures, according to the intent of Congress. In support of his argument he quotes from the Congressional Record, stating that the language in the appropriation act is clear and that the funds appropriated should be distributed more liberally. This is in line with the position taken originally by Senator Hubert Humphrey, and later by Governor Orville Freeman.

Copies of the act appropriating money for these purposes, received from the office of Senator Hubert Humphrey, differ slightly from the Congressional Record version quoted by Senator Wiseth. And the title of the act is significant. As a legislator Senator Wiseth understands the importance of the title in any legislative act. Following is the title to the act he referred to, Public Law 85-58, adopted June 21, 1957:

> "Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the following sums are appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, to supply supplemental appropriations (this Act may be cited as the "Third Supplemental Appropriation Act, 1957") for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1957, and for other purposes, namely:"

As the title indicates, this was an act to provide supplementary funds for the 1957 operations of the various departments of government, and it is well to keep this in mind in considering the question of congressional intent. Among many other appropriations for activities in the year that had ended last June 30 was the folling section covering the needs for "emergency conservation measures," reading as follows:

> "For an additional amount to enable the Secretary to make payments to farmers who carry out emergency measures to control wind erosion on farmlands or to rehabilitate farmlands damaged by wind erosion, floods, hurricanes, or other natural disasters when, as a result of the foregoing, new conservation problems have been created which, (1) if not treated, will impair or endanger the land, (2) materially affect the productive capacity of the land, (3) represent damage which is unusual in character and, except for wind erosion, is not the type which would recur frequently in the same area, and (4) will be so costly to rehabilitate that Federal assistance is or will be required to return the land to productive agricultural use, and for reimbursement to the appropriation to the President for "Disaster relief", for allocations to the Secretary of Agriculture for such purposes, $4,000,000, to remain available through June 30, 1958: Provided, That this appropriation may be expended without regard to the adjustments required under section 8 (e) of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, as amended, and may be distributed among the States and individual farmers without regard to other provisions of law."

There are two differences in the language of the law as we have quoted it and the Congressional Record as quoted by Senator Wiseth. The Congressional Record fixed the amount of the appropriation at $15 million while the copy of the law that we have fixed the amount at $4 million, and with this qualifying clause, "to remain available through June 30, 1958," which the Congressional Record apparently omitted.

It seems clear that this section of the act made available for reimbursement to the disaster relief fund and for emergency conservation purposes an additional $4 million to cover any claims that might be made for the 1957 operations and with the authority to settle such claims up to June 30, 1958.

There is nothing in this language to indicate Congress intended that this money should be used for disaster relief in the present fiscal year.

There is a later act which Senator Wiseth did not mention, but that is also related to the problem. This is Public Law 85-170 which became effective August 28, and makes available an additional sum of $20 million for these same purposes. The language used in this section of what is another general appropriation bill is simple, and its purpose seems quite clear. It states:

> "For an additional amount for "Emergency Conservation Measures," to be used for the same purposes and subject to the same conditions as the funds appropriated under this head in the Third Supplemental Appropriation Act, 1957, $20,000,000."

This merely increases the sum available for the purposes of the section it refers to, in Public Law 85-58, to $24 million.

This later act, under a different section, makes available to the President an additional sum of $15 million for "disaster relief," clearly indicating that Congress did not have disaster relief in mind in its supplemental appropriations for emergency conservation measures.

To clear up another matter on which there seems to be some misunderstanding, Congress made no specific appropriation in any form for special relief for the disaster areas of northwestern Minnesota. The extra $24 million that was made available for emergency conservation measures was for all of the states. This would be just a drop in the bucket if it were to be distributed as a relief measure in all of the areas of the country where agriculture has suffered severe losses as a result of various natural causes.

We are sure Minnesota has not been discriminated against in the use of funds that have been made available by Congress. In the state of Connecticut, for instance, the governor called a special session of the legislature to provide assistance for farmers who were in serious difficulties because of drouth. Governor Orville Freeman has the right to call a special session for such a purpose here in Minnesota.

And our members of Congress may still act to provide the funds they think should have been distributed in our area. They will soon convene again and at that time they can write their appropriation bill in language so clear that it cannot be questioned. We will await their action with a great deal of interest.

REPORT from the GOVERNOR

by Orville L. Freeman

One agency of state government that is too little known in Minnesota is the Governor's Human Rights Commission, an agency first set up in 1943 as the Governor's Interracial Commission—renamed because the scope of its interest and activity had broadened. It has a very small budget. The members of the Commission are unpaid, but they serve with a devotion and dedication to the ideals of human rights that make us proud of citizen contributions to government in Minnesota.

Stepped Up Activity

In the past few years, this Commission has become more vigorously active than ever before. Now that equal opportunity for employment without discrimination is handled by the Fair Employment Practices Commission, the Human Rights Commission concentrates on other areas of equality of opportunity.

Indians

A minority group in Minnesota that really needs attention is that of the American Indians. Four of the newly appointed members on the Commission are of Indian ancestry. The Commission has created an Indian subcommittee that has worked hard and effectively to try to bring about a better understanding of the Indian problem, and to take steps toward its solution.

The Commission has distributed factual materials relating to minority groups and their problems to schools, libraries, and interested organizations. It sponsors a state-wide Indian conference, and establishes working relationships between Indian leaders and the various state services. Under its direction a study and report, known as the Van Loon Plan, was made, to develop a program to help Indians improve their economic well-being.

Migrant Workers

Another group that needed special attention from the Commission consists of migrant workers. These are primarily agricultural workers who come with their families, principally from Texas and Mexico, to engage in work that is seasonal in nature, and for which there is a shortage of native Minnesota workers. They perform a service that is needed in our economy. Yet too often their children have worked in fields instead of going to school; too often their housing has been sub-standard; too often community services passed them by.

The Commission has mobilized community and citizen support for improving conditions for migrant workers. We have not yet reached the goal, but each year has seen a steady advance toward better housing, health, education, and community services for migrant workers in Minnesota.

Racial Equality of Opportunity

The Commission is concerned with many other areas in which equality of opportunity is denied because of race. One of the most critical of these is in the field of housing. With the coming of the new freeways in the metropolitan areas, many citizens must give up their homes. And when these citizens are members of a minority race they often meet with great difficulty in getting adequate housing. Many of them are older citizens, or have large families. Most of them have very modest incomes. When there is added the problem of racial discrimination, assistance in finding housing becomes imperative. The Commission is giving serious attention to this problem.

Community Education

The Human Rights Commission, in cooperation with the F.E.P.C., has set up citizens' councils in twelve Minnesota communities, for the purpose of furthering understanding and advancing the cause of human rights and equal opportunity. At a time when unresolved problems of segregation and discrimination plague the nation Minnesota is among the leaders in efforts to promote better human relations.

Corn Needs Good Soil

Hal Sinner, a cooperator in the Redwood county soil conservation district, last spring broke some contour strips through a permanent pasture. Compared to land that was farmed continually, the corn on the broken land looked so good that Sinner made some yield tests. The pasture land yielded 95 bushels of corn per acre and the continuously-farmed land produced 63 bushels per acre. This report comes from Robert Feldt, U. S. Soil Conservation Service.

* * *

Contouring Helps

Contour strip cropping, along with a good rotation, resulted in doubled corn yields in six years for Lee Johnson, Canton, Minn. Oliver Strand, Fillmore county extension soils agent, reports these comments from Johnson: "Six years ago, one of my fields produced 30 bushels or less corn per acre. Then I had SCS technicians lay out contour strips and planted my corn between alternate strips of alfalfa. My average corn yields increased to 60 bushels per acre by this year."

* * *

Water Conservation

About 40 farm ponds an dugouts for livestock water will be constructed this year by Nobles county soil conservation district cooperators, according to Erling Severtson, U. S. Soil Conservation Service. Several of the dug outs will be designed to supplement farm wells. In addition when the area around the pond is fenced and planted, it protects wildlife and provides an area for swimming, skating and having picnics.

* * *

Uses 4-Row Equipment

Wilbur W. Malwitz, Elgin, says its no problem to use four-row equipment on his terraces. A cooperator in the Upper Zumbro soil conservation district, Malwitz recently told Edward Saban, his SCS conservation aide, "I wish I had all my fields terraced. Now I can see more clearly the damage done by rains to fields that were not terraced."

SAVE $3.37 through first 6 weeks on every calf you feed

Land O'Lakes has developed a new calf-feeding program that produces 52½ pounds of solid gain, in 6 weeks, at a total feed cost of $6.62!

Feeding a whole-milk program costs $9.99, as calculated under controlled, supervised feeding tests. Your saving: $3.37 per calf through the first six weeks!

Here's how it's done: Through the first 4 days, feed colostrum or nurse dam. From the 4th day through the 6th week, feed Land O'Lakes Calf Milk Replacer mixed with water twice daily. Also, feed Land O'Lakes Calf Pellets, free choice, until calf is eating about 1½ pounds pellets daily.

Now, after those first 6 weeks, continue feeding Land O'Lakes Calf Pellets for more savings. These Calf Pellets are so palatable that calves clean them up with virtually no waste whatever. They really love 'em!

History of Germantown Telephone Co., Which Was Dissolved October 2

By Shirley Oski

When the Germantown Mutual Telephone Company ended its existence at a final meeting of the corporation on October 2, one of the last links connecting us with the pioneer period of the Germantown and Mavie communities was served. Dissolution of the corporation closed the books on an organization that had provided a valuable communication service for that area over a period of nearly fifty years.

The pioneer company has ceased to exist, but the service is being continued by the Northwestern Bell Telephone company, which acquired the property in 1954. Since that time the organization has continued to function as a cooperative pending the completion of the dial installations.

The Germantown Mutual Telephone Company was organized in November, 1911, for the purpose of building a line from Germantown west toward Thief River Falls. Louis Hamre presided at the meeting with Nick Bundhund as secretary.

The first regular meeting had been held August 2, of that year at the schoolhouse of District 76. At this meeting the following officers were elected, President, Jay Payne; vice president, John Phillip; secretary, Nick Bunhund; and treasurer, Louis Hamre. Directors H. P. Nabben, Peter Floh, and O. A. Rambeck. Twenty-two members were present.

A constitution and by-laws were adopted. Shares were to be sold at $30 a share. It was estimated that about 16 miles of line would have to be built for the 22 members.

The placing of the poles was done by each member on his own property; stringing of wire was done by Irving Quist.

In 1912, a switchboard was installed at the Charles Cook farm to make connection with the eastern line and the Tri-state Telephone Line to Thief River Falls. Max E. Krause was the first authorized lineman. Subsequent linemen were William Jones, Amond Johnson and Laudius Wayne. Their wages were 35c an hour.

Approximately 15 new subscribers were added to the Germantown Mutual Telephone Company in 1912.

Mavie Connection

In 1918 a line was built to the Village of Mavie with C. W. Nelson; Mavie Mercantile Company, Farmers State Bank, Hanson-Barzen Milling Company and Winton-Nichols Lumber Company as the first Mavie subscribers.

Telephone service continued with new subscribers added from time to time and some old ones moving away. Price of shares raised to $50 in 1919. A charge of 10c a call for switching service was made. The switchboards were located at Germantown and at the C. W. Nelson Mercantile store at Mavie.

In 1920, with approximately 50 subscribers and too much overload on the line for good service, a switchboard was installed at the Fred Hincik home at Mavie for the purpose of making switch connections from Germantown and Mavie to Goodridge and Thief River Falls and long distance calls.

In 1923 first line assessments were made of 50c per phone per year. This was raised in 1926 to $1.00 a year, in 1927 to $2.00 per year but in 1928 it was reduced to $1.00 and again raised to $2.00 in 1937. In 1938 a $9.00 assessment was made. These assessments continued upward until in 1952 a $25 assessment was required to keep the line in repair.

In 1938, arrangements were made to connect directly with Thief River Falls with the Northwestern Bell Telephone line and the Mavie switchboard was removed.

In 1951 it was decided to rebuild the Germantown Mutual Telephone line and the company was incorporated for this purpose with 23 members.

In 1954 the Northwestern Bell Telephone Company offered to buy the Germantown Mutual Telephone Company for $3340 with the stipulation that the Germantown Company co-operate until such time as the Northwestern Bell Company would rebuild the lines and install 8 party lines on a dial system. This being accomplished this summer, the Germantown Mutual Telephone Company is no more.

Day by day we are getting more accustomed to the dial telephone and altho many people still like the old party line, time marches on and the old must make way for the new. Progress is essential in our way of life.

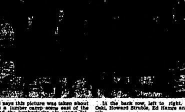
Winter Work For Young Fellows of Germantown



A. W. Oski says this picture was taken about in 1920. It is a lumber camp scene east of the Red Lakes and the lumberjacks are young fellows of the Germantown community who spent the winter in the woods to earn a few extra dollars. Most of them are still living in that area.

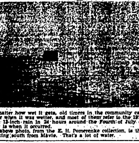
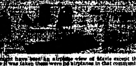
Old Timers Remember 1919 Flood



No matter how wet it gets, old timers in the community can remember when it was wetter, and most of them refer to the 1919 flood. A 13-inch rain in 24 hours around the Fourth of July of that year is when it occurred.

The above photo, from the E. H. Pomerenke collection, is the view looking south from Mavie. That's a lot of water.

Birds-eye View of Mavie



This might have been an airplane view of Mavie except that at the time it was taken there were no airplanes in that community. It was taken from the top of the elevator, according to E. H. Pomerenke, who operated a store there at the time.

At the lower left is the Winton Nichols lumber yard, and across the street the C. W. Nelson store and post office and the Pomerenke store. In the background, not very clear in the winter background, is the DuChamp hotel, operated by Joseph DuChamp.

Mavie was moved in from another location when the electric line came through, Bob Oski remembers. Originally a Mavie store and post office was located on the four-corner intersection of Cloverleaf, Silverton, Smiley and Kratka townships.

Fire losses totaled nearly a billion dollars in 1956, the National Safety Council reports.

OF CARROTS AND CATS AND PLAYFUL POOCHES

A carrot which, rather surprisingly, pulled easily from the Albyn Welch garden in Worthington, had a 24½-inch tap root dangling from an otherwise normal formation . . . Honey without a comb is unusual in both social and apiary circles: never in his 71 years has Frank Stepan, Faribault farmer, seen honey stored right out in the open and he thinks, after finding several layers on the branch of one of his trees, that it likely will be at least another 71 years before such a phenomenon recurs . . . Bones, an elderly Redwood Falls wire-hair, is somewhat indiscriminate in his board-and-room arrangements and is completely impartial in bestowing his willing services as a parcel carrier, even to banking for one of his many friends . . . Rosemary, petite canine pet of the Carl Andersons in Worthington, found in a tree, climbed onto, and had her picture taken with a huge and unusual fungus growth . . . Fluffy, amiable Angora on the Lloyd Pepin farm near Swanville, makes her home in the henhouse.

If you travel 75 mph. in your car and are in an accident, there's a one in eight chance you'll be killed, the National Safety Council says. Slow down to 55 mph and your chances of being killed if a crash comes drop to one in 40.

Accidents in 1956 took the lives of nearly 35,000 persons in the prime of life — 15-44 years of age — the National Safety Council reports. An additional 19,400 persons 45-64 died from accidents.

All Aldermen, Mayor in Race for Reelection

Mayor Beich and A. F. Berge Enter Names Monday Afternoon

As a result of two last-minute filings before the deadline Monday afternoon, Mayor O. D. Beich and all six members of the city council are candidates to retain their posts in the biennial city election Tuesday, November 5.

Last to file, in addition to Mayor Beich, was A. F. Berge, president of the council and fourth ward alderman. Berge will be opposed by two other candidates, S. A. Honebrink and Harry Nass, local contractor. Dr. Beich will be opposed for the mayor's office by Mrs. Agnes Israelson, a former incumbent.

Seeking election as alderman-at-large are the two incumbents, A. R. Stenberg, and Bob Carlson, and A. J. Rau. An unusual feature of this year's election is that incumbent aldermen from three of the four wards are unopposed for reelection. They are James Winjum, first ward; Roy Lee, second; and Stanley Sandvig, third.

Also without opposition is Mrs. Hazel C. Olson, long-time city treasurer and candidate for re-election. The office of municipal judge does not come up for election this year, Judge H. O. Chommie having been elected in 1955 for a four-year term.

Federal Land Bank President Speaks to Loan Assn. Here

Avery Cites Progress of Northwest National Farm Loan Association

In a message to members attending the annual meeting of the Northwest National Farm Loan Association at Thief River Falls Friday, October 18th, M. D. Avery, president of the Federal Land Bank of St. Paul, said the 40-year history of the Land Bank system provides an excellent background and experience for meeting the challenge to provide long-term financing for the years ahead.

At the meeting special significance was given the 40th anniversary of the Federal Land Bank of St. Paul and the Land Bank System. Ed. G. Johnson, secretary-treasurer of the Northwest National Farm Loan association, stated that it has closed loans totaling over 4 million dollars to farmers in the area during the past 10 years. Membership in the association has more than doubled during the same period. The financial statement shows surplus and reserves are nearly 10 times greater than they were 10 years ago.

Recognition was given B. B. Hammer of Pennington County, who resigned as a director earlier this year, for his continued service of nearly 40 years as an association director. G. H. Vermilya, regional manager from the Federal Land Bank of St. Paul, gave a brief talk on the agricultural financial picture. Raymond W. Knudsen of Warren and Lloyd E. Johnson of St. Hilaire were reelected to the board of directors. Lunch was furnished following the meeting.

Man Faces Charge of Possession of Narcotics Here

A 25-year-old man was arrested here Tuesday evening on a charge of possession of narcotics after several hours of extensive investigation by Police Chief Elton Cummings, Sheriff Charles Richards and State Crime Bureau Agent Larry Hedrin, Cummings announced Wednesday.

Daniel J. McNamara, who came to Thief River Falls from South Bend, Ind., waived preliminary examination in municipal court here today and was bound over to district court, and bond was set at $5,000.

No further details were available in the case. Cummings said McNamara came to this city about a month ago.

2d Offering in N.W. Concert Series Oct. 28 Is Ballet Quartet

The Ballet Russe Quartet, which will present the second program of the Northwest Concert association's current series, will bring to the audience in Thief River Falls the thrilling highlights of the greatest classical ballets.

The program, which will be held Monday, October 28, at 8 p.m. in the Lincoln high school auditorium, offers the most brilliant duets, trios, solos and quartets from the familiar classics, danced in the authentic style of the Ballet Russe.

George Verdak and William Glenn, organizers, directors and male dancers of the Ballet Russe Quartet, together spent a total of fifteen years in the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo company. There, from the great Danilova, they learned the intricacies of the great Russian ballets which are traditionally handed down from one generation of dancers to another and can be learned only in this way. Today they are among only some 60 to 70 dancers in all of America who know the complete authentic ballets. When the Ballet Russe was disbanded in 1952 for reorganization into a smaller company, Verdak and Glenn left it to form their own small company, feeling this would give them an opportunity to do more creative work.

Prima ballerina Maria de Baroncelli was a member of De Basil's original Ballet Russe company and toured extensively with them in Europe. In recent years she has toured with other ballet companies in Europe, North Africa, and North and South America. Currently she is a leading ballerina with the Venezuelan National Ballet from which she has a leave of absence to tour with the Ballet Russe Quartet. Second ballerina, Roslyn Bohror, has danced with Verdak and Glenn for a number of years in their Ballet Concertant ensemble which does symphonic, operatic and modern ballet productions.

The program will feature excerpts from three of the beloved Tchaikovsky ballet suites, the Nutcracker, Swan Lake and The Sleeping Beauty; the light-hearted Coppelia and idyllic Les Sylphides. The full orchestral accompaniment on high fidelity recording and the traditionally beautiful costumes make each dance a faithful reproduction of its counterpart in the full ballet.

Admission to the Ballet Russe Quartet program is by season membership in the concert association.

Forger Wanted Here Is Arrested in Minneapolis

Police Chief Elton Cummings said today he was notified this week by Minneapolis police that a man who passed three forged payroll checks here the week of August 27 was arrested there Oct. 21.

Perry Kalkbrenner, who had escaped from jail in Rochester a short time before the checks were passed, was arrested by lawmen in Minneapolis Monday night and has been sent back to Rochester to face charges.

Cummings said Kalkbrenner is the subject of detainers from sheriffs and police chiefs in Duluth, Brainerd, Winona, Canby City and Bagley, as well as by local officials.

Kalkbrenner passed three checks locally, one in the amount of $146.32 and the others written for $145.32, on the Minnetonka Fiberglass and Marine Co. of Mound, Minn.

He has a long record of forgeries prior to his escape from the jail at Rochester and his subsequent arrest, Cummings said.

Lincoln Seniors Take Scholarship Tests This Week

Top One-fourth of Class Takes National Merit Scholarship Tests Here

National Merit scholarship qualifying tests were given Tuesday to the upper one-fourth of the membership of the Lincoln high school senior class, it was announced today by Dennis Rolle, guidance director.

The scholarship program is a nationwide search for high school seniors who have demonstrated extraordinary ability to benefit from a college education. About 1,000 four-year scholarships are awarded annually, the stipends depending on financial need, and supplemental costs of education grants are made to the colleges and universities which the scholars attend.

The winners are selected on the basis of aptitude for college work, as shown by scores on two nationwide aptitude tests, secondary school achievement, character, and qualities of leadership. Merit scholars select the accredited colleges of their own choice and choose their fields of study.

The scholarships are financed by major business organizations located in all parts of the United States.

John Lynskey Jr, 1957 graduate of Lincoln high school, was one of the 1,000 winners out of 300,000 seniors taking the examinations last last year, and he is currently attending the University of Minnesota. Miss Jeanne Dahlen received honorable mention.

Mental Health Clinic Details Taking Shape

7 N.W. Counties to Sponsor Clinic Due to Open in January

The Northwestern Mental Health Center moved closer to an actuality Monday night in a meeting held at Crookston, at which time a nine-man board appointed by the seven counties involved, met to make further plans. The health center is a proposed mental health outpatient clinic that has been voted financial support by several of the counties in this area and it is hoped will be approved by the others, including Pennington, at early meetings. The clinic will be located in Sunnyrest Sanatorium at Crookston. At Monday's meeting one of the Polk county representatives was named to act as chairman of the board. He is Emil Bagley, executive secretary of the Polk county welfare office. Norman Peterson of Thief River Falls has been named to represent this county on the board.

Peterson stated that the board had approved a request for matching state funds in the amount of slightly over $12,000. This money would come from an appropriation made during the last session of the state legislature.

Several such clinics have already been established and it is hoped that this area can have such a clinic made possible by the approval of the board's request.

During the meeting the board chose the name of the Northwestern Mental Health Center. The nine man board representing the counties of Mahnomen, Norman, Polk, Red Lake, Pennington, Marshall, and Roseau will have members with terms varying from two to four years. If the appropriation from the state is approved, it is hoped to begin choosing the clinic staff and have an operational unit some time in January.

Supervisors of Two SCS Districts, Talk over Flood Problems

Members of the boards of supervisors of the Pennington and Marshall-Beltrami soil conservation districts held a joint meeting in the court house here Monday evening.

Purpose of the meeting was to discuss the problem of flood waters coming out of the Red Lake reservation into eastern Pennington and parts of Marshall county.

Ralph Hauswirth, area engineer for the Soil Conservation Service, showed maps of the area and explained some of the work he has done in the affected area.

He explained how State Highway No. 1 acts as a dike to prevent water from going southwest to the Red Lake River. The water which cannot go in its natural way is forced to go west and north, this causing flooding in Pennington and along ditch 20 in Marshall county.

Alfred Longren, chairman of the Pennington County board of supervisors acting as chairman of the meeting requested that H. G. Halverson, area conservationist for the S.C.S. and Ralph Hauswirth, area engineer contact the Minnesota highway department and make a request to study the problem of flood waters being diverted into Pennington and Marshall counties.

Alvin Howland, area director for the State Association of District Supervisors, outlined plans for the area meeting to be held in Thief River Falls early in December and the State and National meetings to be held in Minneapolis in January, 1958.

700 Attend Midland Co-op. Session in TRF

M. D. Zeddes, director of finance and general counsel for Midland Cooperatives told 700 delegates and officials at the co-op's annual regional meeting held in the armory here Tuesday that Midland's sales the past year were the highest ever, with a gross volume of over $43 million.

The meeting was preceded with a luncheon at the armory, and the business session was opened afterwards by H. B. Nornes, McIntosh, district chairman. The young people's session was held at the city Auditorium in the afternoon.

In addition to the financial report by Zeddes, Andrew Strandquist, Warren, area member of the board of directors, and H. I. Finstad, Thief River Falls, a member of the committee of review (which reviews actions by the board of directors and management policies), both gave reports on co-op activities during the past year. Lloyd Iverson reported on activities in the district of which he is manager.

Both Strandquist and Finstad were re-elected to their posts during the meeting. A. J. Smaby, Midland general manager spoke on "Inter-cooperative Relations," also during the afternoon session.

At the evening banquet the delegates and their guests were welcomed by Mayor O. D. Beich and entertainment included a magic act.

In connection with the youth activity report Raymond Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Nelson, and a member of the Silverton 4-H club was awarded an expense-paid trip to the Midland state meeting in St. Paul the week of Dec. 2.

The award is made to a youth from each district for activities in co-op organization and young Nelson's award was presented by Strandquist. Winner at the state meet will win a trip to the national co-op. meeting.

Elmer Olson, Oklee, chairman of the Midland Managers' association, spoke briefly at the banquet session while the main address was presented by Smaby, whose topic was "Growing Thru Service to People."

Chester Myrom Gets New Post in New York

Chester A. Myrom, a Garden City, New York, layman, formerly of Thief River Falls, has been elected as the first executive director of the newly-created United Lutheran Church Foundation. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sig Myrom of this city, and his wife is the sister of Otis Wold.

Myrom was elected to a six-year term, expiring Oct. 31, 1963, by the executive board of the United Lutheran Church in America.

He will take over his duties Nov. 1, in the Lutheran Church House, denominational headquarters, in New York. The foundation will become a department under the jurisdiction of the executive board.

The foundation has been set up by the 2,500,00-member church body to solicit major designated and undesignated gifts for its world-wide ministry carried on through missions, evangelism, social missions and Christian education.

The ULCF is authorized to receive and invest endowment funds and to pay out income to designated beneficiaries, or in the absence of designations, to have the income allocated by the executive board, to church agencies. It also may issue life income and annuity contracts.

The foundation has elected as its chairman, Dr. Roland C. Matthies, vice president of Wittenberg College, Springfield, O., with Arthur L. Grede, Milwaukee, Wis., industrialist, as vice chairman, Myrom as secretary; and Edmund F. Wagner, New York City, as treasurer.

Myrom has been serving as associate stewardship secretary and associate director of the Lutheran Layman's Movement. After 14 years in the wholesale and retail grocery business in Minnesota and Nebraska, he joined the stewardship staff in January, 1951. Previously he had taught high school in his native Thief River Falls, for two years.

In 1932, Myrom was graduated from Luther College, Decorah, Ia., with a bachelor of arts degree. His wife, the former Delia L. Wold, was graduated from Concordia College, Moorhead, Minn., in 1933. They were married July 3, 1934, and are the parents of one son, Donald Bruce, 17. The Myroms are members of Epiphany Lutheran Church, Hempstead, N. Y., and reside at 144 Kensington Road South, Garden City.

Myrom pioneered in the field of capital fund appeals for the ULCA. The success he achieved in 17 congregations, with pledges and funds exceeding $1,300,00, resulted in the establishment of the fund-raising counseling service by the Lutheran Laymen's Movement.

In the fall of 1954 Myrom adapted the methods and experience of the capital funds appeals to the on-going local and benevolent needs of congregations and conducted the first sector project in stewardship among congregations in the Iowa Synod of the United Lutheran Church.

The sector project was expanded in 1955 and 1956, and was adopted as the stewarship program for the entire United Lutheran Church in 1957.

50 Pharmacists and Wives Attend Meeting in City

Richard Laska, President of State Pharmaceutical Assn., Is Speaker Monday

People are human; and it is only human for people to take for granted many of the blessings that have come to them through great advances in the pharmaceutical industry.

That was the word given here to area druggists Monday evening by Richard D. Laska, president of the Minnesota State Pharmaceutical Association. He spoke to 50 pharmacists and their wives from a 70-mile radius who attended a regional meeting of the association held at the Elks club rooms.

"We cannot expect that buying drugs will ever become such fun as purchasing a new dress, a shiny car or an inch-thick steak," the St. Paul druggist said.

"However, the public must be educated to the fact that modern drugs are the greatest health-producing, life-saving bargain in history. It is up to the individual druggist to tell this story to his customers," he said.

Laska reminded the pharmacists to "impress upon your customers that fully 70 per cent of todays' prescriptions could not have been filled 10 years ago because the drugs did not then exist."

Ole Ekeren was in charge of arrangements for the local meeting.

12 Persons Penalized in Municipal Court

Several Goodridge citizens provided a large percentage of the grist for the municipal court mill here Monday afternoon, as an about-average session was held before Judge H. O. Chommie.

Four persons, all from Goodridge were brought before the court on a total of five charges by Sheriff Charles Richards. Orville P. Urdahl, pleaded guilty to leaving the scene of an accident and also to driving after revocation of his license. He was fined $25 plus $5.50 on each count.

Albert F. Fiskevold, rt. 3, Goodridge, also paid $25 and $5.50 costs after pleading guilty to driving after revocation.

LeRoy E. Erickson and Jimmie Asp both pleaded guilty to petty larceny and were sentenced to 30-day jail sentences which were suspended on conditions set by the court. Both paid $5.50 court costs.

City police had a fairly light docket by comparison with only three persons in court. Charles E. Hutchinson, Greenbush, speeding 55 m. p. h. in a 40 m. p. h. zone, forfeited $50 bond.

Those who appeared as a result of city police action were: Rodney E. Blodgett, city, pleaded guilty to careless driving and drew a $15 fine.

Arne E. Wappula, Middle River, pleaded guilty to permitting unlawful operation of a vehicle and paid $10 fine while a Middle River juvenile involved in the same case as Wappula pleaded guilty to careless driving and was fined $25. On an additional charge of driving after midnight, after pleading guilty, he was fined $15 plus $4 costs.

They will also face court in Marshall county on other charges arising from their arrest, according to police.

The highway patrol also had five cases involving four persons before the court. Lorraine A. Fenaritus, Goodridge, pleaded guilty to speeding and was fined $12.50 plus $4 costs.

Mark E. Belland, city, charged with speeding 100 m. p. h. at night, pleaded guilty and drew a stiff $50 fine plus $4 costs and, in addition, was fined $50 plus $4 costs on pleading guilty to a careless driving charge.

LeRoy E. Erickson, (the same person brought to court by the county sherriff) Goodridge, pleaded guilty to having no valid drivers license and was fined $25 plus $4 costs.

1958 Plymouth to Be Shown Nov. 1st

Forkenbrok Motor Co. Announces New Models

Substantial styling advances in keeping with the trend-setting characteristics of the popular current model Plymouth cars, plus new lineup of six engine options and other important new engineering features will be seen when the Plymouth for 1958 is introduced November 1, locally at Forkenbrok Motor Co.

"The new Plymouth is improved in appearance, performance, comfort and safety, yet retains many of the outstanding styling, handling and riding features that were so enthusiastically accepted by American car-buyers this year," John P. Mansfield, Plymouth president, said today.

Styling features of the new Plymouth include a bright new "Silver Dart" side moulding treatment, sweeping upward at the rear on Belvedere and Sport Suburban models to the tip of Plymouth's familiar high-flung directional stabilizer fins, with optional dart inserts of silvery anodized aluminum or compatible colors. Another distinctive new side trim is available also with Savoy and Plaza models.

Double header dual headlights are standard equipment on all new Plymouths, with the inner beams producing maximum long-range forward visibility and the outer pair providing supplemental fill-in light when used in combination, or efficient low-beam lighting when used alone.

Plymouth's new engine lineup offers six power options, including the new 350-cubic-inch Golden Commando V-8 at extra cost, with a 10 to 1 compression ratio and a horsepower rating of 305. New fuel-injection is available with this engine as a limited option.

Unbeaten Pirates to Face Prowlers Friday

The most important game of the eighth region, the 31st district, and Northwest conference season will be played here on Friday night when the Crookston Pirates meet the Prowlers on the Lincoln high school athletic field. The Pirates, entering Friday night's tilt, are boasting a season record of seven wins and no losses; while the Prowlers have a six wins and one loss mark.

It's probable that the following lineup will take the field for coach Joe Mikonich's Prowlers at the kickoff, which will be at 8:00 P. M.; ends, Ken DeLap and Stan Torgerson; tackles, Don Litstrom and Larry Gausen; guards, Ken Sauve and Ken Jones; center, Jim Nelson; quarterback, Phil Hanson; halfbacks, Dave Rasmussen and Lynn Nicholson; and fullback, Jim Bennes.

Opposing the Prowlers, and rated a slight favorite in the game, will be this Crookston Central lineup; ends, Phil Sanders and Roger Janssen; tackles, Merlon Fish and Byron Broden; guards, Dennis Hayden and Jerry Lindell; center, Chuck Anderson; quarterback, Bill Taylor; halfbacks, Cliff Svedahl and Jerry Solheim or Dick Drees; and fullback, Ken Wold.

Comparative scores can mean much, or they can mean nothing, but the two teams — the Pirates and the Prowlers — have met four mutual opponents — Detroit Lakes, Bemidji, East Grand Forks, and Red Lake Falls. Crookston defeated Bemidji, 47 to 6; while the Prowlers defeated the Jacks, 21 to 6. Crookston bested East Grand Forks, 26 to 7; while the locals defeated the Little Green Wave, 30 to 7. The Pirates trounced the Red Lake Falls Eagles, 40 to 0; while the locals shut out the Eagles, 31 to 0. Crookston beat Detroit Lakes, 13 to 6; and the Prowlers edged out the Lakers, 7 to 6. It all adds up to a nip-and-tuck tilt on Friday night.

Lions Hear Herb Dill Tell of Geese

Herb Dill, manager of the Mud Lake game refuge, presented the program at the Lions club luncheon Wednesday noon in the Elks club rooms. He showed slides depicting various species of wild geese, and outlined work being done in the nation's game refuges to propagate the birds.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

The Game of the Valley

The "game of the week," the "game of the year," and the "game of the valley," will be played here on Friday night when the Crookston Central Pirates meet the Prowlers on the Lincoln high field. It will be a "blue chip" contest, with the winner gaining a claim to the northwestern Minnesota high school football title. (Coach Marv Thompson's Fosston Greyhounds may present a record that entitles that club to a share in the honors).

Late-season football games in these parts are subject to the vagaries of the weather, but it is hoped that Friday night's weather conditions will not pose any problems or create any hazards. The two teams deserve a fine night.

Friday night's tilt will be the continuation of a long and healthy football series between the Pirates and the Prowlers. Since 1915 the two schools have met thirty-eight times on the gridiron. The results have been overwhelmingly in favor of the Prowlers, with the locals rolling up twenty-seven wins, playing four ties and losing but seven games.

Not since the 1949 season, when Crookston won by an 18 to 7 score, have the Pirates defeated the Prowlers in football. Since that time the Prowlers have racked up seven straight wins, and the scores have been decisive; 33-13, 50-6, 26-0, 60-0, 48-6, 27-0, and 32-19.

This year, though, the Pirates have their brightest chance since 1949, of recording a win, and they will be entering tomorrow night's game as a slight favorite. And, too, the Pirates will come into the game with an undefeated record. That hasn't happened very often.

According to all reports, the two teams will be at top strength for the championship, and therefore there won't be alibis offered after the results have been posted.

The Pirates, coached by Duane Sundby, will be giving away height and weight to coach Joe Mrkonich's Prowlers, but Crookston will possess a team-speed advantage. Physically, the game is a stand-off.

The Prowlers have a solid line from tackle to tackle, with Don Litstrom, Larry Gausen, Ken Sauve, Jim Nelson, Ken Jones, and Harold Froehle bulwarking the middle. The Pirates won't win the game "up the middle," but they may prove difficult to halt on their "outside" stuff and their passing attack.

The locals, during their seasons' play, have revealed an unsteadiness in their defense against sweeps and aerials. In quarterback Bill Taylor, the Pirates have a first rate passer, and the fact that he is a southpaw may prove puzzling, too.

Frenetic Antics

Doesn't it verge on the pitiful to see the Minneapolis major league baseball committee, with cup and hat in hand, making the rounds of the various big league magnates and begging for a franchise?

The situation down there must be getting desperate when the committee has to make overtures to the Washington Senators. This great upper mid-west area deserves a big league team, but the Washington Senators would just about "kill" all interest. The Senators are a second division team in the American league, and they haven't any prospects of rising into the first division in the forseeable future.

The site for a Twin City ball park should have been the State Fair grounds; and we're sure that ways and means could have been provided for a huge stadium there. That is, if there had been a slight bending of the necks by the committees of Minneapolis and St. Paul.

Sports Afield

Local duck hunters haven't been offering any complaints as to the number of ducks that have been in flight around here, but these hunters have been perplexed by the feeding pattern of these ducks.

Ordinarily, ducks, and we are speaking of mallards, will feed on barley, wheat, and oats, and in that order; and this year, due to the extreme wetness of the harvest season, there are vast areas of fields, grain fields, lying in swath. But the ducks aren't there.

Instead of grain-feeding the mallards may begin to come into these grain fields and corn fields with the onset of cold weather; these ducks have been patronizing meadow-like areas that contain wild millet or pigeon grass.

We did see a bag of mallards, though, and they were taken by Bill Hallameck on Monday afternoon along ditch twenty. Bill stated that he had to reach up pretty high to get these mallards, using three-inch magnums.

The local hunters who made the long jaunt down to the pheasant country last week-end reported spotty hunting. Erv Pearsons' party had good shooting around the Wheaton area on Saturday, getting fifteen birds for the party of five. On Sunday, hunting the territory east of Herman, Bob (Corn) Olson, Zip Mattson, and Pickerel Nelson, picked up nine pheasants, but only after a hard day's hunting and with the assistance of two dogs. It's the consensus that the pheasant hunting will improve with the harvesting of the corn and the soybeans.

Rotary Hears Plan for Mental Clinic

Out-patient Clinic to Be Set up at Crookston

County commissioner Don Olson outlined at the Rotary club meeting Monday a proposal for a mental health program under which a group of northwestern Minnesota counties would join in the operation of an out-patient clinic. The services being maintained by the state at several of the mental institutions, including Fergus Falls, are being discontinued, he said.

The state would participate in the cost of the services which would be provided through the operation of district units supported jointly by groups of counties.

Sunny Rest Sanatorium, at Crookston, operating far below capacity, would be made available for such a service for this area. Olson stated that Pennington county's share of the cost of such a service is estimated at $1,700.

1958 Wool Incentive Prices Are Revealed

A shorn wool incentive price of 62 cents per pound and a mohair support price of 70 cents per pound, recently announced by the Department of Agriculture, are the same as for the last three marketing year programs, according to Oscar J. Houske, chairman Pennington County Agricultural Stabilization and conservation committee.

Mr. Houske pointed out that under the National Wool Act of 1954, the wool incentive payment program is authorized to run 4 years, from the 1955-56 marketing year through the 1958-59 marketing year, which ends March 31, 1959.

Payments to producers under the 1958 program on shorn woll production and on marketings of live lambs (pulled wool compensating payments) will follow the same pattern employed for the current 1957 program.

Shorn wool payments will be equal to a percentage of each producer's cash returns from wool sales. This percentage will be that required to raise the national average price received by producers for wool up to the incentive price of 62 cents per pound. Under this method of calculating the payment, the Chairman explained, the grower who markets his wool at a higher price will receive an incentive payment under the Wool Act larger than the grower who sells his wool at a lower price.

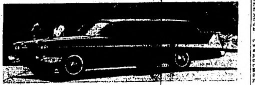
Lamb payments will be made to each producer who sells unshorn lambs which he has owned for at least 30 days. The payment will be made at a rate per hundredweight of live animals marketed to compensate for the wool on them on a basis comparable to the incentive payments per pound of shorn wool. The payments will be made on the weight increase of the lambs during the period of ownership by each owner.

Payments under the 1958 program will be made on wool and lambs marketed during the April 1, 1958-March 31, 1959 period. The payments will be made in the summer of 1959 following the end of the marketing year.

The wool incentive level of 62 cents announced for the 1958 marketing year—the fourth year of the program—is 95 percent of the September 15, 1957 parity price of 65.4 cents per pound of shorn wool. The mohair support price of 70 cents is 82 percent of the September 15 parity price of 85.2 cents per pound.

The incentive price for the first 3 years of the program's operation was set at 62 cents per pound, which reflected 106 percent of parity for the 1955-56 and the 1956-57 marketing years, and 101 percent for the 1957-58 marketing year. The lowering percent-of-parity level reflects increasing parity prices during the past few years.

New Plymouth Sport Suburban



Plymouth's new Sport Suburban station wagon for 1958 goes even more modern with an upswept Silver Dart two-tone treatment that heightens interest in the popular rear fins. Also new for 1958 are the dual headlights, standard equipment on all Plymouth cars, and a dressed up lower grille section which matches the horizontal lines of the upper grille. The distinctive rear-facing third seat which Plymouth introduced in 1957 is again available with Sport Suburban station wagons for 1958. The new Plymouths, with six engine options and 19 separate body styles and models, will be introduced in dealer showrooms throughout the country on November 1.

'U' of Minnesota Spent $63 Million During Past Year

Summary Shows State Supplied $23,000,000 or 36 Per Cent of Total

University of Minnesota expenditures for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1957, totaled $63,550,225.93, while the school's income for the year amounted to $63,563,590.75 including a balance of $4,843.03 left over from the previous year, according to a summary of financial operations released today by William T. Middlebrook, business vice president.

Largest source of University income was the state of Minnesota which provided $23,124,586.22 or aproximately 36.4 per cent of the year's total, the summary disclosed. During the previous fiscal year, the University obtained $24,079,631.39 or 39.3 per cent of its $61,310,158.41 income for that year, from the state.

Other sources of University income for the fiscal year were reported by Middlebrook as follows: fees and receipts, $11,094,272.92 including $3,073,165.03 in student tuition fees; University services and revolving funds, $11,900,800.04 income from the permanent University fund (principal $44,224,913.32 on June 30, 1957) $1,313,110.02; from trust funds $12,769,666.10; intercollegiate athletics, $1,287,807.36 (including $48,565.78 at the Duluth Branch); and from the federal government for instruction, agricultural research, agricultural extension work and physical plant expansion, $2,200,805.06.

Largest University expenditure for the year 1956-57 was $27,268,897.57 paid out for instruction and research. Included in this outlay was the expense of college instruction and research, the Duluth Branch, the agricultural schools and experiment stations, University Hospitals, summer session and agricultural and general extension activities.

Expansion of the University's physical plant resulted in an expenditure of $5,082,031.83 during the fiscal year, according to Middlebrook.

Bad Tires, Brakes May Cause Mishap

National Safety Council Offers Helpful Advice

Tires that are cut and worn thin are an invitation for an accident, the department said. A worn tire is likely to blow out in times of stress, just when a motorist can least afford a tire failure. The greatest strain is placed on tires on curves or at high speeds, the department explained, so that is the time when a defective tire is most dangerous.

The National Safety Council estimates that blowouts or unsafe tires are factors in one out of every 100 fatal traffic accidents.

The council recommends that motorists take the following precautions to avoid blowouts:

1. Rotate tires regularly.
2. Have tires checked by competent garagemen.
3. Watch for the symptoms of tire failure such as the frequent loss of air.
4. Replace worn tires periodically.

Brake failures are even more dangerous than tire failures, the council pointed out. Brake failures are reported in two out of every 100 fatal accidents.

In most motor vehicles equipped with hydraulic brakes, failure of the brake in one wheel often means failure of the brakes in the other wheels. Similarly, a leak anywhere in an automobile's hydraulic brake system means complete brake failure, the council warned. Therefore, brakes should be checked periodically even if they seem to be in top operating condition.

Editorials . . .

"There is in trees no perfect form which can be fixed upon or reasoned out as ideal; but that is always an ideal oak which, however poverty-stricken, or hunger-pinched, or tempest-tortured, is yet seen to have done, under its appointed circumstances, all that could be expect of oak."

—John Ruskin

God Save The Queen

Queen Elizabeth and her husband, Prince Philip, of England, made a good impression on their visit to our country last week. We hope they liked us.

They had a scheduled performance before a most critical audience. It was a big act, and required a big supporting caste. Besides the stars there were 25 assistants in the show, two ladies-in-waiting, four secretaries, a treasurer, a medical officer, four maids, two valets, two detectives, two stenographers, three footmen, two equerries, a page, and a hairdresser. It is also reported that there were two tons of baggage.

Royalty no longer is a power in either national government or in world politics. Royalty now is merely a symbol of authority, but symbols are still important. And in England, and in many of the now independent nations that make up the British Commonwealth, just as democratic as we are, royalty serves a useful purpose as a symbol of unity.

England has had good kings and bad kings, and we owe a great deal to both the good and the bad. Thanks to the fact that the people of England on several occasions staged revolutions, and our concept of liberty is based largely on the rights that were won by the people of England in their revolutions, maybe we actually owe more to the bad kings than we do to the good.

We fought a revolutionary war against a bad king too, and it doesn't detract from the sacrifices that were made by the colonists to admit that we won that revolution largely because we had powerful friends in England who served us well.

And so we offer a belated welcome to Elizabeth and Philip as symbols of past struggles and present unity, and congratulate them on a good performance. With the many millions of people thruout the world for whom they are a symbol of unity, we have a very urgent common interest. God Save the Queen.

Stable Economy Assured

Iron ore concentrates shipped from the state this year will exceed in volume the shipments of high-grade, direct shipping ores. In an interesting report on this development, and the proven success of the beneficiating processes, Business Week suggests that the time is near at hand when all ore shipped from the state will be processed to some extent.

We now have assurance that our "mined-out" ore ranges will give us a permanent and growing industry, providing year-round employment of skilled workers for an area whose economy has never been stable, and too often, has fluctuated between feast-or-famine extremes. And this stable operation, assuring a permanent source of this important material, no doubt will attract other industries.

With the advantages it will derive from the development of the seaway northeastern Minnesota should be entering upon an era of sound industrial expansion.

Self-analysis Needed

We are not impressed by the argument, now advanced by spenders, that our failure to launch the first earth satellite is due to a cut-back in our defense program. The argument is not impressive mainly because so far there has been no real cut-back in spending for any purpose. About all we have had on this much-discussed problem of reducing expenditures has been talk. All the economy that we have been promised has been promised for tomorrow.

Our greatest error has been underestimating Russia's progress in the field of science. We have now learned, to our embarrassment, that they have made greater progress than we in the development of rockets, and we must assume that they are speaking the truth when they tell us they have perfected an intercontinental ballistic missile, which we have not.

It is unfortunate that these unpleasant facts of life are being revealed to us at a time when we are divided among ourselves in the preliminaries of what promises to become a bitter political fight. The wily Kruschchev has timed his latest cold-war offensive strategically and no doubt will get much help from some of our politically minded statesmen in creating the confusion he seeks.

Fortunately however, there are capable leaders in both of our major political parties for whom the welfare of the country comes first and who realize that the problem now is what to do from here on in. We have long known that we were dealing with a ruthless enemy. Now we know we are dealing with an enemy who has at his disposal the most destructive weapons scientists have been able to develop.

Maybe a realization of our danger from without will tend to minimize the importance of our differences here at home. The net result may actually prove beneficial, as is suggested by William Henry Chamberlin in the Wall Street Journal. He says:

> "The Soviet's experimental missiles and earth satellite may be disguised benefits if they reduce an American tendency to assume this country's scientific and technical superiority and lead to a serious study of our own deficiencies in this field, with a view to remedial action. Inter-service rivalries, harmless enough at the annual Army-Navy football games but not so harmless if they delay and obstruct modern weapon research and development, might be a fruitful subject for non-political investigation."

And he adds his voice to the rapidly increasing number of observers who see a need for a reexamination of our system of education, a field in which we have fallen far short of being a first-class power. He makes the serious charge that we are suffering from a softening of mental muscles:

> "Our system of education might also benefit from a critical look. It may well be significant that for the last quarter of a century Soviet students at all levels have been subjected to a tough, disciplined course of study, with heavy doses of natural science. During the same period "progressive" and highly permissive educational methods have softened the mental muscles of many American students.
> "The success of Soviet scientific education and technical development should be a spur to sober analysis on our side. They should not be an occasion for yielding one inch to Soviet threats and blackmail."

The United Nations organization seems to be fighting a losing battle in its efforts to bring about world disarmament. Every day brings discouraging news about new developments in bombs and missiles. But while the prospect is not good it is encouraging to know that some progress has been made. Here in Minnesota we have outlawed firecrackers.

An amazing thing is happening in Japan. Americans, grown accustomed to communist-inspired "Yankee go home" campaigns the world over since the end of World War II, now are witnessing demonstrations for "Yankee, stay here" in Japan. While this is inspired by fear that 130,000 workers will lose their jobs if American security troops are withdrawn, nevertheless, the demonstration has its satisfying emotional side.

"Who takes all those pills?"

This is often the question when a customer eyes the shelves in our pharmacy. Row on row on row of bottles, boxes, canisters, tubes, vials, jars . . . about 2,000 items in all. Good question. Who are they for? The answer, of course, is you. Say you go to a physician and he writes a prescription which you bring to us to be filled. We can't tell what the ailment will be—there are thousands, and we don't know what medication the doctor will prescribe. To provide prompt pharmaceutical service we have to be ready for just about anything. Which we are.

Cites Law Governing Cutting Yule Trees

"There are laws governing the cutting and transportation of Christmas trees, and if you have any doubt about what is legal you are advised to contact the nearest forestry station." So says E. L. Lawson, director of the division of forestry.

With the approach of the Christmas season, hunters, local citizens, and travelers in the north country should be aware that there are certain laws and regulations governing the cutting of Christmas trees for commercial or home use.

In brief, the law provides that no person shall cut, remove, or transport Christmas trees without the written consent of the owner of the land.

A written consent form is furnished by the Conservation Department, without charge. Such consent or a certified copy of it must be carried by any person cutting, removing or transporting even a single Christmas tree, of whatever species, and shall be exhibited to any officer of the law, forest ranger, game warden, etc., who asks to see it. Any such officer has the power to stop any vehicle and inspect trees being transported to determine if the Christmas tree law (MSA 88.641-88.649) is being complied with, and to seize and hold, subject to the order of the court, any trees cut in violation of the law.

The law further provides that any person other than a common carrier must obtain a transportation permit form (also without charge) from the Conservation Department, before six or more trees can be transported upon a public highway. The written consent and the transportation permit must be carried at all times.

Each year a considerable number of trees are cut without the permission of the landowner. Trees on State lands, county tax forfeited lands, or federal lands belong to the state of Minnesota or the federal government. All other trees belong to the owner of the land, and written permission, namely the written consent, or a bill of sale, must be secured from the owner before cutting or buying a tree.

H. S. Seniors May Take Exams Dec. 14 for Navy Officers

High School Seniors and Graduates May Apply until November 16th

"High school seniors and graduates have only until November 16 to apply for the Navy's Reserve Officer Training Corps", Vice Adm. James A. Holloway, Jr., cheif of naval personnel, said today. Applicants will take the nationwide competitive examination on December 14 as the first step toward an appointment as midshipman.

Designed to supplement the officer output of the Naval Academy, the NROTC program makes it possible for a young man to earn a commission while studying at the civilian college of his choice which has an NROTC unit. All tuition, fees and books are furnished by the Navy, and the student receives an annual retainer of $600 for four years.

During the summers the student goes on fascinating training cruises to many parts of the world. After completing the usual four year college course, he is commissioned in the Regular Navy or Marine Corps and goes on active duty with the Navy's fleets.

Hight school seniors and graduates between the ages of 17 and 21 may apply for the NROTC aptitude test. Those who make a qualifying score will be given a rigid phsical exam early in 1958. From the pool of qualified young men remaining in competition, approximately 2,000 will be selected to begin their naval careers next September.

Application forms are available at all high schools, colleges and Navy recruiting stations.

Poor Road Signs in 33 State Counties

Governor Urges County Boards to Cooperate

Governor Orville L. Freeman reported today that thirty-three Minnesota counties do not have adequate warning and guide signs on their rural roads.

The statement was contained in a preliminary summary of 61 individual county sign reports prepared by county boards and county engineers in response to a request made by Governor Freeman last month.

"It is distressing to note," the governor said, "that 12 of the 61 counties reported have no signing program at all, and 21 additional county engineers and boards were of the opinion that their counties did not have adequate warning and guide signs on their roads."

The governor expressed the hope that the increase in funds which will be made available to the counties as the result of the passage of Amendment 2 will make it possible for these counties to improve their road signing and marking programs.

"Last year in Minnesota we had 91 fatal accident and 1,527 accidents resulting in injuries at rural intersections," the Governor said. "Another 47 fatal accidents occurred at curves on rural roads. I am sure," he said, "that some of these accidents could have been avoided by adequate warning and stop signs on our rural roads."

Many Hunters at Roseau Grounds

More Than 1,000 in Area at Duck Season Opening

Minnesota game officials report that duck hunters enjoyed a successful opening on most of the state owned wetland areas and public hunting grounds.

As an example, they point out, over 1,000 hunters utilized the Roseau River public hunting grounds on the opening weekend. These hunters averaged over two and one-half ducks apiece on opening day and over one and one-half on the second day. Hunters using the Roseau grounds came largely from the Twin Cities, Duluth, Iron Range, International Falls, Brainerd and Crookston.

Approximately one-third of the teal shot at Roseau were local birds banded by state crews this past summer.

Hearings on Natural Gas Near Conclusion

A lengthy hearing to decide the source of supply for additional natural gas for Minnesota and other Midwest states is in its final stage before a Power Commission examiner in Washington, D. C.

A good guess is that the hearing which opened May 14 before Examiner Francis L. Hall will be concluded in early November. The commission itself, however, will hand down the final decision. There is no indication when this will be.

There is little chance, however, that much new gas will be channeled into that area during the current heating season regardless of which pipeline wins out.

All nine companies involved in the big case have presented their direct evidence—including huge stacks of exhibits and volumes of testimony from hundreds of witnesses.

Hall is now hearing cross-examination of customers of Midwestern Gas Transmission Co., the last to present its case.

Northern Natural Gas Co. of Omaha, which contends that Midwestern is seeking to invade the market territory of Northern and other pipeline companies, is seeking to supply 261 additional communities in Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, Wisconsin, North and South Dakota.

Northern also has announced that it will seek to expand its service even further. However, the commission early this year said no additional applications in the present case will be allowed until a decision is reached.

The world's most expensive sales talk

Door-to-door peddlers are now selling vitamin preparations and nutritional supplements. Good for what ails you and all that. Here's the danger. You may buy the peddler's vitamins "for what ails you" and postpone that visit to your physician you were planning. And that can be dangerous. Dangerous to your health—your most precious possession. That's why the door-to-door peddler's sales talk can be expensive. Tragically expensive. For advice on vitamins or nutritional supplements, see someone with professional knowledge of such things—your family physician or pharmacist.

IN HARMONY

The house lights dimmed, the director raised his baton, and the music of Brahms flooded the auditorium. Suddenly I was lifted into a world of sheer beauty and harmony. When the last notes of the symphony died away spontaneous applause greeted the director and the musicians.

What a thrill it would be to play in a great orchestra, I thought. Each instrument must be perfectly in tune, but until they play together there can never be the harmony or the volume of a symphony.

That's the way it is with life. We may strive to find joy and beauty alone. But only when we tune our lives with our Creator do we discover the abundant life.

Then united with fellow Christians in the Church, with Jesus Christ the Leader, we discover beauty and harmony, not only in this life but for all eternity.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Marshall County to Start Blacktop Program in 1958

First bituminous surfacing of state aid highways in Marshall county is scheduled for 1958. A two-year highway improvement program estimated to cost $807,000 was approved by the county board of commissioners at a recent meeting, according to H. I. Knutson, highway engineer.

Scheduled for bituminous surfacing in 1958 are 8 miles on State Aid Road 3 from Warren, northeast on the Great Eastern and 19 miles on State Aid Road 6 from Middle River east to Gatzke.

In addition, three major grading jobs will be done next year in preparation for bituminous surfacing in 1959, said Mr. Knutson. These include roads west of Argyle and Stephen and a new grade and stabilized base on SAR 7 from Holt west.

The 2-year program is based entirely on traffic count consummated on all major county highways, Knutson pointed out. The roads showing the heaviest traffic will have the first paved surfacing which will eventually lead to surfacing of most of the major roads in the county, said the engineer.

Car and Truck Crash at EGF Takes 4 Lives

East G. Forks Man, Three from Kennedy, Instantly Killed

Captain Walter Anderson of the highway patrol office here was in the East Grand Forks vicinity today, investigating a 3-vehicle accident which claimed four lives about 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

The smashup occurred about a half-mile north of East Grand Forks on highway 220. Details of the crash are not known but it is theorized that a car driven by Ronald Cariveau, 18, rt. 1, EGF, hit the rear of a southbound potato truck, then careened into a northbound car occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Odell Britten, ages 55 and 50 respectively, and their son, Gary Lee, about 13, of Kennedy, Minn.

Cariveau and the Brittens died instantly in the crash but the three men in the truck, William Kleven, 35, Alvarado; Tom Jackson, 30, East Grand Forks, and Arthur Yanish, 24, Alvarado, escaped with lacerations and abrasions, except for Yanish, who suffered a broken ankle.

Traffic on highway 220 was halted about two hours before the wreckage was cleared, according to reports. Police and rescue authorities from EGF and Polk county were helped by Grand Forks authorities and ambulances from both Grand Forks hospitals were called to the scene as was the EGF fire department in case spilled gasoline ignited.

Potatoes from the flat-bed truck were scattered for about 100 yards down the highway when 100-lb. sacks burst from the impact. Wreckage from the cars, of which Cariveau's was the worst damaged, was also scattered over a wide area. The truck overturned after being forced into the ditch. It was not ascertained who was the driver.

Polk county Coroner, Dr. H. F. Nelson, said an investigation of the accident will be completed before it is decided whether or not to hold an inquest.

Centennial Is Topic of Fair Federation

Head of Centennial Commission Speaks in City Thursday

About 60 members of county fair boards in the 9th District of the Minnesota Federation of County Fairs were in attendance at a dinner meeting held Thursday evening at the Thief River Falls golf club.

O. M. Mattson, Warren, ninth district director of the state's county fair federation, presided at the meeting, at which all but two counties in the ninth district were represented.

Special guests at the dinner were the centennial chairmen from Marshall, Pennington, Mahnomen, Red Lake and Roseau counties; Tom Swain, director of the Minnesota Statehood Centennial Commission, and two representatives of the Al Sheehan theatrical agency, Minneapolis.

Purpose of the meeting was to discuss ways and means of carrying out the Centennial theme at the various county fairs in the district next year. Charles Christiansen, of Roseau, member of the board of managers of the Minnesota State Fair, introduced Swain, the featured speaker at the meeting.

Swain outlined the Centennial Week celebration in St. Paul as scheduled by the Centennial commission and said that, barring unforeseen circumstances, President Eisenhower will be in the capital for the Centennial Week celebration.

He emphasized the Centennial year aim of leaving something lasting for the future, so the theme adopted is "Sell Minnesota." The Objective, he stated, is to halt negative impressions of the state on other people in the U. S.

As an instance of negative publicity he cited the various cities' trying for "icebox of the nation" honors, which is, in the long run, derogatory to the state.

Lions Halloween Festival Slated Thursday, Oct. 31

Details are now complete for the traditional community Halloween festival arranged by the Lions club for Thursday, October 31, it was announced today by Stan Pladson, president of the local club, and Elmer Bratsch, festival chairman.

Bratsch stated that the day's program will be along the same lines as those in former years, except that the evening costume parade has been eliminated due to declining participation on the part of the children, and to the possibility of inclement weather.

As in the past, separate parties will be held for youngsters in three age groups. F. Milan Nelson is chairman of the party for pupils of kindergarten age thru the fourth grade, which will be held in the three public grade schools starting at 2:30, and also in St. Bernard's school.

Separate parties also will be held at 11 a.m. for pupils in the morning kindergarten classes. The youngsters will be entertained with movie shorts, and will be given candy and ice cream bars.

Stan Nelson is chairman of the affair for pupils in Grades 5 to 8, which will be held in the Lincoln high school auditorium at 7:30. A feature movie and treats will be provided for entertainment.

The slate of candidates in the Thief River Falls municipal election November 5 was changed in one respect Friday when Harry R. November Set Aside for Immunizations in T. R. Falls Schools

November has been designated as Immunization Month in the school health program, said Mrs. Margaret Race, school nurse. Permit slips have been sent home in most grades where "shots" are due this year. Following the school schedule, grades needing smallpox vaccination are 6th and 12th. Grades 3, 6, 9 and 12 are due for diphtheria boosters this year. Any child in any grade who hasn't had a diphtheria booster in the past 3 to 5 years or a smallpox vaccination in the past 5 years may obtain a permit slip from his teacher.

There will be change in the method of administration from last year. The local doctors will come to the school to immunize children in third grade and younger. Older students, including 6th graders, will be sent in groups to the clinic of their choice for this service.

Last year a second immunization program was necessary in March because of the poor response in November. To assure a good response this fall, the five local P.T.A.s are giving the school health council their fullest support. To prevent an epidemic of any preventable disease, it is necessary to keep at least two-thirds of any group adequately immunized. No school should be satisfied with any thing less than two-thirds of its students being sufficiently protected at all times said Mrs. Race.

Upon entrance to kindergarten, 99% of the children are adequately protected against diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough and smallpox. Throughout grade school this protection remains at about 90%. At the high school level this protection gradually drops.

The price will be 50c for a diphtheria booster and 50c for a smallpox vaccination during Immunization month.

LIBRARY NOTES

Good books admit children to new worlds of delight, contribute to their happiness, stimulate their imaginations and leave joyous memories. When read in childhood, they are enduring contributions to life as true wealth. Bring your child to the public library and introduce him to good reading.

Our newest titles in adult reading are:

Atlas Shrugged, by Rand: This is the story of a man who said he would stop the motor of the world and did. This is a mystery story, not about the murder of a man's body, but about the murder and rebirth of man's spirit.

The Wind in the Forest, by Fletcher: The principal episode is the bitter conflict between the frontier farmers of the western counties and the planters of the south; the year is 1771.

To Live Again, by Catherine Marshall: A personal story for the bereaved and one which will provide inspiring answers for those who have known trouble and disappointment. (A successor to "A Man called Peter")

Dreamers of the American Dream, by Holbrook: An account of the great accomplishments and the magnificent failures of the visionaries who sought to create what they could not find in America.

Vanguard, by Cadin: The story of the coming U. S. Satellite.

On the Road, by Kerouac: Is there a beaten generation?

This is the West, by Howard: Here's a new kind of book on the life, lore and legend of the West.

Reading for Pleasure, by Cerf: "Dear Readers: I hope that the contents of the volume will give you as many hours of delight as they did me. Cordially, B. Cerf."

THE REAL ECONOMY PAVEMENT IS Concrete

Hundreds of cities and towns throughout America have invested their street paving funds with great foresight by building good-looking, comfortable-riding, safe and long-lasting concrete streets.

There are many good reasons for choosing concrete. (1) Concrete streets make any area, business or residential, more attractive. (2) Concrete streets stay comfortable-riding many years longer than other types. (3) Concrete streets are safer to ride on. They are skid-resistant, wet or dry. (4) Concrete streets are durable. They save taxpayers the future burdens that result from excessive maintenance and frequent resurfacing or replacement costs.

Ask to have your streets built with safe, economical concrete—the true more-for-your-money pavement.

Minnesota municipalities over 5,000 population (1950 census) will receive $7,750,000 for street modernization. Insist on modern concrete for your main streets.

Bigger Payments Made for Old-age Assistance Than in Average State

Minnesota's relief load in the categories of old age assistance and aid to dependent children is somewhat smaller in number of individuals receiving benefits than the national average, but the recipients of these benefits get substantially more per person than the national average.

Harold L. Henderson, research director of Minnesota Taxpayers association, today quoted the Social Security Bulletin of September, 1957, as authority for this fact, and he analyzed related statistics published in the Bulletin.

"In June, 1957, 49,764 Minnesotans received old age assistance. This means that out of every 1,000 persons over 65 years of age in Minnesota, 152 of them receive old age assistance. Nationally, 168 out of 1,000 persons over 65 years of age receive such assistance," Mr. Henderson said. "But the average monthly payment in Minnesota was $78.18, as compared with the national average of $58.66. Of the total average monthly old age assistance payment figure, average health, nursing and rest home payments were $34.14 as compared with the national average of $5.73. This was higher than in any other state by more than $3.00."

Mr. Henderson pointed out that the same general pattern existed with respect to aid to dependent children. In Minnesota only 18 out of every 1,000 children under 18 years old received aid to dependent children grants, whereas nationally 30 out of every 1,000 children are beneficiaries. But the average monthly payment for each such child in Minnesota was $30.69 as compared with the national average of $26.01, and the Minnesota average monthly payment per family was $134.67 as compared with the national average of $90.52. Of the total average monthly payment figure, average health payments were $17.06 in Minnesota as compared with the national average of $3.82.

Farm Difficulties Seen by 'U' Economist

Because of a conflict between foreign trade and agricultural pricing policies, the next 10-15 years will continue to be a "period of difficulty" for American farmers, a University of Minnesota agricultural economist said Thursday evening.

Sherwood O. Berg, head of the University agricultural economics department, said, "There is little that can be done about the present situation until price support programs are brought into line with the world market."

He spoke at an evening banquet session of the farm electrification materials handling short course meeting on the St. Paul campus.

Berg said that under present policies "We just get the storage bins empty by selling wheat and other commodities on the world market and the secretary of Agriculture is forced to raise prices that result in accumulating surpluses again."

"This situation can be expected to continue, probably, until about 1975. By then, increased American population and changes in present agricultural policy can be expected to reduce the stress and strain now facing agricultural markets. This idea has been borne out in recent economics research conducted by J. D. Black, economist at Harvard University.

Berg added there is a definite trend toward a two-price system—one price that a commodity brings in this country and a lower price for which it sells on the world market. "This," he said, "is because it's possible to sell large quantities of produce on the world market with a smaller price decline than would be true in American markets. This system can help reduce surpluses in some cases," he added.

Berg pointed out that about 10 percent of all agricultural produce is sold on foreign markets and we sell about a third of our wheat and soybeans abroad.

We have two main kinds of programs to aid foreign agricultural trade, Berg said:

One type involves promoting commercial exports and reducing trade barriers. An example is the 1947 General Agreement for Trades and Tariffs (GATT), which allows nations to make multilateral trade agreements to reduce barriers and stimulate trade. About 75 percent of our foreign trade goes through GATT today.

The second type of help for foreign trade includes special programs, such as P. L. 480, according to Berg. This law allows American produce to be paid for in currency of the country buying it, instead of in U. S. dollars. This can also stimulate trade in many areas, Berg explained.

are healthful climate, long life expectancy of citizens, lower crime rates, etc., along with the state's excellent water and recreational resources, and others.

Swain made several suggestions as to how county committees could give their individual county fairs a real Centennial flavor with various aspects of pioneer days that could be emphasized.

Pageantry, both on the county and state level during the Centennial year, will be on a spectacular scale, as a result of planning by state centennial committees, Swain stated.

Following Swain's address the five county centennial chairmen present told of plans laid to celebrate the Centennial in their respective counties and Preston Lambert of the Sheehan agency outlined ways the stage shows at the county fairs could use the centennial theme.

Following the ninth district meeting several of those present broke into small groups representing the various local fair circuits for more detailed discussions of plans for the coming year.

J. M. Roche said Friday, that as a result of the meeting of the Greater Fair Circuit composed of Norman, Pennington and Kittson counties for booking purposes, that organization was dissolved.

Hereafter, Roche said, each county organization will book its fair attractions independently, which will allow greater leeway in arranging fair dates at the convenience of the locality involved.

State Tax Levy at Near Record Mark

Set at 12.62 Mills; Was 9.15 Mills Last Year

The state property tax levy for 1957 Wednesday was fixed by State Auditor Stafford King at 12.62 mills—the second highest rate in history.

The tax is payable in 1958. The new levy compares with the 1956 rate of 9.15 mills. The highest levy on record was 13.57 mills in 1935.

King explained that he merely certified the levy, as required by law, as based on appropriations voted by the 1957 Legislature.

The high levy was principally due to the Legislature's actions on teachers' retirement fund contributions and the state building program.

The levy for teachers' retirement is set at 3.34 mills. In 1956 it was only eight-tenths of one mill. The levy for state building is set at 3.35 mills as compared with last year's figure of 3.41 mills.

The 1957 Legislature appropriated 55 million dollars for a state building program. This is exclusive of one million dollars for the proposed Bethel airport land acquisition and five million dollars of state funds for the Duluth Port Authority to match a similar amount to be put up by the city of Duluth and St. Louis County to handle St. Lawrence Seaway traffic.

Editor Proposes Self-help Plan to Remedy Dairy Ills

Following are highlights of a challenging address delivered October 23 by W. D. Knox, editor of Hoard's Dairyman, at the annual convention of the Red River Valley Dairymen's association in Thief River Falls.

There is an urgent need for an improved peacetime dairy program. This is obvious from any impartial review of recent and distant dairy economic history.

Under the present price support program, the federal government has lost well over $1 billion. Losses in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1956 totaled $449 million, over one-half of the total current losses borne by the federal government in supporting prices of all farm products.

In spite of these losses and reduced prices to farmers, supply and demand are not yet in balance and even the most optimistic forecasters do not predict a balance in supply and demand under the present price support program until 1966, eight years hence.

Losses to farmers have been heavy as they have seen their gross incomes drop 20 to 25 per cent and their labor income drop 50 per cent in the past five years.

There is nothing surprising in the failure of the present dairy price support program, passed by Democrats, and left unchanged by Republicans. 33 years of dairy economic history reveal the futility of the program because of the inflexibility of the demand-price ratio and the limited response of production to changes in price.

Because of the comparatively inflexible demand-price ratio for dairy products, to move a 10 per cent surplus of dairy products necessitates a reduction in the farm price of at least 40 per cent. The use of the price mechanism alone, therefore, to balance supply and demand is a brutal tool, which, if used alone, could plummet our entire economy into a severe depression.

It is estimated that the price for all milk would have to drop about another 60 cents per hundredweight before increased sales would bring supply and demand into balance. Such a price level would create conditions far worse than existed in the 1930's.

At only one time in the past thirty-three years has a decrease in price, in itself, had any measurable influence in reducing supply. That was in 1934 at the depth of the depression when ruinously low prices were combined with an extensive slaughter program of tuberculosis and brucellosis reactor cattle. Further, there existed one of the worst drouths in agricultural history.

In that one year production dropped 3 billion pounds. At the present time our national surplus is averaging 5 billion pounds annually.

There are three choices available to dairy farmers in a national farm program today. They are:

1. The continuation of the present price support program.
2. Direct payments or the Brannan Plan.
3. A domestic parity self-help plan.

The present price support program has failed, is failing, and will continue to fail because:

1. No insulation is provided from diverted acres.
2. The alternative opportunities for profit in other agricultural enterprises are becoming fewer and fewer.
3. Further increases in consumption, however slight, as a result of decrease in prices are unlikely.
4. There is nothing in the economic history of the dairy industry to indicate that it can succeed.

The direct government payments aproach to a dairy program is not new. It achieved its greatest notoriety in the form proposed by former Secretary of Agriculture, Charles Brannan. Certain Republicans have suggested similar programs in years past. To the credit payments is the resultant clear market, the absence of surplus. We, personally, are opposed, however, to the use of a direct payments dairy program on three counts:

1. It conditions the consumer to unrealistically low prices for milk and dairy products. Such conditioning over a period of time can do more long-range damage to the dairy industry than any other development we can conceive.

Dairy products are today one of the most economical food buys in the entire market basket. The consumer purchases in dairy products from 25 to 30 per cent of his or her nutrition for, roughly, 17 per cent of the food dollar. For years the average industrial hourly wage was equal to the price of a pound of butter. Today an hour's industrial wage will buy over two pounds of butter.

To further depress dairy prices fixes in the mind of the consumer what is considered to be the true value of our products. The return to a normal or fair price relationship becomes more and more difficult as week succeeds week under direct payments. Once begun, they would never be terminated.

2. Direct payments result in part of our current grocery bill being added to our direct and indirect tax burden.

3. A direct payments program pushes the dairy industry deeper and deeper into the political arena. It should be remembered, too, that direct payments carry with them production control.

The domestic parity self-help program would permit dairy farmers to produce for the domestic market at a fair price. It would not support the price of products produced in excess of our domestic needs. All costs of surplus disposal would be borne by dairy farmers themselves, relieving the taxpayer of that heavy financial burden.

Under a proposal currently being perfected by a national Dairy Policy Commitee, 96 per cent of last year's production would be supported at a base manufacturing price of $3.78 per hundredweight. It is expected that milk produced above the 96 per cent base would sell for $2.05 per hundredweight with the difference going directly to the Commodity Credit Corporation to finance surplus disposal. In addition, a flat levy of 10 cents per hundredweight would be applied to all milk, nationwide.

The net gain to dairy farmers would be in the range of 40 to 45 cents per hundredweight, regardless of where the milk is produced.

The domestic parity principle is not new. It was first advocated thirty years ago. I consider it to be a self-respect principle as well as a self-help plan for American dairying.

For the past three or four years the cost of living index has remained almost stable. This has resulted largely because decreasing farm prices have absorbed increased labor costs in the cost of living. As a result, dairy farmers are earning today from 43 cents to 70 cents per hour. This is manifestly unjust and has been recognized as such by the President in his State of the Union address when he stated that farmers are still not sharing in the nation's prosperity.

After three years of investigation by national dairy leaders, the domestic parity dairy program will be offered to Congress January 7. Prominent national farm organization and dairy support will be given. If administration support is added, that prospects are reasonably bright that we may have a workable peace time dairy program for the first time in our dairy history.

The WORLD OUTDOORS

By [illegible]

MANY a bass fisherman who used to put away his casting rig with the arrival of the first frost now makes this first sign of winter the occasion for putting on some new line and laying in a new supply of baits and plugs.

Our bass fisherman grew up the normal way, with normal ideas—spring and summer were for fishing; winter was the time to dress in longies and parka and go a'hunting. But time, circumstances and experience suggested to our fisherman that bass must feed in cool and cold weather and one brisk October day he went fishing. This one expedition brought about a new way of thinking.

In the big bass country of the Southland, fall fishing is best. When cooler weather brings the water temperatures down to the high 60's, the old lunkers come charging off the bottom of rivers and lakes to smash viciously at top water popping baits and spinners.

October usually brings ideal fishing days. The dawn breaks slowly, revealing a fog-shrouded lake. Like hot popcorn in a skillet is the sound of top-feeding bluegills. Silently a boat pulls away from the shore and threads its way among the trees and stumps that materialize suddenly in the misty fog. A piece of cork, a hunk of hair and a hook flies through the air and comes to rest on the calm waters, twitching ever so slightly, sending out a gentle ring of ripples. And then the water explodes with sound and fury; down to the depths go the cork and hook and hunk of hair and in this moment of impact a rod tip swings skyward, line goes taut and the battle is joined.

The cold-weather wind has a biting edge and fingers grow numb and cold.

SPEAKING OF AUTOS, ACCIDENTS, AND SO ON

Half century railroad records are not exactly uncommon, but such a period of service deserves a thoughtful double-take when it ends, as has John P. Peterson's 50 years with the Milwaukee at Austin, with special accolades for never having been involved in a reportable mishap of any kind. Over a total period of 25 years four carriers of rural mail out of Detroit Lakes, George McCarthy, Donald DePree, Arne Nybo, and Clyde Lund, have travelled an impressive total of 577,472 miles without an accident. Arthur F. Breepe, Long Prairie, waited 91 years to commit his first traffic violation; a $25 fine for driving over the center line was suspended. Henry Woese, Redwood Falls, has rolled up 140,000 miles on his 1920 Ford, wearing out 12 sets of tires and one motor.

Bagley Man Dies in Polk County Crash

Raymond Westphal Killed When Truck Hits Train

Raymond C. Westphal, 26, of rural Bagley, was killed instantly Friday when the sugar beet truck he was driving collided with a Great Northern two car passenger train at a crossing near Mallory.

The accident occurred shortly before noon as Westphal was crossing the tracks on a gravel road. He was about to enter U.S. Highway 2. Mallory is about seven miles southeast of East Grand Forks.

Westphal's death and four others raised Minnesota's 1957 traffic toll to 536, up 27 from a year ago.

Great Northern engineer F. G. Campbell described the accident this way:

"I saw him coming toward the crossing slowly. I blew the whistle four times, then held it open in a steady blast but it didn't do any good. He drove right in front of me."

Arrange for Farm Hearing Nov. 14-15 at Fergus Falls

Hearing on Family-size Farm to Be Conducted by Committee of Congress

H. E. Swenson, Fergus Falls banker, today urged persons from all walks of life to testify at the Congressional hearing in Fergus Falls, November 14 and 15. The hearing will be conducted by the Family Farm sub-committee of the U. S. House of Representatives agriculture committee, Swenson said. Swenson is chairman of the host committee which will make arrangements for the congressmen.

"The family farm is the backbone of Minnesota's economy", Swenson stated. "It is extremely important that Congress be appraised of the need and problems of the family farm so that equitable legislation may be devised and passed. Unless we tell them what these needs and problems are, congress will be unable to deal effectively with them.

"Prepare what you have to say carefully, and if possible have written copies of it with you. This will permit the sub-committee to study your ideas even if time does not permit you to completely explain them at the hearing", Swenson added.

"You will have a better chance of being heard if you will indicate your intention to speak on the subject now. Send your name to me: H. E. Swenson, Fergus Falls, Minn".

The Sub-committee made extensive studies in the South and Southwest in 1955 and 1956.

About 60 members of county fair boards in the ninth district attended a banquet and meeting, held here Thursday at the Thief River Falls Golf club, to discuss ways and means of observing the Minnesota Centennial at the various 1958 county fairs.

O. M. Mattson, Warren, left front, presided at the meeting, while Tom Swain, center, state centennial commission chairman, was the main speaker of the evening. Charles Christiansen, Roseau right front, introduced Swain.

Standing, rear, are J. M. Roche, secretary, and Albert Koop, president of the Pennington county fair board, who arranged the meeting.

Beauty Going Your Way

1958 CHEVROLET: Fore and Aft

Effectiveness of the 1958 Chevrolet styling is shown by this front-rear view of the Impalas, luxury models in the Bel Air series. The gull-wing sweep at the rear is a perfect complement for the fleet, flowing lines that begin with the fine-grid concave ribs of the grille. In addition to complete body redesign, the latest Chevrolets offer such features as Level Air suspension or all-round coil spring suspension, a more rigid frame and body and an unusual new V8 engine. Impalas top an offering of 17 models.

'Tricks or Treats' Is Sponsored by UN Children's Fund

Children Asked to Make Halloween Collections for United Nations Fund

Minnesota's youngsters are again offered the opportunity of sharing in the United Nation's Children Fund "Trick or Treat" Halloween project. It is a program which belongs to the youth of America. Started by them, it makes Halloween a day of sharing instead of scaring. The only trick is to treat the hungry and sick children of the world. Although traditional with spooks, witches, goblins and the ringing of doorbells, the difference in the UNICEF "Trick or Treat" activity is that the UNICEF spooks and goblins are really angels in disguise.

The "treats" they collect are pennies, nickels and dimes which, through UNICEF become life-saving penicillin, protective vaccine and health-giving milk and vitamins for children who are ill or malnourished.

Last year more than one and a half million American boys and girls in some 7,500 communities joined in making a gift of three-quarters of a million dollars to UNICEF. American youngsters have responded to this project with such enthusiasm that most of the vandalism formerly associated with Halloween has been eliminated. Minnesota's contribution to the 1956 "Trick or Treat" was $12,371.85.

Contributions to the 1957 United Nation's Children's Fund will help to fight tuberculosis, malaria, leprosy, and other diseases in 90 countries. This fund maintains health centers and hospitals as well as providing milk and food for undernourished children. Five cent buys the penicillin to cure one child of yaws; one cent provides the vaccine to protect one child from tuberculosis; one cent provides 5 glasses of milk. Many local organization comprising religious, educational and Civic groups are participating in Minnesota communities again this year, says the state chairman, Mrs. Norman A. Hemry, 4449-18th Avenue South, Minneapolis.

MINOR TRAFFIC MISHAPS HERE OVER THE WEEK-END

The city police and sheriff's office reported very little in the way of traffic mishaps over the past weekend. Only two minor accidents were reported by the sheriff, neither of which caused damage totaling more than $100. One traffic ticket was issued a Highlanding minor for driving without a license.

Air Reserve Unit Here to Disband

Membership Declines Due to Lack of Interest

The final meeting of Flight E, 9748th Air Reserve squadron in Thief River Falls will be held Nov. 11, according to word from the Minneapolis Air Reserve center, received last week.

Membership in the local unit has dropped off so sharply since its establishment in February, 1957, that it is no longer feasible to continue the meetings here, according to the unit commander, V. M. Draper.

Lack of interest in the Air Reserve was given as the reason for the decline of Flight E. From a high of 17 members, the unit has declined to its present membership of seven officers and one airman. Minimum strength of any reserve unit is 10 members, with 65 per cent attendance necessary to continue meetings.

The members of Flight E who intend to remain active will be re-assigned to Grand Forks' Flight A, while the others will be transferred to the Non-Affiliated Reserve Section, Denver, and get credit points by doing correspondence work.

There are approximately [illegible] eligible reservists in the area served by Thief River Falls.

Shootin' the Breeze

BY Mack Draper

Ah, and what a fine Monday morning this is . . . the sun's shining, the temperature is bracing but not too cold, hunting prospects look fine and Johnny got us up only once last night.

Who gives a hang about being a millionaire on a swell day like today?

How come . . . the most tedious jobs and the least satisfying, when we see people acting them out in films, become glamorous? The film-makers can take a bird who is dull, stodgy and unenthusiastic, do a little rewriting and paste . . . he comes out bright, interesting and real eager, doing any kind of job from hauling garbage to flying airliners.

You've probably noticed, too, that each individual doing a certain job is type-cast. For instance, a mechanic or filling station attendant is usually a mouthy character with a Brooklyn or other accent. The same is true of hash-house waitresses, gangsters and others.

The most unrecognizable thing about Hollywood characters tho, is their profession. A model, for instance . . . in real life a very few of them achieve recognition. The others remain mostly unknown, modelling corsets for forty-ish women, work clothing and posing for toothpaste ads. Their life isn't overly remunerative nor is it by any means the constant round of night clubs, Bermuda vacations and romancing depicted in the flickers.

Now you take my own job . . . reporting, that is. The guy the movie-makers show on the screen would never make out here at the Times. There isn't a murder mystery to solve every time we make our beat around the various law-enforcement agencies here in town.

The only time we stop the presses is when we find a bad typographical error—seldom, if ever, to throw in a late-breaking story.

Nope . . . the average reporter isn't the cigar-chewing wise-guy you see at the cinema. More often he's a guy who's wondering how he's going to meet all his bills this month and still have enough to have the kids' tonsils out. He can't spare the mental effort to go around figuring out who shot who, where and how come. Besides, we hire policemen to do that and of all things these boys don't like, too-nosey reporters are high on the list.

For relaxation our reporter probably bowls a game or two, perhaps goes hunting or fishing a time or two each year. In the evening he'll probably stay home and watch TV or take in a movie.

Soap operas over radio are the same thing, perhaps a little worse. The women sometimes gripe about what a dull life they lead—yet they'll listen to a tear jerker over the radio and enjoy a situation acted out that, if it should happen to them, wouldn't be enjoyable at all.

In fact, a lot of the things that go on in soap-operas do happen to women in real life. And, women enjoy listening to all these woes on radio.

But, when it happens to them things don't seem so glamorous, or exciting.

This, of course, has its little moral; the grass will always be greener on the other side of the fence.

And, even millionaires worry about the stock market. SO LONG!

DOUBLE CONCLAVE

By Don Damis

A MEETING was held at the Carlin Hotel to select a new mayoralty candidate for the town of Hobbsville.

"If I had the time, gentlemen, I would unhesitatingly run again," he muttered. "You know as well as I do that my textile business hasn't been what it used to be. This decline in business has been due to negligence on my part. I just can't neglect my business any more. I must relinquish all of my political aspirations. I am deeply sorry to have to do this to the Independent party that put me into office. I'm sure we can select a candidate that is even far stronger than I."

"It's easy for you to talk, Johnny. But who do you think will qualify to be Mayor?"

Virgil looked at the other men.

John Colan raised both hands.

"Virgil, please sit down," he barked.

Virgil obliged by sitting down.

"Gentlemen," continued John Colan, "Let's not be childish about this. We need a worthy candidate and we'll get one.

"Well, then, gentlemen, possibly there is someone outside of this room who we could put up as an Independent candidate.

"I know somebody, gentlemen," he said in a smooth, well-modulated voice. "The man is Robert Leddy, a prosperous business man of our town. He's young, educated and make's a fetish of his honesty. He's my closest friend and as far as his loyalty is concerned, well it is unparalleled."

Dan, aware of their tittering, cast a reproachful look at them and continued. "I tell you, gentlemen, I don't believe there is anyone in Hobbsville who dislikes Robert Leddy. On personality alone, he should be elected."

It was agreed upon that Robert Leddy was to be the new candidate in the next Mayoralty election. Dan had assured them that Robert would unquestionably accept the nomination.

After the meeting, Dan went directly home. He called for his pretty russet-haired wife, Mabel, but there was no answer. He entered the bedroom and discerned a letter laying on the bureau. Eagerly he picked it up, unfolded it and began to read.

Dear Dan:

The decision I have made today was not done impetuously. I have given the situation careful consideration. Today I am going away with Robert Leddy. Bob has already told Hilda that he wants a divorce, which is proof enough that he loves me. Since there are no children in either of our marriages to complicate things, I see no reason why things cannot be simplified.

Ten years ago when I married you, I was profoundly in love with you. Ever since our first days together you have neglected me. You found time for business, politics, etc. but you never saved a little time for me—your wife.

I am truly sorry that things have to turn out this way, but life itself is full of complexities and without Bob I would languish or be in a perpetual state of irritation. Either way I would be no good to you.

Goodbye Dan!
Sorry,
Mabel

C GUSTAV HARD
ORRIN C. TURNQUIST

Compost Leaves and Refuse

Every year much good fertilizer is destroyed by burning leaves. Instead of burning the leaves, put them in a pile in the back of the garage or some other secluded space and leave them to rot down. Well decomposed leaves make excellent soil conditioner and add valuable fertilizer to the soil.

* * *

If space does not permit a compost pile above the ground, dig a hole in the annual flower border or vegetable garden for the leaves. Cover with dirt and next year plant flowers and vegetables in the place where the leaves are rotting. A year from next spring you can dig up the decomposed leaves and use them for fertilizer.

* * *

With barnyard manure becoming more difficult to obtain every year, more city gardeners are taking full advantage of the compost pile as the means of disposing of garden refuse, like grass clippings, faded flowers, certain weeds without seeds and kitchen refuse. These materials rot down quickly and by fall will be ready, along with tree leaves from the previous season, to enrich the flower borders and vegetable plots.

* * *

To hasten decomposition of compost, almost any garden fertilizer can be added. As the pile is built up, broadcast fertilizer over each six-inch layer of refuse. Use about a pound for each 25 square feet of pile surface. The nitrogen in the fertilizer will supply food for the bacteria that bring about decomposition. When leaves die, the nitrogen is returned to the compost. Phosphorus and potassium in the fertilizer will enrich the compost pile and make it more valuable as fertilizer.

Crookston Takes Prowlers 20-14 in Gruelling Game

When Crookston's fine fullback, Ken Wold, scored his third touchdown of the game late in the fourth period (with five minutes of playing remaining) and then added his second conversion point of the game, the Pirates had tallied the points that gave coach Duane Sundby's aggressive club a 20 to 14 triumph over the Prowlers in a gruelling Northwest Conference football championship game played here Friday night.

The season's largest crowd was in attendance for the first-bitten struggle, and they saw the Prowlers twice overcome Pirates leads, only to lose in the final quarter.

After a scoreless first period, during which the Prowlers, on a fine defensive stand, halted the Pirates on the Thief River Falls' 10-yard line, Crookston, early in the second period, marked up the game's first touchdown. On a drive that started on the Pirates' 42-yard line, Bennes' spinning run of a twisting 28-yard run by Wold, Crookston, with Wold slanting over from the 3-yard line, gaining a 6 to 0 lead. Wold circled left end for the conversion point, giving the Pirates a 7 to 0 advantage.

With the ensuing kickoff going out-of-bounds, the Prowlers took possession on their own 40-yard line. The locals, with Dave Rasmussen, Jim Bennes, and Lynn Nicholson chopping off yardage on running plays, advanced to Crookston 5-yard line. Bennes' spinning run off 11 yards, which carried to the five, was vital in the Prowler drive. Bennes gained three yards at left tackle, and then Rasmussen dove through right tackle for the touchdown. Bennes added the point, and the game was tied a 7-all knot.

On the final play of the first half, with five seconds remaining and the ball on the Prowler 20-yard line, fourth down and nine to go, southpaw Bill Taylor flipped a wobbly pass to Ken Wold, with the Pirate making the catch on the 3-yard line and stepping across the south goal-line for a touchdown. Wold's try for the point was stopped short of the chalk-line, but the Pirates had a 13 to 7 half-time lead.

The Prowlers held that lead until the final stanza when, after end Jerry Dohm had recovered a Prowler fumble on the Pirates' 36-yard line, the visitors march for what proved to be the game-winning touchdown.

The Wind-up

The way to close-out a football season is by playing a football game; and that's what the Crookston Pirates and the Thief River Falls Prowlers did on Friday night. The game resulted in a 20 to 14 win for the Pirates, and, according to the reports, it marked the first time in forty or so years that Crookston had completed an undefeated season.

But it was the manner in which the two teams rocked and socked that made the game memorable, and a thriller for the large crowd. It was by long odds the best game of the season. Several costly fumbles did occur, and the passing attack of the two teams weren't too effective, but this was due to the below-freezing weather that prevailed, and the fumbles, perhaps, due to the tension of the game.

In fact, the Prowlers quarterback, Phil Hanson, played himself to such a point of exhaustion that he had to be removed from the game because of faulty memory. He had difficulty calling signals, and then, in remembering the play after he had called the signal: That's the kind of game it was.

While the Prowlers were a disappointed crew (especially the seniors who were concluding their high school football careers), the local squad did real well in holding the classy Pirates to a 20 to 14 score, and in having a 14 to 13 lead less than five minutes of play remaining.

As for the season, the Prowlers posted a creditable record of six wins and but two losses. And, of course, they beat the Bemidji Lumberjacks. That feat makes any season a success.

Oh yes, we mentioned that Phil Hanson had to leave the game in the final minutes, and we must mention, too, that the Prowlers hard-running right halfback, Lynn Nicholson, aggravating a chronic back injury, was forced out of the game in the fourth period. When Lynn left the game he probably carried off the field with him the Prowlers chance of a victory. The locals held a 14 to 13 lead, and it was Lynn's replacement, Harlie Drees, who made the excusable fumble that gave the Pirates possession of the ball on the Crookston 36-yard line. The break gave the Pirates their opportunity to scoring the winning touchdown.

A Controversial Play

While we are reluctant to say this, perhaps it was just as well that Crookston won Friday night's hectic game for if the Prowlers had won, that victory would have been the result of a "controversial" play. It was a "city slicker" play that indirectly resulted in a Prowler touchdown and, with the conversion point, a 14 to 13 lead.

The rule states that a batted ball is a free ball providing it was in the air when batted, and providing the player batting the ball was moving away from the line of scrimmage. Friday night's officials had been "briefed" on the play, and advised that the Prowlers would use such a play if the occasion arose.

Came the third period, the Prowlers had the ball on the Crookston 36-yard line, fourth down and three yards to go. Phil Hanson moved back into a routine kick formation, but instead of kicking the ball he batted it across the line of scrimmage with his fist. Larry Gausen caught the free ball and ran to the Crookston 15-yard line before being downed. It was first down, and the Prowlers went on for a touchdown.

It was all perfectly legal according to the officials. That the play caused confusion among the Crookston players, coaches, and fans was plainly evident.

A Measured Mile

Mr. and Mrs. Ames (P. I.) Pederson returned Wednesday from a successful (filled their limit) antelope hunting expedition near Baker, Montana.

Ames, or P.I. as he was called in his grade-school days, is the city's most near-sighted, far shootingest, and loud talkingest hunter. He came back with the story, and he had supporting evidence prepared by a "reliable surveyor," that one antelope was a "measured mile" away when the animal was shot. And it's a fact.

Private investigation reveals that it was one mile, by actual measurement. It figures out like this: From the top of one hill to the bottom, was one-half mile from the bottom of another hill to its top is another half-mile. That's a mile. Ames was on top of one hill, the antelope on top of the other hill; but the distance between the two hill-tops was only about a block and a half, practically point-blank range for the .270 cal. rifle he was shooting. That shot will go into Ames' record-book as being a mile long. End of investigation.

Former Prowlers on Bemidji College Football Team

Harold Placek, sophomore guard, and Dick Miller, sophomore center, both former Prowler football players, were important factors in the play of the Bemidji State college football team this past season. Placek, left, was co-captain of the 1955 Prowlers, while Miller, right, was a standout tackle on that Prowler squad. Placek lettered as a freshman at Bemidji last season, and started two games this year, but a knee injury has kept him idle recently. Miller also lettered as a freshman.

This is the big, 550-lb. bruin that fell to the guns of Marland Johnson, Thief River Falls, and Roy Anderson and Lars Wiseth, of Goodridge, Sunday, Oct. 20. With the bear is Johnson, who hauled it to the city.

The big animal was shot about two miles east and one mile north of Ditch 20, or approximately eight miles northeast of Goodridge, Johnson said. The weapon used was a .250 Savage rifle, five rounds from which put B'rer Bear down for the long count.

Farmers Cite Need of Grass and Alfalfa in Putting Soil in Shape

Don Lawrence, technician with the Pennington county soil conservation district, this week reported comments made by a group of cooperating farmers on the advisability of using grass and alfalfa as a suppliment to surface drainage in handling surplus water. Following are some of the comments:

Roger Eckstein — Black River Twp.: In 1955, alfalfa knee high was plowed down for green manure and the field kept follow the rest of the season.

Roger said that he considered the field one of the wettest on the farm. However in 1956 it was the first that could be worked in the spring. Seeded to small grain that came up to a good stand. He said he expected the heavy summer rains to drown out much of the crop, but found that the soil absorbed the water and he was able to harvest and fall till the field.

Roger stated that he believed that the deep roots of the alfalfa opened up the heavy soil so that water could penetrate.

Maynard Mehrkens, Rocksbury Twp. He regularly plows up alfalfa-grass mixture for green manure.

He said he has found that alfalfa and grass has opened up the soil so that rain can soak into the ground. Mr. Mehrkens has established a good surface drainage system on the farm. He said that the drainage system was the first important step to take but that he found it necessary to find a crop rotation that included alfalfa and grass two or three years out of five to get the best results in crop yields.

Mehrkens said that this year he could pretty well tell how the soil had been treated when he went over it with the combine.

He observed that fields where alfalfa and grass had been plowed down in 1955 or 1956 could be completely harvested without having grain in the low soft spots. He also observed that fields that had been black summer-followed in 1955 or 1956 were the most difficult to harvest.

Burtness said that the use of alfalfa and grass helped to keep his sold in shape so that the rain could be absorbed more rapidly. He said that previous to raising a rotation system he had always been bothered with low wet spots in the fields.

Burtness said that he has observed that after heavy rains his fields appear to be dry while many of his neighbors fields still had standing water.

Harry said that the drainage system alone was not enough to get best returns from the land. With the help of the S.C.S. technician, he and Ray had worked out a field arrangement and cropping system that provided for alfalfa and Brome grass in the rotation.

Oen said that he has noticed that they can take three good crops of grain after plowing down a good crop of alfalfa and grass and that even the use of commercial furtilizer does not seem to help much if they try to take a fourth crop.

Longren pointed to two fields on his farm, both planted to wheat in 1957. In 1956 one field had been black summer followed, and one had the second cutting of alfalfa and grass plowed down as a green manure crop.

In 1957 the wheat appeared to be about the same on fields but Mr. Longren hastened to point out the difference that counted this year.

The field where the alfalfa was plowed down was harvested and the ground fall tilled while the field of black fallow has been and still is so wet and soggy that the wheat is still laying in the swath.

Longren said that it is the opinion of the other members of the board of supervisors that one of the greatest benefits from having a rotation where alfalfa and grass is used is that the field is the first to become dry enough to work and seed in the spring.

Don Lawrence, pointed out that the alfalfa-grass mixture serves a three-fold purpose (1) That the deep roots of the alfalfa turned to make holes in the soil threewhich the water can pass. (2) The grass roots tend to improve the structure of the soil so that it can be more easily worked. (3) The plowing down of a good stand of alfalfa and grass helps to maintain the organic matter in the soil.

Lawrence also said that leaving the alfalfa and grass for more than two years does not necessarily aid in improving the internal drainage or the structure of the soil.

He also said that sweet clovers bring a deep rooted legum has about the same effect as alfalfa but that it does not usually last as long. Red Clover and alsike are shallow rooted and do not have the same beneficial efficient in the soil that alfalfa does.

Mr. Lawrence stressed the point that good surface drainage is essential to good soil management but that other practices must be applied to the land to get the maximum return per acre.

How an isolated section of northern Minnesota has turned a natural disadvantage into an unique commercial advantage was revealed this week by Byron Allen, Minnesota commissioner of agriculture.

Fifty-five small family farms in Lake of the Woods county and in three neighboring townships of Roseau and Koochiching counties are producing a half-million dollar seed potato crop that is sought after by growers throughout the United States and as far off as Cuba, Mr. Allen revealed.

The special quality of these northern Minnesota seed potatoes is that they are produced in the only quarantine area in the United States and perhaps in the world. The Lake of the Woods origin thus means to growers of foundation stock and seed potatoes throughout the country that they are disease-free.

The quarantine, enforced by the Department of Agriculture in cooperation with the growers of the area, means that no potato can enter the area, for any purpose, that has not been inspected and certified disease-free by the Department of Agriculture. Mr. Allen explained that the geography of the area and the sparse surrounding population makes the quarantine practical there, while it has become impractical in less isolated regions.

About 1500 acres are devoted to the crop, growing 15 varieties including Cobblers, Burbank russets, Sebagoes, Red Warbas, Red Pontiacs, and Kennebecs. The growers of the area are engaged in a program to advertise their unique product by such devices as an annual potato day (October 12 this year). Cooperating with them, the marketing service of the department of agriculture is assisting in making the Minnesota seed potatoes better known throughout the country.

Soo Line Reports Lower Earnings 1st Nine Months

Soo Line Railroad earnings, both gross and net, for September, reported by G. A. MacNamara, president, were less than for the same month a year ago.

While gross earnings of $36,057,385 for the year including September, are $487,064 higher than for the same period in 1956, net income is lower by $379,511. This is due primarily to lighter grain movement in 1957 as well as higher operation cost due to increased cost of wages, material and supplies.

Earnings per share for the nine months ending September 30, were $2.17 as compared with $2.70 in the same period in 1956.

Editorials . . .

"In every man's life pilgrimage, however unblest, there are holy places where the heavens bend low over his head and angels come and minister unto him. These are the places of sacrifice, the meeting-ground of mortal and immortal, the tents of trial wherein are waged the great spiritual combats of man's life. Here are the tears and agonies and the bloody sweat of Gethsemane. Happy the man who, looking back, can say of himself, "Here, too, was the victory."

City Election

On Tuesday of next week there will be another city election. The fact that there is little opposition for the offices to be filled could mean a light vote. A light vote might not be a representative vote. It is especially important therefore that an organized effort be made to interest citizens in the importance of their expressing their preferences.

All of the present city officials have filed for reelection. Mayor O. D. Beich and five of the six aldermen are seeking reelection for their second terms. In other words, in terms of length of service, we now have a young city administration.

We are well satisfied with the record of this administration and believe that all of the incumbents should be returned to office. That is no reflection on the integrity or the capacity of those who have offered to replace them. But the present officials have worked together in harmony and we can see no good reason for disrupting a satisfactory combination.

The city of Thief River Falls is a big business operation, and as citizens, we all are stockholders in that business. As stockholders we have a special interest in good management. Under the present administration the city of Thief River Falls has been well managed.

An Example Close To Home

Over in North Dakota this week a congressional subcommittee will hold hearings on the proposed irrigation and reclamation project that would divert water from the Missouri river to make more productive a million acres of farm land. Here, close to home, we have an example of that government inconsistency of which there has been so much criticism. One agency of the government spends money to take land out of production. Another spends money to put more land into production.

We can understand the position of the good people of our neighboring state. They are acting in what obviously is their own best interests; and no one can hate them for that.

And it is equally apparent that what is good for North Dakota at this time would be contrary to the best interests of the nation as a whole.

There will come a time when that North Dakota land will be needed for increased food production. The project could be set up as one that should be ready for construction when needed. But it will not be disposed of in that way.

Political considerations, and not economic need, will be the determining factor in disposing of the problem. For which the people of North Dakota should not be censured. They are acting as all of us probably would act under similar circumstances.

Dairy Industry Leader

William D. Knox, editor of Hoard's Dairyman, measured up fully to the high expectations of those who had looked forward to his coming as the principle speaker at the Red River Valley Dairyman's convention last week. Still a young man, he should go far as a future leader of the dairy industry.

The industry is suffering mainly from its own shortcomings, and its greatest handicap is its lack of unity. It is divided into too many small but independent kingdoms. At the head of each of these little kingdoms is a little monarch who is happy with things as they are. He, and the members of his high court, are not interested in changes that might effect adversely their own personal security.

Possibly conditions will have to get worse before they can get better. It will take wise and persuasive leadership to unite the industry voluntarily in a sensible program of marketing controls. Mr. Knox is making some progress however in convincing dairymen that fair prices can be secured in the domestic market by controls applied and paid for through a self-help program.

As a neutral, not interested in the special interests of any of the many segments of the industry, but concerned only with the ultimate welfare of the industry as a whole, Mr. Knox is in a position to speak out for the unity that is needed. He is respected as a man of integrity, well informed in the fields of both production and marketing.

W. D. Knox might be the Moses who could lead the industry into the long-hoped-for promised land of fair returns.

Failing Leadership

This week's bundle of trash mail included the usual publicity release from the National Association of Manufacturers. The letter quoted an Association official who had recently spoken to three groups of businessmen in our state, beating the drums for federal tax reduction. In his talks he had made the "profound" observation that "most politicians firmly believe that a tax cut is popular with the voters."

This speaker justified his hope for a lowering of federal taxes on the increased revenues that would come with an expanding economy. The fact that our "expanding economy" in recent years had not brought about that happy result did not disturb him. He apparently did not distinguish between an expanding economy and an inflated economy.

Instead of building up false hope in the possibility of tax reduction, such speakers would serve a better purpose if they expressed concern about the fact that, in a period of unprecedented peace-time prosperity, no progress has been made in reducing the national debt. They should be viewing with alarm the trick financing that is being resorted to in an effort to keep the national debt within the prescribed limits.

The leadership of Big Business, as expressed through the various organizations that speak for it, has not been impressive. We don't expect much from the leadership of Big Labor because Big Labor is a mass movement. Like politics at its worst, its appeal is to emotion rather than to reason.

From those who speak for business and industry we have a right to expect a leadership that recognizes sound principles. When, however, they resort to short-sighted policies for the advancement of selfish interests, that are contrary to the best interests of the nation as a whole, then there is little hope for reasonable solutions to our problems by orderly processes.

REPORT from the GOVERNOR

by Orville L. Freeman

During the first part of November Mrs. Freeman and I, along with at least twenty other Minnesotans, will participate in a Minnesota good will and trade tour of the Orient. We hope to accomplish several things as a result of this tour.

Trade and Business Relations

The important centers that we plan to visit in the Far East have a history that goes back much farther than does ours in Minnesota. We know too little about their past. But their future role in world economic development is also of immense importance. For they represent one of the greatest markets in the world for goods that accompany modern advances in standards of living.

Moreover, Minnesota produces—often in surplus quantities—products that are needed in these areas. We have learned, for example, that in Japan the people like Minnesota soy bean. Japan is a very crowded country that cannot possibly produce enough food for its population. The Japanese say that they particularly like the high quality of Minnesota soy beans, and that our beans are especially adaptable to the kind of processing they like.

Many other foodstuffs are being sent to countries of the Far East under the federal program for surplus foods. Diets often deficient in protein, for example, are supplemented by dried milk products, often from our area.

On this tour we will meet and talk with people in the Philippines, Japan, Taiwan, Korea, and Hong Kong that are likewise interested in trade with us. By personal contact we will be able to understand each other and each other's needs better. One Minnesota industry, that now has a thriving business in the Orient, told me that if they had this kind of personal contact when they first started out, progress would have been helped considerably.

Friendship and Good Will

We are not, however, thinking only of economic gain. We in Minnesota are much more conscious of the importance of international friendship and good will than our position in the center of the continent might indicate. We know that our future well-being and security depends on understanding among peoples.

And therefore we want to know more about their countries, and we want them to know more about ours. And, of course, we expect to tell them especially about Minnesota, as representative, of the best in the United States!

Assistance Received

Hoping to learn a little ahead of time, I invited the U.S. Department of State to send a representative to brief us on some of the most important things we ought to know; and their representative has been most encouraging and most helpful. He has helped us to see how valuable such a tour as this can be, and he has given us very useful information on the areas we intend to visit.

Opportunity and Responsibility

A very heavy schedule of meetings has been planned for every stop. We know we shall be extremely busy, but we appreciate the opportunity. We also recognize that we bear a heavy responsibility an unofficial ambassadors of good will, to try to present a true picture of our country and our state to people who are often exposed to unfriendly propaganda about us. We hope to learn a great deal, and to make many friends.

Why all the red tape?

You can understand why we don't sell narcotics without a physician's prescription. But maybe you've wondered why we're so fussy about other things . . . like penicillin, sleeping pills, the new tranquilizers. These potent medications are called "legend drugs" and you have to have a prescription to get them. Reason: Uncontrolled use may do more harm than good. Only your physician knows whether you should use them or not—and, if so, just how much. So we require a prescription. It's a matter of professional ethics and the law. Always it's common sense.

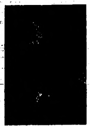
POPPLER'S 18th ANNIVERSARY SALE!

18 YEARS AGO in Thief River Falls



Hi! As this is our 18th birthday, I thought you folks might be interested in recalling just what was going on in Thief River Falls 18 years ago when Si Poppler opened the doors to this store. We've dug around and come up with a few items which might be of interest to you. All these things happened in 1939 . . . I came to the store as manager in April of 1940. In January of 1942 Popplers moved to the heart of Thief River Falls in their present location . . . which was formerly occupied by a Red Owl Store. But back go the years to 18 years ago in your town . . .

A federal loan of $243,000 was made available to the local rural electrification project. Hans Anton and Henry Kaushagen were reelected to the board of the Thief River Creamery. The Junior Chamber presented the Winnipeg Winter Club performers in their third annual ice revue.
In March of 1939 . . . Hallock defeated Thief River Falls for the championship of the States-Dominion hockey league.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Additional information or assistance on veterans' benefits may be obtained by writing or visiting the VA Contact Representatives at the Minot VA Hospital, or the Bismarck or Grand Forks VA offices.

Q—My GI term insurance policy is nearing the end of its term. Will I have to take a physical examination to renew it for another five-year term?

A—No physical examination is required. In fact, as long as your premiums are current at the end of the term period, you needn't take any steps to renew your policy. VA will renew it for you automatically.

Q—I have a GI loan. Does the lender have a right to charge me a penalty for late payments?

A—For any loan installment paid more than 15 days after its due-date, he may add a late charge that does not exceed four percent of the amount of the installment.

Q—If I take a part-time course under the Korean GI Bill, will I be using up my entitlement on the same basis as if I were going to school full-time?

A—No. If you take part-time GI training, you will use up your entitlement only on a part-time basis.

Q—I am a young man of 22, eligible for War Orphans schooling. Does my mother have to file an application in my behalf, or may I file one myself?

A—Since you are over 21, you may file your own application. For young people under 21, however, their living parent or guardian must file the application.

This strange device is called a Cyclone. It whirls a mixture of ore-bearing material at high-speed to separate good iron ore out of sand. It is one example of how research developments are helping us improve our lower grade Minnesota iron ores.

Such improvements are necessary today because steel mills now demand better iron ores: special ores for special steels; more uniformity; higher iron content; better structure of ore materials. Ores in steadily increasing amounts from sources outside Minnesota meet these steel mill requirements easily.

If Minnesota is to maintain its place as a major iron ore producer, many millions of dollars must still be invested for more research and more new plants to improve and upgrade our iron ores. You and your family and all the people of Minnesota have a very real stake in iron ore.

RESEARCH AND INVESTMENT CAN KEEP MINNESOTA'S IRON ORE FUTURE BRIGHT!

Dow Key Firm of Warren to Move to TRF

Electronic Device Makers Will Occupy Helgeseet Building

The Dow Key Co. of Warren, manufacturers of coaxial and electronic relays, after seven years of steady growth in that city, is moving to Thief River Falls, where it will occupy greatly enlarged quarters in the Helgeseet building on Highway 59, just east of the city, it was announced in Warren this week by Gordon Dow, president.

Acceptance of the Dow relay together with the impending increase of business from new products in the electronic fields, forced the company to seek larger quarters. The late Paul P. Dow and his son Gordon set up their operation in Warren in November 1950 and started to make the [illegible] Key in [illegible]. [illegible] Mr. Dow began experimenting with the silent operating alternating current relay which laid the basis for the company's healthy growth.

State Decides to Let 3 Mavie Dists. Join 18

Dept. of Education Approves Merger with TRF District

Dean M. Schweickhard, state commissioner of education, Wednesday notified local officials that the state department of education had approved a plat for the proposed consolidation with Thief River Falls independent school district 18 of common school districts 15 and 46 in Pennington county and District [illegible] in Marshall, all located in the Mavie area.

The decision, Schweickhard stated, was based on all available evidence, from which it is apparent that the proposed consolidation would provide a desirable educational program for pupils of the enlarged district.

Under the legal procedure governing such cases, [illegible] District 18 will be given [illegible] days to accept or reject the plat, while residents of the three common school districts are allowed 60 days to accept or reject it. It will be necessary for the three districts to petition County Supt. Martha Matheson to call a special election on approving or rejecting the plat.

The decision of the state department represents a victory for the Mavie districts in their controversy with the Goodridge consolidated school district No. 8. Goodridge people have sought to have the Mavie districts incorporated into their district, which they asserted badly needs the revenue from the three districts. They also contended that the disputed area is logically a part of the Goodridge district. Mavie area people, however, expressed a preference for joining the Thief River Falls district.

Supt. Irwin Mickelson Discusses Budget Figures at Luncheon Meeting

School district finances were the subject of discussion at the Rotary Club at its regular noon luncheon meeting Monday, the school budget for the year ending June 30, 1959, being discussed by Supt. Irwin Mickelson. His figures indicated that the community's school system will be a million dollar operation next year.

Expenditures totalling $989,513 are contemplated, an increase of $286,000 over the figure for the current school year. Of this total $787,585 will be needed for maintenance costs, including administration, teacher's salaries, plant operation and instructional supplies. Debt service will take $97,512. For the school lunch and health programs and veterans training $52,286.79 will be needed, and transportation costs are estimated at $51,700.

Revenue receipts are estimated at $1,022,176, up substantially from this year's total of $778,062 for the current year. Of this total local taxes are looked to for $367,100, considerably more than the $283,853, expected this year. This would mean an increase of about 25 mills in the local tax levy.

Following Mr. Mickelson's summary of the budget there was a question and answer period in which many of the school system operation and their costs were discussed.

Potato Diversion Program to Start In Valley Shortly

Surplus Stock Will Be Used to Feed Livestock, County Agent Reports

A potato diversion program is getting underway in the Red River Valley counties, according to County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk. This program will result in some potatoes being used for potato flour and for livestock feed. The names of farmers who have potatoes for livestock feed will be available shortly through the extension office.

Livestock feeders may well be interested in this type of feed for fattening of livestock or as part of a ration for dairy cows and young livestock. The price and amounts of potatoes to be diverted will not be known for some time but farmers wishing to secure this type of feed are encouraged to leave their names at the extension office, states Stelmaschuk.

Potatoes can be profitably fed to beef being fattened for market and also to sheep, hogs and dairy stock. The Northwest Experiment Station has developed data showing the amounts and profitability of feeding potatoes to steers. These rations may be obtained from the extension office or by writing to the Northwest Experiment Station at Crookston.

Old Steiner School Ends 73-year Career

The Steiner school house was moved last week to the L. A. Meyer farm, where it will serve as a granary. Since 1884 this sturdy structure has served its purpose well. During those 73 years a lot of Readin', 'Ritin' and 'Rithmetic has been taught there. The original building was smaller until an addition was built to it by M. O. Saugen, father of Otto, Melvin and Celia Saugen, and by Herman Simonson, father to Mrs. Robert Rupprecht. Some of the nails used in the structure are of the square variety that were in use during that period.

The first teacher was Mrs. Cicely Frances Lacey, an aunt of Mrs. L. A. Meyer and a sister to the late John Whitman. For the first month of teaching she received a check in the amount of $10.00. Mrs. Ruth Whitman Keene of Centralia, Washington, who is also an aunt of Mrs. Meyer, and Mrs. Ida Johnson, of Red Wing, Minnesota, who was formerly Ida Decker, are two of the few remaining pupils who attended this first term of school. Mrs. Johnson is the aunt of Harold Berg.

In the early years there were only six months of school each year, with three months in the fall and three in the spring and a vacation of two months during the coldest part of winter. Like most country school buildings it has also served as a community gathering place. Sunday School services were held there for a number of years, as well as township elections and school socials.

The first location of the school house was in a grove north and west of the present buildings on the James R. Mussy farm. From there it was moved to a site approximately at the corner of County Road D and Highway 59. When Highway 59 was being constructed the school house was moved about one half mile west. Mr. Meyer reports that the structure is in excellent condition. Some of the foundation material is oak and shows very little weathering.

Lincoln High PTA Has Interesting Session

The Lincoln PTA had an interesting meeting as it met Tuesday evening for the first time this year. About 100 parents and teachers were present. The meeting was called to order by President Mrs. Robert Bredeson who led the group in saying the flag pledge.

Mrs. Ken Gustafson discussed the immunization program in Thief River Falls. She pointed out that under the present program that parents were responsible for having their children immunized. She gave figures to show that there has been small participation in the past two years and indicated this small number of immunizations might do little to prevent an epidemic if one were to take place.

Mrs. Gustafson outlined the program of immunization for this year as follows: Students in grades 3-6-9-12 will be immunized in the program. Doctors will visit the schools to immunize students in the third grades. Students in other grades will call at the clinics during the month of November. The cost of the immunization will be $.50.

Pastor Robert Abbott reported on the topic of "Parent and family life education" that was discussed in a workshop in connection with the PTA fall conference that was held in Thief River Falls earlier this fall. Pastor Abbott disclosed plans of the state PTA to hold a series of workshops and discussions in the state to point up this timely and vital topic.

Steve Austin discussed auto driving and traffic safety. He made the point that the automobile has become a part of our economy as well as an important element in our society. Auto driving, he pointed out is a team work proposition that requires a sense of responsibility, courtesy, and judgement in all who participate. He stressed the great importance of driver training programs in the high schools of Minnesota and the interest of the state department of education in the program. Mr. Austin stressed the point that driving a car is not a right; it is a privilege granted by the state, after certain standards are met.

Mr. Austin showed a film preview of driving in Thief River Falls, a series of motion pictures made by him in cooperation with the safety commission.

Mayor Beich described the work of the Thief River Falls Safety Commission which he described as a voluntary group of public spirited citizens who are willing to devote time and effort to the cause of safety in our city. He described the responsibilities of parents for safety. They could plan the best path to school, prevent jay-walking, recognize the problem at noon, and keep student driving at a minimum by encouraging children to belong to organizations that will keep them happy and engaged in activities other than just car driving for amusement in spare time. Parents should feel responsibility for supervising such activities as teen-age dances.

A high school quartet consisting of Wesley Christianson, Lolell Dyrud, Frank Conklin and Ronald Moe, sang two numbers for the group.

Local Youth, Age 15, Is Located at St. Joseph, Mo.

He was apprehended by Missouri state police at St. Joseph, Mo. Tuesday after an alarm had been broadcast by local authorities. His mother has gone to St. Joseph to pick him up, Richards said.

Strandquist to Get Dial Phones

Strandquist is one of three Kittson county towns to benefit from modernization of Wikstrom Telephone Co.'s system, which also operates exchanges in Karlstad and Donaldson.

Shown here is the floor slab of the new exchange building, which was started recently in Strandquist. It is smaller than the frame building, background, which houses the present, old-fashioned switchboard, and when the modernization program is completed, the Wikstrom system will serve the town with modern dial telephone service.

The groom's best man was Richard Borowicz, cousin of the groom and the groom's men were Laurel Erickson, brother of the bride and Hilery Chwialkowski, friend of the couple. All the men wore navy blue suits with white carnation boutonnieres. The gifts from the groom to his attendants were blue and white ties.

Dial Phones Due for Three Area Villages

Installation of a new dial telephone system by the Wikstrom Telephone Co., Karlstad, in the three northwest Minnesota towns served by that firm is approximately at the half-way mark, according to George Wikstrom, president of the firm.

Installation of the system is going along satisfactorily in Strandquist, Donaldson and Karlstad, although an influenza epidemic in those towns has slowed work to some extent, the past week, according to the Karlstad operator.

Modernization of the Wikstrom firm's telephone facilities was made possible by a $291,000 REA loan and total cost of the project has been estimated at over $300,000.

In addition to the three towns affected by the modernization program, the Greenbush telephone system is owned by Wikstrom and negotiations are under way concerning purchase of the Halma exchange by the Karlstad concern. It is not expected that the deal will be completed before the first of the year.

Neither Greenbush nor Halma will be affected by the switch to dial telephoning but they will eventually be converted, according to Wikstrom.

Construction on new central office buildings in the three towns has been started and line work in rural areas served by the system is practically done, although laying of underground cable in Strandquist, Donaldson and Karlstad is expected to take some considerable time yet.

The Leach Sales Corp. of Chicago was awarded contract for sale and installation of the three new switchboards, which will be shipped in December and completion of installation is expected by mid-February, Wikstrom stated. The Leach contract amounted to $46,[illegible] on the switchboards.

Tri-State Construction Co. of Breckenridge has been doing most of the other work involved in the new phone installation. Their job, which has taken most of the past summer, is expected to be completed early in November.

Municipal Judge Fines Five Monday

Few Offenders Appear in Court Here This Week

It was a very quiet day in Municipal court Monday, with only five persons appearing before Judge H. O. Chommie, while one other man forfeited bond on a speeding charge.

Leon K. Glass, Crookston, was arrested by the highway patrol on the speeding charge and forfeited $17 bond for non-appearance.

Appearing in court as the result of a reckless driving charge by the highway patrol, following an accident (reported some time ago in the Times), was Ray D. Jablinski, rt. 2, city. He pleaded guilty and was fined $25 plus $4 costs.

Game Warden Carl Sundstrom brought Willard Erickson, city, in on a charge of transporting an uncased firearm in a vehicle. Erickson drew a $10 fine plus $4 costs on his guilty plea.

Only three violators were brought to court by city police, all on individual speeding charges. These were Lew E. Johnson and Millard J. Peterson, city, and Sidney W. Bruggeman, rt. 3, Thief River Falls, each of whom pleaded guilty and paid $10 fines plus the customary $4 costs.

N. Dak. Officials Help Adjust Duck Season Problem

Expected difficulty over the North Dakota "native duck" season did not develop, "thanks largely to the cooperative efforts of Governor John E. Davis and other responsible men in the State," Assistant Secretary of the Interior Ross Leffler said today.

Difficulties had been anticipated because of a North Dakota law which provided for the opening of the season on North Dakota-raised ducks at noon on September 27, three and a half days before October 1, the earliest opening date allowable under the federal migratory waterfowl hunting regulations.

The Fish and Wildlife Service reports only 15 "pre-season arrests, 10 on Saturday, September 28, and five on Sunday. Of the 10 arrests on Saturday nine of the hunters were not only violating federal law and regulations but were hunting without state licenses.

Saturday is the most dangerous day of the week for motorists, according to the National Safety Council. Safest day? Tuesday.

Cary Grant and Deborah Kerr made an attractive screen team as this scene from Leo McCarey's "An Affair to Remember," in which they are co-starred, clearly shows. The romantic CinemaScope comedy, produced by Jerry Wald and directed by Leo McCarey, is a Twentieth Century-Fox release and may be seen starting Sunday at the Falls Theatre for 4 days.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

A Long Way from Home

On Sunday, Oct. 6th, while hunting the Thief lake public hunting grounds, Clarence Mattson, bagged a redhead duck which carried a U. S. Fish & Wildlife band. Clarence informed the department of the banded duck, stating that the duck carried a leg band with the serial number 596-10007.

This week he received a communication from the Department of Interior stating that the redhead duck, a male, had been banded by a Mr. Joe Withers at Hooper's Island, Dorchester Co., Maryland, on February 21st, 1957.

The Department added that wild birds banded in North America have been recovered as far away as Siberia, Africa, France, and the mid-Pacific. The following are several records which illustrate why the Pintail is particulary famous as a traveler: Pintail banded in Labrador, Canada, recovered in southern England; a duck banded at Kenmare, N. Dak., recovered in Columbia, South America; a duck banded at Tulelake, California, recovered in Cook Island, New Zealand; a duck banded at Innoko river, Alaska, recovered in Delaware City, Maryland; and a duck banded in Maui Island, Hawaii, and recovered in Edmonton, Alberta, Canada.

Of interest, too, and which information is derived from these leg bands, is the ages of the various ducks. Leg bands have been recovered from a mallard and a pintail, which indicate that the two ducks had reached the ripe old age of 20 years.

The Department adds that the success of the duck banding program depends upon the people who recover the bands. The Department advises that hunters should remove the band, flatten and tape to the letter giving the details of how the band was obtained, from a duck or smaller land bird, and mail direct to the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Bird Banding Office, Laruel, Maryland.

Ninak's Doing All Right

Marvin (Ninak) Carlson, former Prowler and Valley City Teachers College athlete, has posted a fine record in this, his first season at Mahnomen.

Ninak, who transferred his coaching activities from Terry, Montana, to Mahnomen this season, led the Braves to the championship of the seven-team Heart O'Lakes conference. Mahnomen racked up a four wins, no losses, and one tie in conference competition.

Not much had been expected from the Braves this season as they were grieviously hurt by graduation, and the pressure was off Ninak. The season proved to be a pleasant surprise to Ninak, and the fans.

Not surprising for Ninak to exhibit talents as a coach, for any player who could quarterback the 1945 Prowler football squad (that's the team that won five games, lost none, and tied one, and had eleven quarterbacks) must have a coaching potential.

Attention, Golfers

The annual meeting of the local golf club, and at which time the election of officers will be held, will be called to order at 6:30 P. M. on Wednesday evening, Nov. 12th.

L. L. Tygeson, as president of the club for the past year, will wield the gavel and attempt to keep the "slicers" from interfering with the comments of the "hookers," and vice versa.

Miscellany

Playing at center for the Bemidji Lumberjacks, in their game against the Prowlers a week or so ago, was young Kent Wilson. Wilson is the son of Kenneth (Red) Wilson, the Lumberjacks head coach.— A sideline observer of the Prowler vs. Bemidji game was Ross Fortier, an able quarterback for the Lumberjacks a couple of seasons ago. Ross, who is the son of Clarence (Bun) Fortier the Bemidji basketball coach and assistant football coach, is attending North Dakota State college, and he's a quarterback on the Bison squad. —According to the statistics released by the league, fullback Bill Beck of the M. S. T. C. Dragons led the scoring in the Minnesota State Teachers College conference. Beck, a 215-pounder a native of Lancaster, Minn. will be recalled by local fans as being a pitcher and third baseman with the Argyle Maroons several seasons ago.

In addition to Gunvolsen's address, there will be a hunting movie and lunch will be served by Ole Ness. The session gets under way at 8 p. m. in the downstairs meeting room of the city Auditorium.

Robert Larson, club secretary, also announced this week that local hunters have permission to sight in their deer rifles at the city gravel pit before season opens Nov. 9.

Clifford Bjorkman, proprietor of Bjorkman's clothing store, last week was elected a member of the board of directors of N.W. Buyers and Jobbers, Inc., at the annual stockholders meeting at the Radisson Hotel in Minneapolis. Bjorkman has served the past two years as chairman of the promotion committee of the organization, which comprises 215 independent retail clothiers in seven Upper Midwest states. The local store has been affiliated with the group since 1948.

Conservation Essay Contest Opens Nov. 20

"Conservation and You" will be the theme and title of the 15th annual conservation essay contest sponsored by the Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs, with the department of conservation cooperating, it was announced today by Mrs. Ole Aune, Underwood, Minnesota conservation chairman of the federation. The contest, open to both public and private school students, in grades 9 through 12, will start November 20 and close at 12:00 noon, April 4, 1958.

The 20 winners in the competition (a boy and girl winner will be selected by a committee of judges in each of the ten districts comprising the Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs) will be awarded a week's vacation at Douglas Lodge, Itasca State Park, as members of the Annual Conservation Caravan, with all expenses paid.

Purpose of the contest, according to Mrs. Aune, is to help us to know better how fortunate we are to have an abundance of natural resources and to shoulder our fair share of responsibility for conserving them for the present and future. Mrs. Aune also pointed out that this year's topic is particularly well-chosen and timely as the centennial theme is emphasized in the reference material supplied to the schools.

Complete information concerning the contest and entry blanks will be sent to all Minnesota high schools early in November. All inquiries should be addressed to "Essay Contest," Room 633 State Office Bldg., St. Paul 1, Minnesota.

New Book Relates State's Story for Centennial Year

A colorful new book which gives a dynamic treatment of Minnesota's history in dedication to the state's 1958 Centennial now is available in nearly all bookstores.

"Minnesota Penorama" is a 50-page saga of the North Star State written by H. Nat Johnson, education advisor in the State Department of Conservation and liberally illustrated by Oz Black, well-known newspaper cartoonist.

The book is published by The Brings Press of Minneapolis and is available in paper and cloth bound editions.

"Minnesota Panorama" is aimed at portraying the great social, moral, economic and political forces that have molded the destiny of the North Star State.

Nuclear Fallout Is Theme of Bell TV Show Sunday

Much argument is going on about genetic effect on the future human race due to fallout from nuclear bomb testing. The question is whether this added effect can be considered negligible in view of the already existing effects from use of X-rays, the radio activity in the earth itself and the cosmic ray bombardment or "fallout" from outer space.

"The Strange Case of the Cosmic Rays," to be telecast in color over the NBC network Friday, October 25, at 7:00 p.m., makes no attempt to argue or settle this question, but it does tell the thrilling story of how and what science has learned about the mysterious cosmic factor in it.

The program can be seen on WDAY-TV Fargo, No. Dak. on Sunday, November 3 at 3 o'clock p.m.

Produced and directed by Frank Capa, this third program in the Bell Telephone Science Series will present, as a true life detective story, the scientific research of the past fifty years in the field of cosmic rays. Richard Carlson stars in it as "Fiction Writer," and Dr. Frank Baxter plays "Dr. Research."

GROWING WITH YOUR CHILD

Institute of Child Welfare
University of Minnesota

"Children Just Wear Me Out"

Said Mrs. [illegible]: "Mother Nature surely knew what she was doing when she ended the child-bearing years around the mid-forties. Children just wear me out! One of the nicest things about being a grandmother is that I can enjoy Jim and Holly and then when I'm worn to a frazzle my daughter takes over."

It has been said that the chief characteristic of the young is their enormous energy output. Spending energy lets children in for more trouble than any other single trait. To complicate matters, spending energy is normal and lies at the very foundation of creativity. Therefore, the challenge is to direct it rather than to restrain it. Space, equipment and the time to exercise help, but the crux of the matter lies in attitudes.

In the junior high school cafeteria boisterous Tim was waving his arms about and creating a disturbance. Miss Clarke, his English teacher, had cafeteria duty that day and she approached him in a friendly manner and whispered:

"A diner while dining at Crewe
Said the waiter, 'Don't shout,
And wave it about,
Or the rest will be wanting one, too.'"

Tim was delighted, and settled down at once. An unexpected outcome was his new interest in writing limericks and then in all poetry. Miss Clarke had turned problem behavior into something productive.

So many problems with children are like that. Their energy may provoke a weary "Children just wear me out." Or adults might begin by admitting that perhaps the worst thing about youthful energy is that the adults don't have it anymore. Then, the energy of the young might take on a more amusing quality and give added insight into their personalities.

Red River Valley Potato Week Set

First Observances Set for November 11 to 16

November 11th to the 16th has been designated as "Red River Valley Potato Week" by the Red River Valley potato control board. The week was designated to focus attention on the Red Rivers and to promote the use of Valley potatoes during this marketing season.

A date at the beginning of the marketing season was selected because it was felt that once the trade started to handle and the consumers to use Red River Valley potatoes they would likely continue with them through the season. The Potato Week is for the purpose of not only getting back the old users of Red River Valley's but to also get many new customers for Red River Valley potatoes.

Red River Valley potato shippers will be cooperating by putting a little extra effort in their packing operations to be sure that potatoes will be put on the market to appeal and demand repeat sales.

This will be the first Red River Potato Week. It will become an annual promotion event to start off each shipping season.

Highway Patrol Appoints 48 to Hit Full Strength

L. P. Zimmerman, commissioner of highways, today announced the appointment of 48 officers to the Minnesota highway patrol, bringing the patrol to its full strength of 330 officers and men.

Paul R. Martz, chief of the patrol said, "The 48 new officers will be assigned to patrol districts November 1, following graduation of the full class of 50 men from the candidate training school which concludes October 31."

Those officers receiving immediate appointment will be the top men in this class, the twelfth such since the formation of the patrol in 1930. The rest of the class will be placed on the civil service register and appointed as new vacancies occur.

The ten weeks school, held at Camp Ripley, trained the new officers in a wide variety of subjects. The men who are finishing their training are from many walks of life, and almost every kind of vocation is represented.

Cites Law on Guns in Deer Season

Conservation Dept. Reminds of 1957 Law

Hunters may not have a rifle of any sort in their possession "out-of-doors" while in a zone open for the taking of deer with shotgun and slugs.

This is the text of a recent law, Chapter 508, enacted by the 1957 Legislature which makes it "unlawful to have in possession out-of-doors, except upon target ranges operated under a permit from the conservation commissioner, unless unloaded and contained in a gun case, or unloaded and broken down any rifle in a territory open for the taking of deer with shotguns and slugs but not with rifles, during such open season."

This same law makes it unlawful to be afield with a rifle or shotgun with slugs in any territory wherein there is an open season for the taking of deer with firearms, for a period of ten days preceding and five days succeeding such season.

Game wardens will be especially watchful for anyone violating this law.

Kelstrom Speaks at Middle River Adventist Church

Elder Vernon Kelstrom, missionary home on furlough from Guam, spoke at the Middle River Seventh-day Adventist Church, Saturday morning, October 26, to the combined congregations of the Thief River Falls and Middle River Adventist churches. He told of many interesting experiences from the mission field.

He has spent seven years as president of the South Japan Mission, followed by three years as president of the Far Eastern Island Mission.

He will be leaving shortly to take up departmental work in the Southeastern Asia Union and will be living in Singapore.

His wife, the former Cora Knutson and eight year old son, Lyle, will be leaving for Singapore with him.

"Indian chief nostrums" are out of style. But nowadays you hear some remarkable claims about "vitamin preparations" being sold by remarkably unprofessional sources. We'd like to remind you of a fact or two pertaining to vitamins or, for that matter, any medicines. Fact one: Your physician is the one who's professionally qualified to prescribe for your health. Fact two: Your pharmacist is the one who's professionally qualified to fill prescriptions. Always rely on your "health team" in matters of health. It's the only safe thing to do.

"Today is your day and mine, the only day we have, the day in which we play our part. What our part may signify in the great whole we may not understand; but we are here to play it, and now is our time. This we know; it is a part of action, not of whining. It is a part of love, not cynicism. It is for us to express love in terms of human helpfulness.

Egg Inspection

Minnesota's new egg grading law is now being enforced and Byron Allen, commissioner of agriculture, expresses the belief that the new measure will be beneficial to both producers and consumers.

Strict grading will give consumers the protection to which they are entitled in the the purchase of a perishable food. And, of course, producers who market a top quality product will not be adversely affected, and probably will be benefited over a period of time by being more secure in a market that is protected by high quality standards.

Strict grading will gradually close the door of the egg market to producers who do not offer a consistenly high quality product. This means that egg production will become more and more a specialized operation.

One of the bad effects of this kind of regulation is the increase it means in the number of inspectors on our public payroll. Mr. Allen announces that 24 additional inspectors have been appointed to take care of the field work, and there will have to be supervisors to inspect the inspectors, and clerical help to keep proper records. All this will be charged up against the industry itself, we are assured, but that, we know from experience, is just another way of collecting the cost either from those who produce the eggs or from those who eat them.

The trend toward more inspection will no doubt continue. And with more inspection there will be more inspectors.

We Have A Recession

We are now experiencing a recession. That seems to be the polite way of saying that business no longer is booming. Retail sales thruout the country continue at record highs but there are several soft spots in the manufacturing end of our economy. Some factories are cutting production for lack of orders. There is increasing unemployment.

This slackening in industrial activity is attributed to the government's tight money policy. This means that the tight money policy is accomplishing its purpose. The brakes are working as they were intended to work, slowing us down to a safer speed and clamping, temporarily, a few curbs on inflation.

The slowing down is not popular. There is grumbling at all levels. The stock market nose-dive has reduced the value of investments by billions of dollars. Owners of stocks are unhappy. Being unemployed is not pleasant either. Storekeepers cannot continue to do business with folks who cannot pay bills. Nobody likes recession. If the question were submitted to the voters we are sure a big majority would be in favor of more inflation.

And so we may expect the politicians to support that which is popular. It is encouraging to know however that the brakes do work if they are properly applied by a prudent driver. The problem is going to be to keep prudent drivers in the driver's seat.

Area Must Be A Factor

At its state convention the Minnesota Grange supported the theory of representation in the legislature on the basis of both population and area. This is in line with rural thinking generally.

The legislature, controlled by the rural districts, has refused to reapportion as the constitution has directed, for the sole reason that the constitution provides for representation on the basis of population only. And on this basis the metropolitan districts would control the legislature, as they now control the election of most of the state officials.

Reapportionment of the basis of population and area has been offered in the legislature many times. The proposal, however, has been consistently opposed by the metropolitan press.

It is encouraging now, therefore, to know that the Minneapolis Star does admit the area idea has some merit. Quoting a mess of statistics, the Star says: "Such figures idicate that area, plus population, might be a proper compromise basis for reapportioning one chamber of the legislature, population alone for the other."

It would be interesting to know how the Star would react to a proposal that both houses of our national legislative body be made representative on the basis of population alone.

In the House, New York state has five times the voting power of Minnesota, but in the Senate, Minnesota, and other small states are equal to New York. This means that in any legislation in which there is a conflict of interests between the small states and the large states, the solution must be a compromise.

And that is the way it must be in Minnesota. Rural Minnesota would be in an intolerable position if the legislature were controlled by the large cities and the metropolitan areas.

An Educator Speaks

Carleton College, at Northfield, ranks high nationally in the field of education in which it serves. Laurence Gould, its president, is recognized as an outstanding educator. The following observation by President Gould is therefore deserving of serious consideration:

> "I do not believe that our greatest danger lies in the fact that Russians currently are way out ahead of us. I think that our greatest danger lies in a failure to recognize the magnitude of the problem that confronts us at all levels from kindergarten through college. To proceed as we are now is all that is necessary for Soviet Russia to dominate the world."

Our schools now operate on the theory that all should graduate. In making it easy to get diplomas we blink the fact that acquiring an education still requires a lot of hard work even for a student of more than average capacity.

Unfortunately too many of those who are officially licensed as educators are not educated. They themselves are the products of the soft system of volume production and low standards.

Fortunately the Doctor Goulds are no longer voices in the wilderness.

Dutch Farm Magic

(Owen Sound, Canada, Sun-Times)

An old peat bog some 45 miles from Ottawa has agricultural experts goggling because of its fantastic output of farm products. A yield of [illegible] baskets of potatoes per acre is reported, and the output of lettuce, cabbage, onions and carrots has been equally spectacular.

Immigration explains the magic of agricultural output in this old Ontario peat bog. Dutch farmers have applied to the land the same techniques that have been used for generations in the Netherlands, and which were applied so successfully by other Dutch immigrant farmers in the section of Ontario known as the Holland marshes, north of Toronto.

One of the enterprising "New Canadians" responsible for this remarkable agricultural development in the Ottawa Valley is George Herlanga. "As Hollanders," he says, "we are familiar with this type of soil. We knew that fertilizer and chemical applied to peat soil could become the finest vegetable soil capable of holding moisture, being a perfect seed bed . . . We can save millions for Canada when one thinks of the large imports of American fruits and vegetables.

Want to be ready when your chance comes?

Jim was no idle dreamer. After he and Betty were married two years ago, he came right to the bank. He brought Betty along. "Here's the start of our new home," he said as he counted out $150.

That $150 was the beginning of a savings account that received mighty fine care. Each time Jim and Betty got a pay check, their account got a boost—sometimes a bigger boost than others—but always a boost.

Then one day their chance came. A realtor offered them a wonderful buy on a lot that was exactly what they had been looking for. Jim and Betty had the money for a down payment in their savings account. They paid cash. The first step toward their "dream home" was taken.

Cash'll do it every time. Opportunities come and go, but when the one comes that appeals to you—you want to be ready. With cash.

Surest way to have it when you need it is to start saving now. As little as $1 will start your savings account here. Guaranteed bank interest will make it grow.

CENTENNIAL SEARCH FOR SENIORS IS ON

First away from the starting blocks in what should be an exciting statewide seniority race is Strunk's "Old Drug Store" in Shakopee, whose centennial is simultaneous with that of Minnesota statehood.

What individuals, what business firms, what organizations are older, and how many are there in the state's honored roster of Centennarians? Compilation of such a roster will add zest to local news and mementos to our 1958 statehood centennial.

On May 28, 1857, David Lennox arrived in Shakopee by Minnesota River boat and opened the Old Drug Store, which still does business under the same [illegible] title at the same location. Records show 177,000 prescriptions filled, mementos include a doctor's daybook from the early days when a baby delivery [illegible] and a tooth extraction [illegible], a map showing Minnesota's [illegible] counties (now 87), a pill machine, and a still.

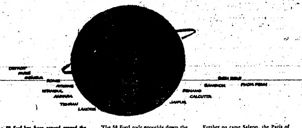
58 FORD COMING NOV.7 Nothing newer!

AROUND THE WORLD



The 58 Ford has been proved around the world. This is the most dramatic and most grueling test ever given a new car before its public announcement.

The whole world was used as a test track for the 58 Ford. The car drove through England, France, Switzerland, Italy, Yugoslavia, Greece, Turkey, Iran, Afghanistan, Pakistan, India, Malaya, Thailand, Cambodia, Vietnam, and finally back to the place it started—Detroit, Michigan, U.S.A.

The Ford powered over the great mountain ranges of three continents: from the Alps to the Himalayas and the Rockies. It crossed the great rivers of history: the Thames, the Seine, the Tiber, the Arno, the Tigris, the Euphrates, the Indus, the Ganges.

This car stood at Buckingham Palace, rolled up the Champs Elysees to the Arc de Triomphe, and paused at the Eiffel Tower. It was greeted by the great Paris couturières at the famous fashion salons where its "sculptured in steel" styling was applauded by the most style-conscious audience in the world.

The 58 Ford rode smoothly down the rugged, beautiful seacoast of Tito's country, to a festival in Dubrovnik, and into Greece to Athens, where this newest classic met such ancient classics as the Parthenon and the Temple of Poseidon.

Into Turkey: and the 58 Ford passed the great white lacework palaces of the Sultans along the Bosporus and the Golden Horn. Then the Ford went where few but nomads travel, up into the hot days and chill nights of the ancient mountains of Afghanistan. And thence along the route Alexander the Great followed with his chariots to cross the historic Indus river.

On and on the Ford moved, down into the heat of mysterious India, through New Delhi to the Taj Mahal, and to the great pink palace of the Maharajah of Jaipur.

This great new car met the challenge of the monsoons—rains that for centuries have stopped all road movement throughout Indo-China, but didn't stop the 58 Ford. It drove on to Penang in Malaya, and then north to Bangkok.

Further on came Saigon, the Paris of the Orient, at the farthest tip of Southeast Asia. Finally, it powered across the great Rockies and plains of North America and back, at long last, to Detroit, Michigan.

The 58 Ford . . . has been proved and approved around the world. A natural question arises. Why did Ford go to such great lengths with its 1958 model? Why spend so much money and time and go through all the problems of negotiations, customs, border transit, diplomacy in so many countries?

The answer: in the competitive automobile market of today, only the best in all-around value can survive. And this round-the-world test is the most decisive possible demonstration of the best.

The 1958 Ford is value: hard-dollar value. It is also style, power, performance, and a dozen great new features. But above all, it is value.

Achievement of 4-H Are Listed by Leader

Minnesota's 48,000 4-H members will be honored on National 4-H Achievement Day Saturday and during the coming week at special banquets and award programs throughout the state.

At the banquets, parents and adult leaders will receive recognition for their assistance in supporting the 4-H program and 4-H members will receive awards for accomplishments in their project and activities.

According to Leonard Harkness, state 4-H club leader at the University of Minnesota, members of Minnesota's 2,000 clubs can point to many achievements during the past year. He listed as some of their accomplishments:

Minnesota boys and girls raised about 8,000 dairy cattle, 8,000 sheep, 8,500 swine, 4,000 beef cattle and 410,000 chickens, ducks, turkeys and geese.

Almost 30,000 members enrolled in the health activity made improvements toward more healthful personal living and cooperated to improve health conditions in the home and community.

Some 19,000 members made 326,000 family meals.

The 13,700 girls enrolled in clothing made 43,000 garments.

More than 6,000 4-H'ers worked at beautifying their home yards by planting trees, shrubs and flowers and caring for the lawn.

More than 4,000 members raised field crops and over 8,000 helped with family gardens.

Nearly 8,300 older boys and girls enrolled in the junior leadership project and assisted the adult volunteer leaders with project instruction, recreation and program planning.

Hospitality Show Now in Progress in Minneapolis

Minneapolis this week is scene of a special type of exposition, of which only four other regional examples are known in the country.

It is the first annual Upper Midwest Hospitality show, set for Thursday, through Saturday (Oct. 31 and Nov. 1-2) in Leamington hotel, for the many thousands of resturant, resort, hotel and motel men in the Minnesota, Iowa, Wisconsin, Michigan, North Dakota, South Dakota, and Montana block of states.

The exposition is designed also for all other businesses in the generalized hospitality industry, from hospitals to hot-dog stands. A total of 129 booths, all the space available, have been contracted for by manufacturers, suppliers and servicers to put on display new products, many of which will find their way eventually into homes.

1958 Ford to Make Bow November 7

Tunberg Motor Co. to Show Improved Models

The 1958 Ford line featuring major styling changes, the most efficient engines in the car's history, a new automatic transmission and new optional air suspension, will go on display at the Tunberg Motor Co. Thursday, November 7.

Historically, auto companies have made basic changes in their cars every three years, it was pointed out by J. O. Wright, Ford general manager.

"But in its 1958 models, Ford has actually created fundamental design and engineering changes just one year after its completely new 1957 model," he said.

Demonstrating this change are twenty-one models on two separate wheelbases; the Fairlane and Fairlane 500, with an overall length of 207 inches, and the Custom 300 and the station wagon, measuring 202 inches.

The new distinctive stylings emphasized in a front view of the massive wrap-around one-piece bumper with anodized aluminum "jet intake" grille, dual headlights, and Power Flow hood. New sheet metal treatment incorporates redesigned front fenders, new roof and trunk lid and rear quarter panel innovations. From the rear, the 1958 Ford is distinctive with a "V" sculptured trunk lid flaring into twin safety oval taillights.

Ford introduces the newest and most modern V-8 overhead valve engines in its 1958 line—the 332 and 352 cubic inch displacement engines. These engines combine new highs of efficiency, durability and economy with the added time and cost savings of quick service accessibility.

Wiener's Showing '58 Model Buicks

New Models Supplied in Five Different Series

The 1958 models, with dynamic new styling, feature the new miracle ride, a revolutionary new Dynaflow transmission, improved brakes with thicker linings and a host of other engineering changes.

The new cars went on display in dealer showrooms October 29, the first of General Motors' Golden Anniversary models to be shown the public. They are shown locally at Wiener's garage.

The new Buicks come in five series, topped by the new Limited, a distinctively-styled luxury model which is Buick's new entry in the prestige car market.

55 Pct. of State Students Attend to Dental Needs

2,519 Minnesota Schools Participated Last Year in Statewide Project

The highest number of students, 461,376, participated in the 1956-57 school dental health report just released by the state department of health. The survey covered 2519 schools in 82 of the 87 counties of Minnesota, in which more than 55 per cent of the students have completed all dental needs and returned their dental cards to their respective school rooms. These cards have been signed by their family dentist indicating all necessary dental needs have been met.

The dental card program is a means of evaluating progress in the dental health of the school child. This is a program sponsored by the state department of health, department of education, the Minnesota Dental association, the Public Health Nurses, local PTA's, and the public and parochial schools.

The primary purpose of the program is to educate the individual student to the value of good dental health and to stimulate him to seek regular dental examinations and care. Good dental health is essential to the general health of the child. However, dental disease is one of the most serious health problems with the school-age individual. Approximately 98 per cent of the students in high school have decayed, missing, or filled teeth.

The survey pointed out that there were 174 rural schools and 10 town schools both public and parochial which achieved 100 per cent return. Also, 78 parochial and public schools, in which the enrollment exceeded 100 students, attained percentages between 85 and 99.

December is one of the most dangerous months for motorists, the National Safety Council says. In 1956, 4,000 persons died then in motor vehicle mishaps.

Excluding motor vehicle deaths, the No. 1 killer in 1956 of persons in the "active age" group—persons 15-44 years of age — was drowning.

The United States is the only great industrial country without a compulsory nation-wide program of health insurance.

WHAT'S WRONG HERE?

Here's what!

1. The Bible is on the bottom shelf, hard to get at, which means the family doesn't use it frequently.

2. The Bible she's reaching for is written in grown-up language, too hard for her to understand all by herself.

3. The little girl is alone—and she needs help!

Why should the Bible be on the bottom shelf, and why should this little girl have to seek its truth by herself?

The Church stands ready to help your child—and you! It will help you to understand the Bible and its timeless message of God's undiscourageable love for you, your children and all mankind.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

How do we read prescriptions?
According to some of our customers, prescriptions aren't written—they're doodles. Yet your pharmacist looks at the cryptic scribbles and calmly reaches for a bottle. The right bottle. Prescriptions are written in a special international language known to physicians and pharmacists . . . a kind of universal, standardized shorthand that's grammar- and penmanship-proof. It exists so any registered pharmacist anywhere can fill your prescription accurately. That's how we're always able to give you just the drug your physician prescribes, and why the directions are always correct. We are pleased to serve you whenever prescription medication is required.

Elder Vernon Kalstrom Speaks at S.D.A. Church

We were very happy to have Elder Kalstrom with us. He brought greetings from the people in Japan. A vote of thanks to the people over here for sacrificing so the gospel could be brought to them there. He told of the opposition they met when first they came there but thru faithful prayer God opened the way in Guam. We now have three schools and a clinic. A story was related of how a father thanked Elder Kalstrom for the message he had brought and told how it had changed the life of his daughter. How they could see when the love of Jesus comes into their hearts, all people become better and in return have love for their fellow men. His closing was that "For Yet a Little While He That Shall Come Will Come."

Elder and Mrs. Kalstrom is shortly leaving to work in the South Eastern Union which is in and around Singapore. Our prayers do follow them.

VFW Post Seeking Renewed Interest in Veterans' Day

Local Post Will Bring Membership Report to Crookston November 9

Thief River Falls Post No. 2793 will be one of hundreds of Veterans of Foreign Wars Posts throughout Minnesota which are co-operating to revive the observance of Veterans Day, November 11th, according to Post Commander Benhart Johnson.

State VFW officials are scheduled to tour the state by plane on the weekend of November 9th and 10th, making a stop at one city in each of the nine districts. Representatives of Post 2793 will travel to Crookston on November 9th, where they will take part in the program for this district. The plane is scheduled to arrive at 3:30 p.m.

"The custom of publicly observing Veterans Day, or Armistice Day as it used to be known", said Commander Johnson, "has declined greatly since the close of World War II, and the Veterans of Foreign Wars is using this means of reviving one of the most colorful celebrations of our youth."

This event will also mark the first milestone in the current VFW drive for the highest membership in its history.

The local group will turn over the 1958 membership reports of the post to state officers when they meet them in Crookston.

Ralph Wayne Will Talk to Dairymen Thursday Evening

'U' Extension Dairyman to Talk on Dairy Feeding at Court House Meeting

Dairymen in Pennington county and the area will hold a meeting Thursday, Nov. 7 in the meeting room of the courthouse. The meeting will start at 8 p.m. and the theme is dairy feeding, according to County agent Paul Stelmaschuk.

With the quality of hay and silage being generally below average because of bad summer weather, feeding is more important than ever in dairy production and profits. Questions frequently asked are: What about commercial feed additives such as thyroprotiens and their feasibility? How can the ration I'm feeding the cows be improved? What is the right amount to invest in equipment for a dairy farm? What can be done to control common dairy diseases? What does the future hold for grade "B" milk producers? These and other vital questions will be discussed at the dairy meeting.

Ralph Wayne, extension dairyman, University of Minnesota will address the meeting. Wayne has over twenty years of experience with dairy industry and is known to many dairymen in the area and throughout the state. His experience and contacts with dairy farmers throughout the state will be of value and use to local dairymen. All dairy farmers in the area are invited to this meeting, adds Stelmaschuk.

Tax Levy for City Purposes Is Unchanged

Council Friday Sets Tax Levy for Next Year at 44.95 Mills

Unlike other local governing bodies and the state of Minnesota, the Thief River Falls city council at an adjourned session Friday evening was able to hold the line on the 1957 tax levy for city purposes.

The levy, payable in 1958, was fixed at 44.95 mills, exactly the same figure as was levied a year ago. In addition, the county auditor will continue to make an additional levy of one-half mill against city property for armory purposes, bringing the total city rate to 45.45 mills.

City Clerk P. G. Pederson calculated that the 44.95 mill levy would raise $124,062, or fractionally more than a year ago.

Four-fifth of the levy, or $99,496, has been allocated to the retirement of bonds and interest falling due in 1958. Of the remainder, $20,148 is designated for current expense; $2,700 for the police retirement fund; $2,760 for firemen's relief; and $1,380 for the cemetery fund.

With a sharp increase in the School District 18 tax levy, and with smaller raises in the county and state tax levies, the total tax levy for Thief River Falls will undoubtedly hit an all-time peak.

Youngsters Behaved Nicely on Halloween, Police Chief Reports

Thief River Falls youngsters, in general, deserve A ratings for their good behavior Halloween night, Police Chief Elton Cummings stated, adding that up to late Friday no reports of destructive activity had been received by his office.

The only incidents reported were a few eggs thrown at passing cars, some garbage cans tipped over and a relatively small number of store windows soaped up.

The Lions club time-honored Halloween festival entertained large numbers of local children during the day and evening, starting with afternoon movie parties and treats for the smaller tots in the four local grade schools.

Pupils in grades 5 to 8 enjoyed a Walt Disney feature film and treats in the Lincoln high school auditorium, while approximately 200 high school students attended a teen-age dance in the city Auditorium, at which paper hats and noisemakers were distributed.

During the evening large numbers of youngsters made the rounds of local homes on "Tricks or Treats" missions.

Miss Gerda Mortenson, who was a teacher in the Thief River Falls schools more than 30 years ago, and since 1923 dean of women at Augsburg college in Minneapolis, received tribute in the Minneapolis Star's Town Toppers section Thursday for her long service to Augsburg.

Any hunter who has bagged game of any kind which he does not care to use at home is asked to bring it to the American Legion club.

Joe Larson, club manager, stated that it is not necessary to dress the game out as he has made arrangements to have this done, and the club will keep the game in freezer lockers until the December 15th dinner.

Candidates' Fate Is up to Voters Tuesday

27 Per Cent of Grade Pupils Absent Today Because of Sickness

Absences in the Thief River Falls grade schools, mainly because of upper respiratory ailments, mounted sharply from 215 last Friday to a total of 358 or 27 per cent this morning, it was announced at the office of Kermit Eastman, elementary director.

Lincoln junior-senior high school showed a lesser increase from 258 Friday afternoon to 279 this morning, of which 113 students were in senior high school and 166 in junior high.

The rise in the grade schools for the last three school days is reflected in the following table:

	Th.	Fri.	Mon.
Knox	72	105	131
Northr.	37	44	82
Wash.	31	66	145
	140	215	358

Supt. Irwin Mickelson stated that Mrs. Margaret Race, school nurse, was to confer today with Dr. H. Paul Wendt, city health officer, on the local situation.

A total of 42 pupils in St. Bernard's school were reported as absent this morning.

Public Urged Not to Visit Hospital for the Present

Except in the most urgent cases, local residents are requested not to visit friends or relatives at Northwestern Hospital during the current heavy incidence of severe upper respiratory ailments, it was announced today by Harold W. Peterson, administrator. The request, he added, is for the best interests of patients in the institution.

Registered Nurse Student to Get Aid from TRF 40 & 8

Local Voiture Building up Fund to Be Used for Financing Nurse Training

At a meeting of the local 40 & 8 voiture held Tuesday, it was decided that the nurses training fund had grown to the point where it was now feasible to send a trainee to the next session of an accredited school offering courses for registered nurses training.

The nurses training program was initiated several years ago by the local 40 & 8 unit, setting up a fund with money donated by members as well as by business firms, other organizations, and private parties interested in the program. A list of donors to this fund is displayed publicly at the local American Legion club.

Harold M. Johnson, chairman of the committee, stated that even though the present fund is too small to pay for the training of a nurse at this time, the group intends to select a worthy candidate for such training and send her to school for the next training session. An effort will be made during the next month to increase the number of private donations to the training fund and, meanwhile, the 40 & 8 will underwrite the expense in the belief that donations will be forthcoming.

The 40 & 8 invites anyone interested in this program to contribute to the cause. Trainees are carefully selected with the help of the area vocational school and Northwestern hospital officials. In order to be eligible for training, the person selected must have shown an interest and some ability in the field of nursing and must be deemed worthy and needful of the help given by the program.

Odd Fellow Set Dinner Tuesday

Wild Game Dinner and Initiation Tuesday

Young Pine Lodge No. 221 of the Odd Fellows will feature a fall opener dinner Tuesday evening, November 5, at 6:30 p.m. Wild game including roast raccoon and ducks will be served along with baked ham.

The Minnesota Odd Fellows are working on a building project adding a large addition to their Odd Fellows Home at Northfield. Funds are being raised thruout the state to finance the project and there will be a report on the progress.

Brisk Competition for Three Posts in TRF City Election

Voters of Thief River Falls will go to the polls in the biennial city election Tuesday, November 5, to elect a mayor, two aldermen-at-large, four ward aldermen and a city treasurer.

Residents of all four wards will vote in the municipal Auditorium, with the polls being open from 7 a.m. until 8 p.m.

Some observers are apprehensive that the vote may be light owing to the fact that three incumbent ward aldermen are unopposed for reelection, including James Winjum, first ward; Roy Lee, second; and Stanley Sandvig, third. In the fourth ward, A. F. Berge, incumbent, is opposed by S. A. Honebrink, who had served a term as alderman previously, having been defeated by Berge in the 1955 election.

Considerable interest has developed in the race for mayor, in which Dr. O. D. Beich, incumbent, is seeking reelection. He is opposed by Mrs. Agnes Israelson, who served as mayor in 1954-55, and was defeated by Dr. Beich in her attempt to win a second term in 1955.

Also attracting a good deal of attention is the three-way contest for the two positions as alderman-at-large to be filled Tuesday. The candidates include Bob Carlson, Minneapolis Star and Tribune distributor, and A. B. Stenberg, Soo Line locomotive engineer, incumbents; while the third aspirant is A. J. Rau, retired manager of the local telephone exchange.

Unopposed for reelection is Mrs. Hazel C. Olson, long-time city treasurer.

No special issues have been brought out by the campaigners to date, but, in general, the incumbent administration is standing on the record of improving the city's financial situation, while their opponents claim that they could do the job better.

Mercury Drops to 20 This Morning

Light Blanket of Snow Friday Melted Quickly

Winter moved several steps closer to northern Minnesota area the past week-end with rain, which changed to snow early Friday evening, blanketing the area.

The white stuff melted off Saturday but it was a strong hint of things to come later. Temperatures dropped into low thirties Friday night and have remained there since, a strong contrast with Thursday's balmy high of 61 registered at KTRF.

The low temperature since last Thursday was today's 20. No measurement of the light rain and snow was available but was estimated at less than a half inch. Skies cleared Sunday night and a heavy frost was on the ground Monday morning.

The forecast is for considerably cloudy skies and little temperature change today, tonight and Tuesday. Scattered light rain or snow is likely tonight. Highs today will be 35-40 and lows tonight will be about 28. Winds will be light today. The Wednesday outlook is uncertain.

Total Cut of About 6,000,000 Trees Is Seen in State During Season

The cutting of Christmas trees, which some years starts in early October has been delayed this fall by the lack of sufficient cold weather to freeze the swamps and wetlands where many of the trees are growing, Ray Clement, forester in the division of forestry reported today.

When the northern area has heavy freezing and early snowfall, the cutters can get into the wet areas to start cutting during October, and the trees are stock piled until later for shipping.

Clement says that the delay will not necessarily reduce the total cut, as most operators make the heavy cutting during November, depending upon the prospects of a good Christmas tree market.

A new factor entered the Christmas tree business, Clement said, and that is the plantations of trees within a hundred or less miles of the Twin Cities. Many of these trees are now four to seven feet high and ready for market. If the present trend of planting continues a considerable number of the future Christmas trees will be grown in such plantations.

Clement says the total cut for some years in the past has been close to 6,00,000 trees, of which about 1,000,000 are sold in Minnesota and the remainder shipped to eastern and southern markets.

Individuals and operators have been reminded of the laws regulating the cutting and transporting of trees and should visit the ranger stations or contact a forester for detailed information. Hunters may transport trees for their use under a permit which may be secured from a forestry office.

Airline Improves Chicago Service

To Add Non-stop Flight from Duluth-Superior

North Central Airlines, Minneapolis, said Saturday it will launch its new nonstop Duluth-Superior to Chicago flights Dec. 1.

This will mark the latest expansion of the nation's largest "local" airline.

The company this week is celebrating the fifth anniversary of establishment of its headquarters in Minneapolis.

Since 1952, the company has increased its fleet from nine planes to 27, route miles from 2,573 to 4,315, total revenues from about 3 million dollars to 10 million a year and passengers from 153,000 a year to 665,000.

Much of the increase has taken place in the past year.

For example, the company now has 1,250 employes, compared with 984 Jan. 1 and passengers in 1957 will number about 20 per cent more than in 1956.

Many Benefits from 4-H Projects Cited

Boys and girls who enroll in Pennington county 4-H clubs have many doors of opportunity opened to them, says Paul Stelmaschuk, county agent.

Recreation at monthly meetings, parties, outings and trips give the members an opportunity to have fun and to meet young people their own age. They make new friends at meetings, at county fairs and camps.

Taking at least one project is a requirement of 4-H membership. But 4-H'ers may choose from a wide variety of farm and home projects the ones they will enjoy. In each project they "learn by doing" skills they can put to use immediately, as well as in later life.

The opportunity to give demonstrations, to hold office, to serve as junior leaders helping younger boys and girls with project work and with the 4-H program, creates a sense of responsibility, develops poise and self confidence and the ability to work with others.

All members are encouraged to exhibit and demonstrate their skills. In return for their work, they gain satisfactions in achievement. But they may also win material awards—award ribbons, cash prizes, certificates, special trips. Top winners in each county have the privilege of attending State Fair or the Junior Health and Conservation camps at Itasca State Park. Members may also participate in district and state 4-H weeks.

State winners in various projects and activities receive trophies, merchandise awards, savings bonds and trips to regional and national events, including National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, the National 4-H Club conference in Washington and the Leadership Training camp in Michigan. Each year national winners receive valuable college scholarships.

Parents who have boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 21 who are not club members will make a valuable investment for the present and future of the young people by encouraging them to join the local 4-H club, Stelmaschuk says. See the 4-H club leader or county extension office about joining.

A peek at THE STARS

by LYN CONNELLY

POOR Eddie Fisher . . . After years of hit records which netted him some half dozen gold disks, he not only has dropped almost out of contention in the past few years but has the added twist of fate of having his pretty wife, Debbie Reynolds, who isn't known for her singing by any means, come up with the country's top waxing in "Tammy" . . . As though that isn't bad enough, Eddie's first TV show of the current season would have been a flop except for the sparkling presence of one of his guests . . . who else but Debbie Reynolds.

PLATTER CHATTER

CAPITOL: Lots of good hi-fi albums turned out by Capitol, one of the best of which is "Boulevard of Broken Dreams" by popular Ferlin Husky who scored so high in the pop field this year after years in the country and western field . . . Husky sings the title song among standards carefully selected for his styling . . . Peggy Lee has a great new album which not only shows up her voice to advantage but marks the debut of Frank Sinatra as a musical conductor . . . Peggy does "The Man I Love," "Please Be Kind," "That's All," "He's My Guy," "My Heart Stood Still," "There Is No Greater Love" and others.

In singles, Capitol offers Nelson Riddle doing his usual magnificent job on "In a Small Forgotten Town" backed by "Blame It On Paree" . . . A tasty coupling . . . Sonny James continues to score with "Love Conquered" Flip side has "A Mighty Lovable Man," a weak song but well done . . . The ol' Voice himself, Frank Sinatra, comes up with a song that may go all the way and it's titled appropriately enough, "All The Way" . . . Reverse has "Chicago" and both are from his latest movie.

MERCURY: Lonnie Donegan goes wild with "Puttin' on the Style" and "Gamblin' Man" on the reverse is just as frenetic . . . tailor-made for the jumpin' teens.

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLD TIMERS

From S. Margaret Cannon, Duquesne, Pennsylvania: Remember when Father went to the grocery store on Saturday evening and Joey and Jenny and Johnny and Jimmy; and always a number of the neighborhood progeny, trooped along, just to be kind of sociable like?

And after Father had pocketed his receipt the grocer started filling a too small, red and white striped sack with peppermint lonzenges, lemon drops, et cetera—but always shying away from the chocolate drops. And after handing the sack to Father, each one of us kids received his, or her, pay day bonus, which never consisted of more than two pieces.

And if any time within the next two weeks Joey or Jenny or Johnny or Jimmy acquired a stomach disturbance, the over-indulgent parents laid the blame to eating too much candy.

* * *

From Rosetta Mays, Casey, Illinois: I remember as a little girl we moved into a one room log house after my mother died. It was a cold day and father wrapped us in comforts and drove us there in a wagon.

We had a big fire place where Father would burn big logs and we kids always wondered how Santa could get down the small chimney without getting burned or getting black with soot.

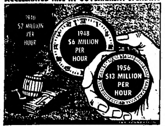
Neil MacNeil, writing in National Review, says that "We have in the U. S. 116,743 units of government, almost all of which levy taxes of one sort or another." He goes on to say that there are "116 taxes on a suit of clothes, 151 taxes on a loaf of bread, and around 100 on an egg. The tax-gatherer takes so much, now, that he can't leave anything untouched."

ACCELERATED RISE IN GOVERNMENT SPENDING



The rate of government spending (Federal, state and local) is shown by an hour glass for 1940 and a stopwatch for 1956. According to Tax Foundation, Inc. estimates, spending rose from $2 million an hour to $13 million an hour in the period.

Ask Deer Hunters to Visit Check Stations

Deer hunters on their trip homeward are urged to be on the lookout for checking stations being operated from November 10-13 by the Minnesota game and fish division.

"Most hunters know about our checking stations," explained Dr. Lytle Blankenship, biologist in charge, "but this year we have changed some locations and added new ones."

"We are attempting to get as big a sample of deer as possible, and from widespread geographic locations throughout the state," said Blankenship.

"Hunters will only be inconvenienced a short time and the data we gather is important in the continued management of our deer herd. We are especially interested in the early opening of the hunting season this year and the effects it may have on the sex ratio of the kill. We anticipate a higher kill of bucks as they will be on the move during the early part of the rutting season. We are also interested in the condition of the deer, especially as regards the amount of fat deposited. Bucks killed prior to the peak of rutting should be in better condition."

Game officials indicate that if hunters would prop open the deer's mouth with a three inch stick, it would greatly facilitate aging the deer. Jaws frozen shut are difficult to open and biologists must examine the teeth to get the age of a deer.

"Be on the lookout for ear tags," suggests Dr. Blankenship. "In our study of deer movements we have tagged some deer and we need to know the location of the kill, along with the tag number and the lower jaw. Postage will be refunded if the hunter requests."

A survey made by the Traffic Safety Commission of Portland, Oregon, indicates that "following too closely" is the leading cause of accidents. Second is failure to yield right-of-way.

The volume of the vending machine business in the United States last year was nearly $2 billion, up more than 6,000 per cent from the figures for 1925.

Some 5,000 Minnesota deer hunters will be recipients of postcards late next month, as part of the game and fish divisions survey of hunting success.

In charge of the survey is Zane Scheftel, biometrician, who requests that every hunter who receive a postcard return it with the information requested.

Changing Times, the Kiplinger Magazine, estimates that about 10 per cent of all personal spending by families and individuals goes for automobiles. It says that in 1956 spending on the family car—including purchases, tires and parts, gas and oil, service charges and other costs—came to $27 billion.

Weather in October Varied but Pleasant

The old saying that variety is the spice of life, if applied to the past month of October would certainly make that month a lively, spicy one, because there was no lack of variety to the weather that occurred in northwest Minnesota during the month.

Early October was quite warm with high temperatures in the seventies and lows in the forties, to make life miserable for duck and grouse hunters who were far busier slapping mosquitoes than shooting game, which was well protected by the lush cover left by the unseasonably late warmth.

October wasn't a wet month, compared with some months past but adequate moisture fell to make the going tough for farmers who were still struggling to catch up after two extremely wet months in succession during the harvest season.

The October moisture totaled 2 inches, not including the first light snow of the season which fell Oct. 23, although the amount was too slight to be measured.

The coldest day of the month, overall, was Oct. 24, when the mecury stayed below the freezing mark all day. The lowest temperature registered was 18 above zero Oct. 26.

The month closed on a high note with 61, making it comfortable for youthful ghosts and goblins making the rounds for tricks or treats on Halloween. All in all, area residents could say the month left pleasant memories of the last mild weather before winter's onset.

Here are the month's temperature and precipitation figures for those who like to keep a record:

Shootin' the Breeze

BY Mack Draper

They say a person never gets too old to learn. The missus and I are finding that out . . . and if neither of us seems as spry as formerly it's not necessarily because we're getting old and decrepit—we just feel that way.

In short, little John would as soon lie awake at 3 a.m. as 3 p.m. but wants company regardless. (Yawn!)

That was quite an assortment of ghosts, goblins and little demons that banged on our back door Halloween and we're happy to say that there were no tricks played that we could see.

One little fellow came to our door accompanied by his Ma and a younger brother or sister (we're not sure which). It must have been their first time on the "Tricks or treats" circuit for the little goblin of the group was too bashful to state the purpose of his visit—and the other young one was scared half to death of his awesomely-costumed brother.

Norm Holen says the word "vehicle" is one of the most unattractive words in the English languarge. We'll go along with that and add that it sounds more like a hiccup than a word.

We read in the Post that a lawyer famed for defending criminals hates to have men who work for big corporations sit on juries hearing his cases. He says these junior executives have too great respect for authority and are apt to form their conclusions before a trial, not after the final pleas are made.

We've often thought ourselves that the tendency nowadays is to take laws too much for granted. People are too prone to say "It's the law," without taking the merits of each individual law into consideration.

If people had been that way back in the days when we were under British rule we might now be a dominion under the British Empire, rather than the independent, sovereign nation we are. As it was, we staged a revolution and wrote the laws of the land to our own liking.

The unfortunate tendency nowadays, however, is to pass a law in the attempt to meet every situation. It can't be done. Too many of our laws already have the tendency to make criminals of all of us, rather than correcting a fault as was intended.

Our lawmakers on all levels would do well to keep in mind that laws were made to serve man—not vice versa. This is true, even of the 10 Commandments, as you'll discover if you read your New Testament thoroughly. Any law that does not meet this requirement does not merit our respect.

Well, we got that off our chest. You can take over from there, Ora Kell!

What Makes You The World's Best Shopper?*

*IT'S THOSE CLIPPINGS IN YOUR HAND!

It's a fact that American women are the most qualified shoppers in the world. Because of the intensity of newspaper advertising, American women have more information about more products, and so can compare value and price to get the most for their money. The largest single advertising voice in our country is the local newspaper. And what's more, take it with you when you shop. Or you can clip the ads out, as reminders to you to take advantage of the bargain you read about.

Newfolden Senior Class Offers Play

To Present Three-act Farce Friday, Nov. 8

"The Whole Town's Talking," a three-act farce by John Emerson and Anith Loos, will be given Friday evening, November 8, at 8:00 p.m. in the Newfolden high school auditorium. The play is being given by the Newfolden senior class under the direction of Mrs. Dennes Borman.

Entertaining confusion revolves around the efforts of Henry Simmons to promote a romance between his vivacious daughter and his seemingly-dull business partner. His wife's plans for a son-in-law present a charming snobbish competitor. Into this scheming enter the town gossips and to everyone's consternation, movie star Letty Lythe and her director-fiance.

Leading roles are played by Newell Ueland, Elvida Solberg, Merle Larson, Marion Moen, Ronald Nelson, Barbara Cook, and Jed Garthune. Other members of the cast are Patricia Anderson, Zoe Ann Dill, Virginia Odberg, Karlene Anderson, Cleo Thode, Wilma Gutterud, DeEtta Flyke, Lois Elseth, and Keith Dyrud.

Phoenician tombs estimated to be 3,000 years old have been unearthed by heavy construction machinery at Rota, Spain, where the U. S. Navy is building a modern air-sea base.

Deer Hunting Will Be Allowed on Open Part of Mud Lake Refuge

Deer hunting will be permitted on the open portion of the Mud Lake National Wildlife Refuge from sunrise to sunset, November 9th to 13th, both dates inclusive, according to Herbert H. Dill, refuge manager. Only deer may be taken.

Heavy precipitation throughout the fall months has resulted in making much of the area to be hunted extremely wet. Rubber boots will be a necessity for most hunters and caution should be used in crossing swamps as there are many deep burnouts filled with water.

Entrance to the hunting area may be gained from Marshall County Highway "E"; from the east on the Stub Tower road; or from the north at the old secondary headquarters road. Refuge gates will be opened at 6 a.m. and cars will not be permitted to enter the refuge from any other points. All cars must be out of the refuge by dark.

Travel by car on the refuge proper will be limited to designated areas; traffic will be restricted in accordance with weather conditions to prevent damage to the trails. No driving will be permitted in the fields by hunters.

Hunters must comply with all State regulations pertaining to deer hunting but will not be required to check in at the checking stations before hunting. However, checking stations will be operated at several points and hunters are requested to check out when leaving regardless of whether or not they were successful.

Additional information may be obtained by writing to: Refuge Manager, Mud Lake Refuge, Holt, Minnesota or calling at the refuge headquarters. Maps are available showing the location of the hunting area and giving a synopsis of the special regulations.

Ask Deer Hunters to Guard Hearts in Coming Season

The Minnesota Heart association today urged the state's expected 1,000,000 deer hunters to "be in good physical condition" before entering the woods Saturday when the 1958 season opens.

Every deer season, said Dr. Milton Hurwitz, president, a number of unfortunate hunters overexert themselves tramping through heavy underbrush, dragging game from the woods, and building up great excitement over the hunt. Many, he declared, just "don't have the heart for hunting."

Hunters should be certain their health and general physical condition are good enough to go deer hunting, he said, suggesting a visit with the family physician prior to opening day.

1958 Oldsmobile Makes Bow Friday

Exciting styling changes that enhance the appearance from every angle mark a completely new Oldsmobile for 1958. In addition, the General Motors division is introducing a true air suspension system, newly efficient and economical Rocket engines and an improved Jetaway Hydra-Matic Drive.

The 1958 Oldsmobile will be displayed by Oldsmobile dealers throughout the nation beginning Friday, November 8. The new models will be shown locally by the Northern Chevrolet Co.

Oldsmobile's new "mobile look" is very evident in the entirely re-designed body, new rear quarter panels, a new front end with recess-type grille and four-beam headlamps, one-piece rear window with greater glass area and new read deck and roof.

Oldsmobile for 1958 offers three different Rocket engines in its three series of cars. The economy-priced Dynamic "88" series is powered by an engine with the new "Econ-o-way" dual carburetor and is rated at 265 horsepower. This engine, according to Wolfram, represents the greatest fuel economy improvement in Oldsmobile history. The Super "88" and "98" series both have the Rocket engine with quadri-jet carburetor and developing 305 h.p.

Newsmen, Sports Authority, Discuss Aerial Survey

The WORLD OUTDOORS

BOATING and water skiing are out of season in some parts of the country but still timely news is the fact that the Outboard Boating Club of America has taken the first step toward a "new concept" in legislation governing the recreation of some 30,000,000 Americans.

Water sports are enjoying an increasing wave of popularity in practically all parts of the nation, and with this popularity increase comes the threat of higher accident and drowning rates.

Safer water activity is the aim of the suggested OBC act, designed primarily to serve as a guide for federal and state lawmakers studying possible enactment of new measures affecting boating. First step in the OBC program is the compilation of an Omnibus Boating Code to be offered as a broad master plan for recommended legislative regulation of the fast growing sport.

The suggested act modifies OBC's Recommended Uniform Boat Regulation Act and adds several new provisions covering water skiing, careless operation, overloading and overpowering and operation in restricted areas. It further calls for the prohibition of regulation of the sport by local communities and details easier methods of making offending boat owners responsible for their actions in civil damage cases.

The act is based on the position long held by OBC that controls over pleasure boating should rest primarily in the hands of the states, with uniform boating laws throughout the country designed to prevent a hodgepodge of arbitrary and conflicting laws.

Existing federal law provides for a fine of $2,000 or a jail term of one year for negligent or careless operation of a motorboat.

It's a Vast Project

We were indeed fortunate on Thursday to be able to accept the invitation of Bob Carlson, local distributor for the Minneapolis Star and Tribune, to accompany Wayne Bell, Jim Peterson, and Vern Kunvalson on a DC3 flight over Mud Lake, and Roseau game refuges.

The purpose of the flight was to give Bell, who is the ace photographer of the Star and Tribune and Peterson, who is an outdoor writer for Trib, an opportunity to see these refuges at first hand. The chief attraction, though, was the Roseau project, and when you see that vast area, you can understand that it is rated as the state's number one wildfowl refuge. If this territory is to again be a producer of ducks, as it was forty or fifty years ago, the Roseau project is that hope.

The problem of ducks was the primary purpose of the flight, but it also gave us an opportunity to see the serious and tragic effects of a wet season that has plagued this area. The area around ditch twenty, Wannaska, and Roseau had the appearance of a water-soaked blotter, beyond the saturation point.

While the plane, ably piloted by Navy veteran Norm Mitchell, was at a level too high to observe the rafted ducks in Thief and Mud lakes, it was apparent that there weren't too many ducks taking advantage of these refuges. The Roseau "pools," and there are three, had experienced a "freeze" and the ducks had moved out of that territory.

Bell, the photographer, was kept plenty busy during the flight, using four cameras to take black-and-white and colored pictures of the area. Our understanding is that these pictures, with the captions being furnished by writer Peterson, will be used for a feature article in the magazine section of the Sunday Trib sometime next year. Along about duck hunting time, perhaps.

Had a couple of anxious moments too, for pilot Mitchell brought the plane down to fifty feet above the tree-tops in order that Bell could take pictures of the Roseau refuge headquarters. Some fun—like fun!

An Experience

Last Sunday, Ray (Swede) Mattson and Bob Mattson, no relation, had an experience that they will not soon forget. The two were hunting at Thief lake, using a duck boat and decoys, which method, incidentally, is the best way to hunt that lake.

A duck was knocked down, and Bob's black Lab made the retrieve. Swede, when assisting the dog back into the boat, rested his gun on the boat's bow, and when the boat was tilted, the gun slipped into the lake, into about four feet of water.

Instead of stripping down and retrieving the gun, Swede and Bob tried to arrange a snag-line and catch the gun. The gunstock could be seen, being about three feet below the surface. Finally a catch was made, around the trigger-guard, and the gun was being raised to the surface. Just as the stock was about to break water, Swede reached down to grab the gun, and he must have given a jerk to the snag-line, for the gun discharged.

"There she goes," yelled Bob, as the shotgun rocketed out of the water like it was jet-propelled. The gun was thrown a distance of about twenty-five feet, and the two hunters spent about half an hour before it was recovered. A new barrel will be required to repair the firearm. The two hunters are fortunate that they came out of the mishap with only a ruined barrel.

Saskatchewan

Believing that if the ducks wont' come to the hunters, the hunters should go to the ducks, Jim Winjum, Dr. Milt Starekow, Henry Granum, and Frank Rinkel made a hurry-up trip to Saskatchewan last week.

The quartet headed for the Kerrobert area, northwest of Regina, but when they arrived they found that a hard freeze and a heavy snow had closed out the hunting. They did try for geese, wading through knee-deep snow, etc. As one of the party stated: "It's plenty lucky that Russ Embury isn't along, for with his short legs and toes-out walk, he wouldn't have been able to take it. It was just all that Rinkel and Starekow could do to make those hikes. Embury would have been a litter case."

The party then moved down to the territory around Swift Current, and the Antelope lake area in particular, and there they found the duck hunting to be fantastic. And, while they weren't upland-gamebird hunting, they couldn't help but notice the many covies of Hungarian partridges and sharptailed grouse that they would flush as they drove out to their duck hunting grounds.

What's This?

What's this we hear about a local hunter, a member of the train crew of the Soo Line's 125 and 126, shooting a pheasant "on the sit." And not only that, but according to the report, and we cannot question the authenticity of this report, he shot this pheasant within the city limits of Glenwood.

We wont' identify this hunter any further than to state his initials are D. N.

Rocksbury-Smiley Game Refuge to Be Open to Hunters

Commissioner Selke Also Opens Marshall Co. Refuge to Deer Hunters

Of interest to local hunters, particularly the deer hunters, is the announcement by George A. Selke, the commissioner of conservation, that a number of statutory game refuges are open to the hunting and trapping of all species during the legally established seasons. In addition to the Mud Lake and Thief Lake refuges, this order, number 1487, opens the Marshall county and Rocksbury-Smiley refuges to hunting and trapping.

The pertinent facts in the Commissioner's order is as follows: "Pursuant to authority vested in me by law, I, George A. Selke, Commissioner of Conservation, do hereby prescribe the following amendment to Commissioner's Order no. 1485—Sec. 2 (a). The following statutory game refuges are open to hunting and trapping of all species during the legally established seasons therefor in the zones in which they are located: Marshall County; Rocksbury-Smiley."

There were a large number of refuges mentioned, but as they are not located in the immediate vicinity, they have not been included in this report.

The Marshall County refuge is in the area to the west of Highway 59, and consequently this refuge will be open to shotgun with single slug or bow and arrow. And the season in this area is limited to three days, November 9th to November 11th, inclusive.

The Rocksbury-Smiley refuge, open to legal firearms, will have a season of five days, from November 9th through November 13th.

McCrea Farmer Uses up-to-date Practices

Hubert E. Altendorf, who farms one-half section of land in McCrea township and one-half section in Alma township, is in favor of using conservation practices on his land, reports Fred Heck, Marshall county soil conservation agent.

Nearly all the land is Ulen loamy sand or Grimstad fine sandy loam which many years ago was covered by brush and small popple. At that time when the land was being taken up by nearby farmers, the land presently owned by Mr. Altendorf was looked upon as "tooo poor to fool with".

This gave the present owner a challenge and he felt he would make it his goal to make this "poor land" into land as good as or better than any others in the neighborhood.

Today one can see that Mr. Altendorf wasn't kidding. The once called "poor land" is producing good crops of grain and legumes. Crop rotations, plus fertilizers, have been put to use on the land. This fall another ditch was constructed to carry off field water before it can harm crops. This ditch is of the approved type which will last a long time. It has a wide channel and well sloped banks.

Stubble mulching is being practiced to hold the light soil in place and also to return the organic matter which is so preciously needed in this type of soil.

Another soil conserving practice was done earlier this fall. A considerable acreage of open land was seeded to oats as a cover crop. The oats is about 10 inches high and will make an effective "hold down" on a field which has a tendency to blow quite easily.

When asked to advisability of working under young weed growth such as mustard and wild oats which is left on summer fallow land, Altendorf felt that this practice was not necessary as the frost will take care of the young weeds. Also, he felt that the cover afforded by this growth would help hold the soil in place.

The Altendorf farm still has a sizeable grove of trees left on it. When asked what would become of it he replied, "Well, I think I've done all the bulldozing I care to and I think every farmer should have some trees on his farm. It makes a good place for wildlife and besides, the cost of removing the trees is better invested in improving the land I already have."

Radiation Hazards Slight, Study Reveals

Radiation hazards likely to develop from nucear weapons testing are too slight to be worth considering in life insurance calculations of the American public's health and longevity. They are insignificant compared to the commonplace hazards of our daily living, says the medical department of Northwestern National Life Insurance company.

But within the next fifteen or twenty years, say the insurance doctors, safe disposal of radioactive wastes resulting from peaceful development of atomic power can be a substantial problem. American casualty companies are already writing public liability insurance for nuclear power reactors.

U. S. bomb tests, however, are yielding information of value in the solution of the radioactive waste disposall problem. Safety provisions for commercial atomic power plants are rigidly laid down by the Atomic Energy Commission, and make accident hazards extremely small. We can confidently expect that we will deal with the vast new problems of the dawning atomic age as well as and perhaps better than we have dealt with those of the automobile age and the air age, predicts the insurance company's report.

Our lives are a constant succession of risks, from large to very small ones, the report points out. And like trifling bodily symptoms, very slight risks can be magnified out of all proportion by worry.

A trustworthy disarmament arrangement which would include termination of the testing and development of nuclear weapons is, of course, to be desired by all, says the report. But from the best available scientific data, there is little reason for public concern if such testing is continued until a satisfactory and dependable international arrangement can be set up.

Colleges and Universities spent about $285 million for research and development in the 1953-54 fiscal year, according to a survey, by the National Science Foundation.

Editorials . . .

"My share of the work of the world may be limited, but the fact that is is work makes it precious. Darwin could work only half an hour at a time; yet in many diligent half-hours he laid anew the foundations of philosophy. Green, the historian, tells us that the world is moved not only by the mighty shoves of the heroes, but also by the aggregate of the tiny pushes of each honest worker."

—Helen Keller

Vote Tuesday

Thief River Falls voters tomorrow will elect the officials who will manage the city's affairs for the next two years. Because there are contests for only three of the offices to be filled there is likely to be an unusually light vote. Regardless of the results, a light vote is never satisfactory.

We don't like to say that all good citizens will go to the polls tomorrow because we know they won't. But we will say that all good citizens should go to the polls and express their preferences, in this and in all elections. Those who do not vote have no right to complain.

City business is big business. As shareholders in this big business we all have a special interest in good management. Vote for those you believe will give our city the best management.

Czar Nikita

Nikita Krushvhev seems to be making good progress in establishing personal control over the Russian empire that was ruled so long and so ruthlessly by Stalin. The real test of power probably is still ahead of him however. So far he has disposed of his opposition by comparatively mild measures. Stalin silenced his opponents by exterminating them.

Kruschev now has swept aside many of the mighty, but they are still alive, and still a threat. This probably is particularly true for Marshal Zhukov, a national war hero with a strong personal following. It is reasonable to assume that each of the former leaders who has been down-graded and humiliated by Kruschev, has strong friends who now are resentful, and could become revengeful.

The successful launching of man-made moons has added tremendously to the prestige of the government, at home, as it has abroad, and Kruschev is cashing in on this as a personal achievement. In the reflected glory of "Sputnik" his seizure of more power has been less dangerous.

But the danger is there nevertheless. Krushchev is said to have much in common with Hitler, obsessed with a madman's ambition, and lacking in judgement. His action is considered unpredictable.

Under the circumstances we can derive considerable satisfaction from the hope that his troubles at home are mounting.

Was It Suicide?

Reports indicate that Ezra Benson, secretary of agriculture, will be the next member to step down from the Eisenhower cabinet. His resignation is predicted within a few weeks.

His withdrawal will be generally popular in the farm areas. The farm program that he has administered has not accomplished its purpose. He does not have the confidence of farmers and it is proper therefore that he step down.

There is no assurance that his replacement, either now, by another Eisenhower appointee, or later, by the appointee of the Eisenhower successor, will result in a more successful farm program. The failure to develop a satisfactory program is attributed by competent observers largely to the lack of unity among farm leaders and farm organizations. This in turn has resulted in the disintegration of the farm bloc in Congress.

Alfred Stedman, agricultural editor of the St. Paul Pioneer Press, called attention Sunday to the divisions that have made the farm bloc ineffective. Representatives of the agricultural states once voted as a unit, subordinating their regional and commodity differences to the best interests of agriculture as a whole. That once effective group may now be dead, Stedman points out. He says:

"A mystery to this day, is the cause of the farm bloc's demise. There's something insufficient, not to say phony, about the solutions that are being offered with a surface aspect of plausibility.

"One of them ascribes the farm bloc's death to decline in the farm poulation to a minority too small to pack its old time political power. The other holds that farmers' immense productivity nullifies surplus controls.

"And it is of course true that farming people are now down to around 12 per cent of the whole poulation, while output per farmer has doubled in the past quarter century or less.

"But the question is whether these things, suddenly and of themselves, up and knocked the block off that bloc, sending it to oblivion. No Sherlock Holmes would believe it. There is nothing sudden about these population and productivity changes. They have been going on a long time. In the face of them, the farm bloc has repeatedly shown its possession of more lives than a pussycat. And since when have any minorities been proven unable to make Congress jump through the hoop so long as their members have stood together? Being a minority hasn't noticeably handicapped wool or oil or sugar or power or medicine or rails in Washington.

"So something else had to be the instant cause of death.

"The real story, judged by bits of evidence strewn over the scene of the crime, seems to be that the congressional farm bloc committed suicide.

"Consider the nature of the congressional bloc while it was alive and kicking. It was a triumvirate of agricultural moguls. The three legs to its throne were cotton and wheat and corn. Thus it had been ever since the corn belt committee of the '20s and '30s grew into the farm bloc dynasty of the '40s and '50s.

"But the dark truth is that agriculture's big three had a falling out. Corn balked at going along any longer with wheat and cotton for tight price props and crop controls, and demanded freedom. Then, in the dead of night in the Capitol caverns perhaps, the two plotted to teach rebel corn a lesson. When the two rose and struck at corn in Congress, the farm bloc in its throes collapsed a suicide.

"Such is the horrid tale. But still it lacks finality. For when a man commits suicide, he's dead. But when a bloc commits suicide, it can come back to life again whenever its members decide to be reasonable and patch up their quarrels. Stranger things than such a farm bloc comeback to life have often happened in agricultural politics."

Getting back to Benson's probable retirement, it will be a change that should have been made earlier.

But his retirement is not going to solve the farm problem. This problem will not be solved regardless of who succeeds him, until agriculture itself agrees upon a program and presents a united front in its support. That united action probably will have to came by commodity groups working together.

The farm bloc, in congress, which, as Stedman says, probably committed suicide, must be revived.

Polio Threat Is Reduced; But Millions Unprotected

MARION B. FOLSOM, Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare, has reported a dramatic 80 per cent reduction in paralytic poliomyelitis in this country over the past two years.

He warned, however, that millions of Americans under 40 still have not received full vaccine protection and thus "are needlessly risking disability or even death."

Mr. Folsom, summarizing the polio season now coming to an end, reported 1,876 paralytic cases so far this year, compared with 7,888 cases two years ago, before widespread use of the Salk vaccine, and 5,341 cases last year.

"For many years," Mr. Folsom said, "this country anxiously sought the means to avert the suffering and anguish caused by polio. Today, with steadily increasing supplies of Salk vaccine, the means are at hand.

"If people will use the vaccine available, it is possible to give paralytic polio a knockout blow within the next year.

"Still, more than 37 million Americans under 40 have received no vaccine, and 44 million have taken only one or two doses and have yet to complete the full schedule of three doses.

"It will be a tragedy if, simply because of public apathy, vaccine which might prevent paralysis or even death lies on the shelf unused."

The Secretary noted that last fall, use of the vaccine dropped sharply, supplies piled up in warehouses, and production was cut back. By last spring, however, the demand had risen to such a peak that supplies were short again and many planned community and industry vaccination programs had to be postponed.

"We are most anxious to avoid this sort of boom-or-bust cycle, which seriously impedes an effective vaccination program," he said.

"Although all the reduction in paralytic polio may not be due to the vaccine, the vaccine certainly has played a major part in this dramatic progress.

"And yet supplies already are beginning to pile up. This is the best time for medical societies, local health departments, schools, industries, and individual citizens and physicians to make sure that everyone who needs protection gets it.

"If unvaccinated persons will start now, they can get the full schedule of three doses before the next polio season begins."

Mr. Folsom said the Public Health Service, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, the American Medical Association, State and Territorial Health Officers, and the Advertising Council are all joining in a campaign this fall to urge vaccination of as many persons as possible with the full recommended schedule of three doses.

Surgeon General Leroy E. Burney of the Public Health Service gave this summary of the polio picture now:

Incidence—

There have been 1,876 paralytic cases so far this year, compared with 7,888 for the same period in 1955 and 5,341 in 1956.

Only 83 cases of paralytic polio have been reported among the 38 million persons who have received 3 shots of vaccine, and not all of these cases have been confirmed yet. Three doses are estimated to reduce paralytic polio incidence by up to 90 per cent.

Although the vaccine is designed to prevent paralytic polio, as distinguished from non-paralytic, the total number of polio cases this year also shows a sharp reduction. There have been 4,831 cases so far, compared with 21,887 2 years ago, 12,146 one year ago, and an average of 24,928 a year over the past five years.

Vaccine Production—

More than 215 million cc. (doses) of vaccine have been released for public use since April, 1955 when manufacturers were first licensed to produce the vaccine. More than 64 million cc. have been released this year. Production has been running about 12 million cc. a month recently and manufacturers will be asked to maintain this rate or to increase it if the demand is sufficient.

It now appears possible, for the first time, to have enough vaccine available to give protection to substantially all the population under 40 before the start of next year's season of peak incidence.

Vaccine Use—

It is estimated that more than 72 million Americans already have received one or more doses—out of a total population of 109 million persons under 40. Estimate indicate:

Of the 87 million persons in the priority group, under 20 years of age and expectant mothers, 35 million have received all three injections, 22 million have received 2 injections, 11 million have received 1 injection, and 9 million have received no vaccine. Attention should be given particularly to vaccinating teen-agers.

Polio can and does strike severly at adults, however. Of the 42 million persons 20 through 39 years old, 14 million have been vaccinated—3 million with 3 doses, 5 million with 2 doses, and 6 million with 1 dose. But 28 million adults have had no vaccine.

Vaccine Supplies—

The inventory of vaccine on hand already has begun to pile up. The supply reached a low point of 3.2 million cc. during the week ending March 23. In recent weeks it has climbed from 9 million cc. on August 9, to 18 million cc. on September 13, 23½ million cc. on September 20, and remained at almost that level (22.8 million) on September 27.

REPORT from the GOVERNOR

by Orville L. Freeman

In recent years many of us have become increasingly concerned with problems that have arisen and that may arise with respect to our older citizens. Many of these relate to employment, to the difficulties faced by all but those in the youngest age groups when they apply for jobs, and to the question of whether retirement should be compulsory at any certain age.

Too Old For A Job?

I receive countless letters from people in the prime of life, some even younger than forty years of age, who say that they find great difficulty in securing new jobs. Surveys in the field of private employment show that age limits are indeed often very low. Well-qualified people find themselves arbitrarily excluded from consideration. Individual hardships often results. And society as a whole is often deprived of the much needed services of people with real ability.

Why Age Limits?

Many factors have contributed to the practice of setting upper age limits, beyond which applicants are not considered for particular jobs. I suppose the greatest impetus to such practices came with the depression, when it was hoped that early retirement would open more positions for young workers with growing families, and when the situation was aggravated by millions of unemployed.

The growth of pension plans has likewise had much to do with a fixed retirement pattern. Many employers do not want to hire persons who are even approaching the age of retirement,—they would prefer younger employees who could be counted on for longer service before they would become eligible for pensions.

Are Limits Outdated

It often happens that rules and practices adopted to meet a particular situation become outdated and even harmful under different circumstances. Let me give just one illustration in a field that is of critical importance today.

One of our most urgent needs today is for good teachers, particularly in certain fields. Perhaps one good thing that has come from the Russian launching of the baby moon has been an awakening of the American public to the need for more and better education, especially in scientific fields. And as greatly increasing numbers of young people seek secondary and higher education, the need for teachers becomes more critical.

Yet each year some of our best teachers, who would like to continue teaching and whose services are needed, are forced to retire because they have reached a specific age. Perhaps we should reconsider the rules.

Employment By The State

The State of Minnesota has maximum age requirements for applicants for positions in only three classes: the highway patrol (age 35); game wardens (age 35); and prison guards (age 48). In the forestry service preference is announced for applicants below 35 years, but older applicants are not barred from the examinations.

In state employment as a whole, however, Minnesota appoints a higher proportion of older workers than most private employers. Ability is the major consideration, and we are proud of our record during the past three years. An analysis by age groups of those appointed during that period indicates that the state, as an employer, does not discriminate against applicants on account of age.

DULUTH CENTRAL COPS HARRIER CROWN

A gruelling game other than golf in which the low score wins, is cross country running. State high school harrier meet was held in Minneapolis recently, on the Lake Nokomis course. Rallying in the last 100 yards to nip Art Patterson of St. Louis Park, Ray Miller of Minneapolis Edison earned the individual crown. Team championship went to Duluth Central with a low of 77; Minneapolis Southwest placed second with 93, followed by Grand Rapids and the Park. November 11 officially opens winter sport practice in Minnesota high school and the first interscholastic basketball games will be scheduled November 22 or 23.

OUR LAND

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture.

A Grassed Waterway solved a field gulley problem that was cutting into cropland on the Doering Bros. farm near Mora. Run-off water from a 130 acre watershed concentrated in a narrow, shallow ravine. With help from the Kanabec soil conservation district and U. S. Soil Conservation Service Technicians Jerry Sullivan and Fred Wahlstrom, the Doerings put in a grassed waterway. After construction, they applied 2½ tons lime and 300 pounds of 5-20-20 fertilizer broadcast and disked the area. Then they seeded a grass-legume mixture with oats. By fall, they had a good grass cover.

A Good, Soil Conserving Crop Rotation can "build for the future," says Donald W. Johnson, Litchfield, cooperator in the Meeker county soil conservation district. "On our farm," he says, "we increased crop yields by a third by having grasses and legumes in the rotation and using enough fertilizer. One year, we reduced grass and legume acreage and yields declined." Johnson's conservation plan also includes 25 acres of wildlife protection area.

Rolling Land which is contour-stripped is easier to farm and harvest than flat fields where there's poor drainage, according to Norris and Irvin Dahl, cooperators in the Chippewa soil conservation district. Norris recently told Bob Anderson, SCS soil conservationist that there have been times when there was a good crop on his flat land, but there was so much standing water the crop couldn't be harvested.

Trees in a woodlot are like figures in a bank book for Erland Lampl, farmer near Blackberry in Itasca county. By selective harvesting—cutting only the "ripe" trees—Lampl has sold about $9300 worth of timber in poles, piling and lumber over the past five years. All this came from a 40-acre timber tract. These results are possible only with good timber management, says Floyd Colburn, Itasca county forestry agent.

Rugged Concrete Streets
STAND THE TEST OF TIME!

The record of performance of concrete streets in cities throughout America is proof that concrete can really "take it." Many fine old concrete streets have served dependably for a quarter of a century or more and are still good for years of low-annual-cost service.

Concrete's outstanding durability means that you, the taxpayer, pay less per year for concrete streets. That's because in addition to their long service, concrete streets are moderate in first cost and cost little to maintain. There's no periodic shutdown for patching and resurfacing on rugged concrete streets.

You get an added safety bonus with concrete streets. Concrete's gritty, skid-resistant surface permits quicker, safer stops, wet or dry. At night concrete's light-colored surface reflects much more light than other pavements. You can see farther and better on concrete.

ONE FLOURY ROMANCE

By Don Wood

"ELLEN WEBSTER, I've known you girl and woman for twenty years. The only time you ever acted like this before was when you fell in the creek with your best party dress on."

"Something is wrong with you. What is it?"

"Why, nothing is wrong, Aunt Abby. What makes you ask?"

Abby snorted in disdain at such a disclaimer and gathered an armload of dishes from the shelf. If Ellen did not choose to tell, she's just have to find out by herself.

Even allowing for the fact that Ellen had brought a young man along for the week end, she was acting strangely. Abby thought again of the letter Ellen had written.

"I'd like to bring Jim Brown along, Aunty," Ellen had written. "He works in the office with me. He's never been in the country, though, and I'm not sure just how he'll like it."

Abby guessed that Ellen was very worried about how Jim would like the week end. Apparently she liked this young man very much.

The lunch that first day was a success, of sorts. Jim made loud claims that Abby was the best cook in the world, eating heartily. But Ellen kept swinging the conversation back to city affairs. Abby thought she saw a hint of worry pass Jim's face during one of Ellen's too-bright conversations. Ellen was trying too hard, Abby opined to herself. She rose from the table and shooed the two outside.

It was well past mid-afternoon when the two came back to the house. They walked side by side. Not arm in arm, Abby noted. She laid down on the sofa and pulled a shawl over her shoulders as they entered. Ellen hurried to her.

"Aunty! Aren't you feeling well?"

"Chicken's in the oven. Just make some biscuits and you'll be ready. If you don't mind, I'll go lie down. You might bring a tray later."

From the kitchen came sounds of rattling pans. Abby listened intently. She could hear Jim's voice. Occasionally Abby heard Ellen's laugh.

The knock on her bedroom came at last. Ellen stood with a tray in her hands. A much calmer Ellen, even if she was a bit mussed up and flushed.

"Supper, Aunty?"

"Ought to. I spent enough years teaching you," Abby bit into her third biscuit and smiled at Ellen. The younger woman smiled back. The old comradeship was back in its place. Abby picked up a chicken bone and pointed it toward her niece.

Abby Elliston watched her niece leave the room. She sank back with a sigh. Things would work out now. Sophistication was fine, in its place. But to catch a man, there was nothing quite as good as flour on a girl's nose.

GROWING WITH YOUR CHILD

Institute of Child Welfare
University of Minnesota

Is It True?

Young people like to be sure of things. They like to have clear-cut "yes" or "no" answers to everything. They like to store facts neatly away into mental cubbyholes, with labels which will help them to find them quickly and easily later. The more one knows about a subject the more difficult it becomes to give quick, simple "pat" answers. Consequently, by the time a person is old enough to be a parent or a teacher, he or she is less inclined to answer with unqualified "yes" or "no".

Adult - child conversations, therefore, resemble a sort of intellectual hop-scotch with the children tossing the little question pellets and the adults hopping about and skirting gingerly among the marked-out areas for answers. To score success, answers must satisfy—either being meaningful, or by using diversion tactics. Diversion tactics have the merit of stalling for time and also of encouraging boys and girls to find out more things for themselves.

"Is it true that stripes on zebras are painted? Here a simple "no" can be truthful, but a close-up look at the zoo zebra with his hair growing in vivid stripes can lead to a long-remembered explanation of the camouflage protection these stripes afford, and of nature's plan in giving animals what they need for survival.

"Is it true that the hippopotamus baby drinks milk?" A quick "yes" could follow, but how much more interesting is a more qualified answer, as for example: "yes, a hippopotamus is a mammal and all mamals drink milk, but the most interesting part is that he drinks it under water—he nurses under water."

"Is it true that the vacuum sweeper eats dirt?" Here both a "yes" and "no" are needed, or still better is a "show." Even the two year old can get something (if no more than relief from a fear of the sweeper) from seeing where the dirt goes and how to turn the sweeper on and off.

Best answers to children's questions are short but not too short. They satisfy just to the point of whetting their appetites for more questions. For, be the person nine or ninety, to live richly mean never to lose this urge to ask "is it true?"

THE MINNESOTA STORY

Prepared by the

FIRST PRIZE FOR DUST

While Minnesota was still a territory, an intense rivalry developed among the large towns, particularly between Minneapolis and St. Paul, over which should be the site of the territorial agricultural fair. This intercity ill feeling probably explains the unflattering report which appeared in the "St. Paul Advertiser" for October 18, 1856, about the territorial fair which had been held at Minneapolis from October 8 to 10.

The fair took place, the reporter said, "in a smooth oak opening to the heart of Minneapolis." A board fence enclosed the grounds, which comprised about a hundred acres and contained booths, stalls, and tables for the exhibits. "We will tell our readers what we saw or thought we saw through the blinding dust," he said.

Among the exhibits the St. Paul reporter found "a bushel or two of . . . potatoes with their respective biographies elaborated on dusty slips of paper attached thereto. . . In the Department of Fine Arts we saw several dusty Landscape views in water color . . . also twenty-four dusty Daguerreotypes . . . also highly colored paintings of the human face divine, slightly granulated with particles of dust.

"Among the incidents were the prevalence of dust," and "a dinner of cold pork with an infusion of gravel to assist digestion," the reporter said, and he added that he lost no time in shaking from his feet "the dust of Vanity Fair."

WE WANT FARMERS

Many appeals for settlers were published in the newspapers in Minnesota Territory. The following interesting paragraph appeared in the "Sauk Rapids Frontierman" on April 26, 1855.

"We have about as many lawyers in Minnesota as can well make an honest living. We have Merchants, Druggists, wholesale and retail, in countless numbers. We have clerks, salesmen, and exchange brokers, and bankers too numerous to mention.

"We have troops of keen eyed speculators . . . editors who quarrel, politicians who wrangle, sage legislators, stump orators, and any innumerable quantity of other smart men. . . . We are not authorized to say that our Territory is in actual need of any addition.

"But whom do we want?

"We want several thousand men who know how to work and who are willing to work. We want men who can cut rails, build fences and open farms . . . who by industry and enterprise, would in a few years make this beautiful region of prairie and woodland to blossom as the rose. We have not half enough working men. There is no better country on the face of the earth, in our humble judgement, than Minnesota for the laboring man. . . . But one hundred and sixty acres of land, and put up a log House on it and move into it. If you are a good farmer, a few years will find you surrounded with all the comforts and conveniences of life."

THE MEAN CANOE THIEF

"The meanest and most contemptible action we know of," fumed Jeremiah Russell, editor of the "Sauk Rapids Frontierman," in the issue of June 7, 1855, "is for a white man to Steal a Canoe. It is a common occurrence, for some people who are going to the Falls or St. Paul, and who are either too stingy or mean to pay for a passage down by land or purchase a canoe, to steal the first one they chance to see."

In early Minnesota the riverman's canoe was as precious a possession as the westerner's horse, and Russell went on to say: "We have lately been made a victim by one of this class of detestable beings—canoe stealers. It may seem cunning, and be a cheap way to go down stream, but if we ever find out the thief, he will learn to his satisfaction that 'Jordan am a hard road to travel'."

LUMBERJACK'S SKY PILOT

An account by an Episcopalian clergyman of a trip to "the pineries," as lumber camps were sometimes called in the nineteenth century, appears in the "Minneapolis Daily Tribune" of March 12, 1873. The Reverend George L. Chase, rector of Holy Trinity church in Minneapolis, reported that he had left Princeton, Minnesota, on February 21 "with the mercury at 30 below zero," and had driven twenty-five miles north through dense pine forests to find the first of the nine camps he visited.

At each camp, the rector said that he found "a quaint congregation of stalwart men, in costumes of many hues and patterns, a compromise between 'store-clothes' and the fringed buckskin shirt, leggins, and moccasins of a native son of the forest."

Upon Chase's arrivaly at each camp, word was sent to neighboring lumberjacks so that they might gather to hear him speak. The minister was usually "gratified to find some singers among the crew, whose hearty rendering of some familiar hymns lent variety and fervor to the brief, simple services which perceded the sermon."

At a camp which we reached in the evening, one of the men set off to notify the next camp of his coming, but the minister "feared that his errand through cold and darkness would be fruitless." An hour or two later, however, the man returned "at the head of a procession of twenty lumbermen who had followed him, Indian file, on a trail through the woods. My congregation now numbered about sixty men," he wrote, "some filling the 'deacon-seat,' some lying on the bunks, some standing. The circumstances were to me particularly cheering."

The men who spent the long winters in the woods were very glad to receive news from the outside world, and Chase said, "I must testify once more to the warmth of the welcome which I invariably met with at a logging camp."

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Additional information or assistance on veterans benefits may be obtained by writing or visiting the VA Contact Representatives at the Minot VA Hospital, or the Bismarck or Grand Forks VA offices.

Q—I sold my GI house because I had to move to another climate for reasons of health. My GI loan eligibility has been restored by VA. Do I have to use this restored entitlement to buy another house, or may I use it for a GI business loan instead?

A—You may use your restored GI loan entitlement for a business loan, if you wish. In fact, it may be used for any purpose authorized by law; a home loan, farm loan or business loan.

Q—I have been totally and permanently disabled for more than six months, and I've just applied for a waiver of premiums on my GI insurance policy. Will the waiver become effective retroactively, to the date I first became disabled?

A—No. The waiver is made effective from the premium due date following the date the six months of continuous total disability commenced.

Q—I am in school under the Korean GI Bill with an objective of engineer. I would like to drop one of my subjects, mathematics, and take physics instead. Would this be considered my one-and-only change of course allowed under the law?

A—No. You have the right to change subjects. It will not be considered a change of course, so long as your basic objective doesn't change.

Q—Are peace time veterans entitled to compensation for service-connected disabilities? I know they are not entitled to pensions for non-service-connected disabilities.

A—Yes. Peacetime veterans may be entitled to compensation for service-connected disabilities. However, the rate of compensation for non-extra-hazardous service disabilities is 80 percent of the rate paid to wartime veterans.

HOME Garden TIPS

Care of Garden Equipment

When the garden season is over, it will pay to clean all the soil off the tools and hang them up for the winter. Remove any rusted surfaces with sandpaper or emery cloth. To prevent rust, coat the metal parts with oil. A bucket filled with sand to which crank case oil has been added is excellent for cleaning and oiling hoes, spades, trowels and forks. Work the tools back and forth in the oily sand until they are clean.

• • •

Now is the time to take an inventory of all broken handles and damaged tools and make plans for replacement before next spring.

• • •

Check your prunning tools. You probably will need to sharpen your shears and saws so they will be doing a good job for you next spring.

• • •

Don't leave your garden hose out all winter. Drain the hose and repair all cracks or leaks. Roll it up on a reel or other support for winter storage.

• • •

Be sure your fertilizer spreader is clean so it will not corrode during the winter. Empty all sprayers and dusters before putting them away.

• • •

Take an inventory of your spray materials. Discard those that are several years old. Store liquid chemicals in a place that will be above freezing and keep fertilizer in a dry place. Be sure everything is labeled and any poisonous materials out of the reach of children.

Plan for Hospital Rehabilitation Center Advances

Institution Officials Make Inspection Tour in Twin Cities Last Week

A further development of the plan of Northwestern Hospital to set up a rehabilitation center at the hospital took place last Thursday and Friday when a committee of six was sent to make a study of similar centers in Twin City Hospitals.

Making the trip were hospital board members Frank Tunberg and Don Lawrence; Doctors Paul Wendt and George Martin; Fred Endres, chief engineer of the hospital; and Harold W. Peterson, administrator.

Rehabilitation centers visited were those of Oakridge Hospital, Fairview Hospital and Kenny Institute of Minneapolis and St. John's Lutheran Hospital of St. Paul. The committee also conferred with the Minnesota department of health.

Summaries of facts learned are being prepared at the hospital for action by the board of trustees. Members of the committee regarded this visit as of the highest possible practical value to the future success of the rehabilitation unit, setting up of which will require some construction in the physical therapy and second floor sections of the hospital.

It will also involve a period of special education out of the city for the nurse supervisor chosen to be in charge. The whole program will be organized with as much dispatch as possible but its progress may be hampered by the present heavy use of the hospital because of the high prevalence of influenza.

Dick Tretsven of the ADA staff discussed the necessity of a public relations program in promoting the dairy industry, and Clyde D. Lake told of numerous dairy food festivals held thruout the state with great success. Stan Connelly outlined the 1958 ADA promotion campaign, which he said will include the use of TV, radio, newspapers, magazines and billboards.

The program closed with a discussion by Conlon of the current status of the dairy industry and of the intensive efforts of the ADA to develop enlarged markets for dairy products.

At the morning session, talks were given by Andy Erickson, and by Stuart McLeod, president of the Northwest Dairy Improvement association, who told of the Dairy Day festival held in Thief River Falls last June.

Three-stall Farm Garage Destroyed

Heavy Loss from Fire on Kermit Maldment Farm

A three-stall garage, 40 x 40 feet on the Kermit Maldment farm north of Mavie was destroyed by fire yesterday. With the contents, including a tractor and about 2,500 pounds of alfalfa and sweet clover seed, the loss was substantial and was only partially covered by insurance.

The fire occurred during the noon hour. Mr. Maldment had completed an overhaul job on the tractor and had connected the battery charger before going to the house for dinner. A half hour later Mrs. Maldment, looking out the window, first noticed flames and smoke emerging from the building. The Goodridge fire truck just recently acquired responded to a call for aid.

A jeep and some equipment was successfully removed but much other equipment, including tools, was destroyed. Neighbors came to the assistance of the Maldments but because of telephone trouble the alarm was delayed.

TRF School Board OK's Consolidation of Mavie Districts

Next Step in Procedure Is for Three Districts to Petition for Election

Another step toward the consolidation of three rural school districts in the Mavie area with the Thief River Falls district, No. 18, was taken Monday evening when, at a special meeting, the board of District 18 voted to approve the consolidation.

The next step in the legal procedure is for residents of the three affected districts, Nos. 15 and 46 in Pennington county and 76 in Marshall, to petition the county superintendent of schools to arrange for a special election on the issue. If the majority of voters approve the plan, the merger will become effective.

Representatives of the three Mavie districts were present at Monday's meeting to urge approval of the consolidation, while a group of Goodridge people spoke in opposition.

If approved by voters of the three Mavie districts, the merger will become effective on July 1, 1958.

Princess Kay Attends 4-H Banquet

"U" Man Says All Seed Should Be Certified

A University of Minnesota agronomist today called for certification of all farm crop seed which is bought and sold.

"One hundred percent certification is the only way in which we can be sure that seed keeps its varietal identity and purity," W. M. Myers, head of the University agronomy department, said during today's session of the International Crop Improvement association's annual meeting in the [illegible] hotel in St. Paul.

He explained that "with most field crops, varieties are developed through public breeding programs. We in the breeding field have a responsibility to see that our product reaches the farmer in the form in which it was developed. Certification is the only method we know which will make that possible."

Complete certification would mean that farmers would plant nearly 100 percent certified grass and legume seed, since seed of these crops needs to be bought every year, Myers said. With grains like oats, however, the farmer normally [illegible] his own seed and couldn't be expected to buy new seed more often than every 3 to 5 years.

In Minnesota, if farmers planted new, certified oats seed every 4 years, on the average, we would need four times as much certified oats as we are now producing in the state.

"1. There must be more education and promotion of certified seed. We have a good product to sell; all we need to do is push it. The crop improvement associations can't do all of this, but they can take part in the educational work and promote certified seed in general.

"2. As crop improvement people, we must continue to study our procedures and make sure we aren't following any rules that restrict the orderly marketing of seed. We have already made several advances in this respect. For example, the recent provisions for interstate seed certification were a big help.

"3. We must continue to be sure that we are certifying a superior roduct from a genetic standpoint. We can't just certify a crop. The variety itself must be certified. In some crops, there are no superior varieties yet, but such varieties need to be developed.

"4. We must continue to work toward more acceptance of certified seed by marketing agencies. The associations are not selling agencies themselves. For best results, the seed must be marketed by a specialist in seed marketing. Ideally, this would be someone in the seed industry. But if the present agencies can't rise to the need of selling certified seed, some others will take over the job. There may be more cooperatives taking over this function in the future.

"5. Our certified seed producers must see their place in this program. One common complaint now is that the average producer sells seed to his neighbors at the same price he receives from the marketing agency. Then when the agency comes back to the neighborhood to market the seed, it finds farmers have already bought their seed at wholesale prices.

"6. We must adjust our seed production programs for large volume. To get four to five times as much certified seed planted, we need large-scale seed production. This means we must have more, specialized—and larger—seed producers. If this change is coming, we must be sure we don't inhabit it."

A sale of tax-forfeited lands in the county was arranged for Friday, December 6. To be offered are ten tracts in the rural areas, six in Thief River Falls and a few in St. Hilaire and Goodridge.

County Engineer Joseph Seidel was instructed to advertise for bids on a new motor grader, the bids to be opened Tuesday, December 3.

At the request of the state department of agriculture, the board voted to extend the term of office of county weed inspector now held by Ed Moren, from ten months to twelve. Similar action has been taken by Red Lake county, which Moren also serves.

Ernest Swanson of the Highlanding community was appointed as the ninth member of the county agricultural extension committee.

Senior Class Play Given on Tuesday Highly Enjoyable

Despite the fact that illness necessitated numerous adjustments in the cast, members of the Lincoln high school senior class Tuesday evening presented an outstanding performance of their class play, "The People versus Maxine Lowe", in the school auditorium under the direction of Norman Arveson.

HIS TYPE OF TYPIST

By Georgia C. Nicholas

MR. GARDINA thought he was smart when he hired a typist to help him in his stationery store. She could keep busy when business was slow. So he ordered a girl from the local business college and she wasn't much of a looker which disappointed him only slightly because he figured maybe she was a better worker. Maybe she wouldn't always be thinking about her hair-do and her make-up and all the new clothes she would buy with her next pay check.

He soon found out that her best curves were her error curves. Mr. Gardina had never done any dictating but it was a relief not to have to type his own letters, punch by forefinger punch. At least that's what he thought before he tried to read that first letter. The girl pleaded nervousness because she had never taken dictation from a man before. In the school their teachers were women. She did the letter over and it took her nearly an hour to get a copy he was willing to send out.

"Please don't give up on me, Mr. Gardina," she begged. "I want to learn to be a steno, then I want to learn to be a secretary. A secretary can make wonderful money."

"What's the difference between a steno and a secretary?" Mr. Gardina asked, just to show the girl he could be patient and friendly.

"Oh, Mr. Gardina, don't you know? They told us at the school that a stenographer takes dictation but a secretary takes over. Isn't that cute?"

"Very cute," Mr. Gardina replied and thought about it. He even laughed a little to pamper her. He found out in the course of time that the young lady knew everything. If you didn't believe it, you only had to ask her.

Yes, she knew all the answers but she couldn't spell them. She blamed it on either the typewriter or the dictionary. Mr. Gardina told her one day, "Don't forget that the dictionary is in the house, and you're welcome to anything you find in it. Don't hesitate to help yourself."

One day after lunch Mr. Gardina came back and found the store locked. This was puzzling until he realized that he had gone four and a half minutes over his allotted noon hour. When he unlocked the door and stepped inside, he saw a note on the typewriter. "Mr. Gardina," it read. At least she had learned how to spell his name. "Your wife phoned that you're to pick her up at the cline."

Cline.

CLINC.

CLINC.

The girl didn't even know that the slang word for jail was spelled with a k at the end. He figured it was some kind of a gag and called up his friend, the sheriff. He gave him holy hades for locking up his wife without sufficient cause.

"You're crazy," the sheriff agreed. "I've got the note right here. It says my wife phoned that I am to pick her up at the C L I N C. Clink."

The sheriff roared. Mr. Gardina had to hold the receiver a full foot away from his ear. "You dope, you stupe," the sheriff finally said. "All your typist did was to leave the letter 'i' out of the word 'clinic.' My wife's over there too. Didn't you read your paper last night? It's the day they have the blood bank at the clinic. In war and peace," he orated, "we've got to have plasma. And the way you've let your blood pressure rise, you'd better get over there and donate a pint yourself."

402 Grade Pupils Are Absent Today

Schools Close Today at 2 for Student Convention

It was announced today that Thief River Falls public schools will close this afternoon at 2 o'clock and remain closed Friday, not because of the flu situation, but because of the state student council convention in progress here today thru Saturday morning.

Paul Anderson, secondary school director, stated that absences in Lincoln high school because of illness declined from 271 Wednesday to 222 this morning, including 114 in junior high and 108 in senior high.

The situation in grade schools, however, worsened today, a total of 402 pupils being absent compared to 358 Monday morning. Included are 127 in Knox school, 120 in Northrop and 155 in Washington.

Snow Today Melts as It Hits Ground

Deer Hunters Are Hoping for More of White Stuff

Local and area Nimrods anxiously awaiting the opening of the deer season were probably overjoyed to look out the window at the white stuff falling this morning but the weatherman does not say the snow will come in any great amounts, nor does he say what has fallen will stay.

Up to 9 a.m. today .30 inch of moisture had fallen in the form of snow which melted almost as fast as it fell. Streets were a little slushy and sidewalks made walking treacherous business.

Temperatures for the remainder of the week are predicted to stay about the same as in days past—highs in the mid-thirties or low forties, with lows in the twenties or low thirties. Today's low was 32.

The KTRF forecast: light rain or snow and colder today, with highs from 35-42 and lows tonight from 25-32. Skies will be cloudy and temperatures will be slightly colder tonight and Friday. Winds will be northerly, light to moderate. The Saturday outlook, incidentally, is for continued cold and deer hunters would be wise to wear their wool longies in their safari to the brush.

SUNDAY SERMON

Rev. Robert H. Harper

SENT FOR—COULDN'T GO

MANY years ago, the writer was asked to be the representative of his alma mater at some educational meeting in a section of our country that he had never seen. But he did not go because of previous engagements at his church. It was a bitter disappointment. Now, having been in the section a number of times, the time when he was sent for and couldn't go brings not even painful recollection.

But how often in life a man has been sent for and could not go when the failure meant a life-long loss to him! And brought sad memories to the after years! Think of the dismal case of a man to whom a great opportunity came but which he could not undertake because he was not prepared. Manifestly, the time for preparation is not the time when the opportunity comes.

Worst of all will be his lot if he is invited to the great wedding feast and cannot go because he is not prepared or if, venturing brazenly in, is found without a wedding garment. Now is the time by right living to prepare for the time when you will be sent for to go into the presence of the great King.

Church Sponsors Movie on Monday

Under the sponsorship of the First Baptist church, the motion picture, "Preacher's Kid," will be shown by Mel Johnson of Minneapolis in the Lincoln high school auditorium next Monday evening, November 11, at 8 o'clock. It was announced that the public is invited to attend, and no admission will be charged.

Hunters, please use caution!

Only One Traffic Mishap in City to Date This Week

The lone mishap occurred about 2:20 p.m. Wednesday by the city water tank on E. 2nd st. when W. J. Marquis, city, was backing a Land O' Lake truck onto E. 2nd st. preparatory to driving onto the city scales.

In backing onto the street Marquis hit a car driven by Ronnie A. Udstrand, city, causing an estimated $180 damage to the Udstrand car. No damage was caused to the truck. Marquis was tagged for failure to yield right-of-way.

No traffic accidents were reported by either the sheriff's office or highway patrol.

Only 2 Appear in Municipal Court

2 Others Forfeit Bonds on Speeding Charges

Only two cases were heard in municipal court here Monday before Judge H. O. Chommie in one of the briefest sessions on record.

Two persons also forfeited bond on speeding charges. Reuben J. Halvorson, Roseau, was arrested for speeding by the highway patrol and forfeited $17 bond, while John R. Dalton, Greenbush, forfeited $25 bond after an arrest on the same charge by city police.

The two cases heard were those of Dennis Stucy, Oklee, arrested by highway patrol for having illegal brakes, and a Middle River juvenile arrested by city police for driving without a license.

Stucy pleaded guilty and was fined $15 suspended, $4 costs paid, while the Middle River juvenile paid a $29 fine after pleading guilty.

Marshall County Sells Ditch Bonds

Minneapolis Firm Buyer at 3.80 Pct. Interest

J. M. Dain Co., and Allison-Williams Co., Minneapolis, were the successful bidders of $62,000 in Marshall county drainage bonds at an advertised sale by the county board of commissioners in Warren Tuesday.

The Minneapolis financial firms bid 3.80 per cent interest with a $12 premium for the entire issue. Only one other bid was made for the issue, this being a joint bid by the State Bank of Warren and American National Bank of St. Paul. This bid was for 3.90 per cent interest and $81 premium.

Commissioners approved a resolution formally requesting federal aid for the 1958 road construction program which includes the first bituminous surfacing of Marshall county roads together with considerable grading. The federal aid request was for County State Aid Roads 4, 5, 7, 3 and 6.

Commissioners set December 2 at 10 a.m. as the date for the annual forfeited tax land sale for Marshall county.

Four Prowlers on All-conference Football Eleven

Selection Is Made by Coaches and Directors from Senior Players

Athletic directors and coaches of the Northwest Conference—Thief River Falls, Crookston, East Grand Forks and Bemidji—held their annual fall meeting at Erskine on Monday night.

Among matters that were taken up, acted upon and agreed to was the selection of the All-conference all-senior football team. Named to the all-conference team of eleven players were four from Thief River Falls, three from the conference champion Crookston Pirates, three from Bemidji, and one from East Grand Forks. Prowler players named were Jim Bennes, Ken Sauve, Jim Nelson and Dave Rasmussen.

Testifying to the all-round strength of the Crookston team, the conference champions, was the fact that only three Pirates, Phil Sanders, Ken Wold, and Cliff Svedahl were selected to the all-conference eleven.

Few Are Retiring Merely to Collect Social Security

Representative of Grand Works Office Will Visit City on Tuesday, Nov. 12

"Our latest local figures show that the great majority of full-time workers retire because they are in ill health or because they have lost their jobs. Few people are retiring from full-time work 'just to collect social security payments,'" Walter Kistler, district manager of the Grand Forks social security office said today.

A representative of the Grand Forks office will be in Thief River Falls, at the city auditorium on Tuesday, November 12 at 10:00 a.m. Individuals may contact him for information, or to file claims.

Under the social security act, persons who continue working and earning over $1,200 per year are not eligible to receive their full social security benefits. Since in almost every case a person's income is sharply reduced when he retires, social security benefits were designed to partially replace this lost income. When the law was passed, it was thought better to pay more adequate benefits to those whose working days were over than to spread the money thinner by also paying benefits to men over 65, or to women over 62, who were still working and who had suffered no substantial loss of income.

Kistler reminded those who intend to work part time after applying for old-age insurance benefits to get full information at their nearest social security office as to how their earnings might affect their benefits. Substantial earnings could mean the loss of some if not all their benefits. However, after one reaches 72 there is no longer any restriction upon his earnings. This is particularly important to the self-employed, many of whom never retire and who otherwise might never receive any return on their contributions.

Traffic Death Rate Declines in Past 20 Years

The odds on living through a highway journey are more than twice as good as they were 20 years ago, the Automotive Safety Foundation said Monday in Detroit, Michigan.

The accident fatality rate in 1937 was 14.7 deaths per 100 million vehicle miles, said Gen. Levin H. Campbell Jr., chairman of the foundation's board of trustees. Today the accident fatality rate is 6 deaths per million vehicle miles, a drop of more than 60 per cent, he said.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Hopes High; Prospects Low

Unless this area experiences a hard freeze or a moderate snow, or a combination of both, the deer hunters that go out on Saturday to open the 1957 big season will find the hunting to be tough and hazardous and wet.

It is evident, from personal observations, and the comments of veteran outdoorsmen, that the deer herd has suffered a decline from the peak years of a couple seasons ago. An aerial survey of the Mud Lake refuge reveals that that area, due to the extreme wetness, is not nearly as heavily poulated with deer as in former years. Since the refuge has been opened to public hunting, some years ago, Mud Lake has been a "bonanza" for the deer hunters, especially on opening days. But not this year. Except for the Kelly ridge, in the northeast section of Mud Lake, the refuge does not have very many deer.

Even that vast area around Grygla and Fourtown and Thorhult does not have the deer in the numbers of previous years. Luke Knight, who is an experienced and alert big game hunter, and who has an opportunity to observe the deer while he makes his daily trips with the mail to Grygla and Fourtown, reported "I've never experienced a year in all my years on the route when I've seen so few deer."

But regardless of these pessimistic reports, our advice is that the hunters should go out after deer, have fun, fall into a water-filled ditch, take deep breaths of the fresh air, eat a hearty lunch, etc. And if you don't get a deer? Well, so what?

Marking Time

Prowler varsity athletes, on the major sports level, are marking time until the opening of the winter practice schedule. According to the State High School league regulations, practice session for the 1957-58 basketball season cannot begin until Monday, November 11th.

Prowler cage coach Al Adams stated that it was just as well that the local squad isn't eligible to practice until Monday for he wouldn't be able to have a complete squad on hand, so many of the prospective squad members have been struck down by the flu.

And, of course, hockey coach Johnny Matchefts will be handicapped in calling his squad together until this area experiences a solid freeze, enabling the icement to get out on the ice of the frozen sloughs or river bends.

He'll be a Great One

We are in receipt of an item from Lee Bohnet of the University of North Dakota's publicity staff giving coach Marv Helling's impressions of the progress of Oklee's Bud Bjorneraas.

Bjorneraas, who was an all-state selection while playing with Oklee high school a couple of seasons ago, and who transferred to North Dakota after spending his freshman year at Minnesota, is expected to become a great football player for the Sioux.

Says Sioux varsity coach Helling: "Bud is a very strong line candidate and has given every indication he will be one of the top linemen at UND in future years. His fine high school coach, Roy Nukkonen certainly was a thorough teacher."

Helling added: "We are certainly happy to have Bjorneraas on our squad and his size (5-10 and 215 pounds) and speed will make a valuable guard or tackle prospect.

Bjorneraas was a member of UND freshman team this past season, being ineligible for varsity play.

It Ended Quickly

For all practical purposes, the 1957 duck hunting season, which opened on Oct. 5th, closed in these parts as of Friday evening, Nov. 8th. Legally the duck hunting season will continue on un-until Dec. 13th.

With the opening of the big game season on Saturday morning, foolhardy indeed will be the hunter who ventures forth into the bogs and rush-filled swamps wearing duck-khaki hunting clothes. That hunter will be hazarding a rifle shot between the eyes or a shotgun slug between the shoulders. And as for a duck hunter wearing red clothing, well, he would look plenty silly to high-flying mallards. Mallards, and there are quite a number around here, are able to differentiate between the various kinds of grain; so a red-clad hunter would look like mountain. Or two mountains.

That there are ducks around here is evident by the limits that are being brought into town now and then. Russ Williams had a limit shoot on northern mallards east of town a couple of days ago. And Russ claims that he bagged a drake mallard that must have weighed in excess of four pounds, curl-tail and all. And Albert Cork, on Monday, downed a banded hen mallard on Monday.

Fact is, we expect that this territory will experience another "flight." There was a flight of ducks, mostly bluebills, on Friday and Saturday; but there should be a heavy concentration of mallards due here when the weather turns "rough."

Safety Tips Offered State Deer Hunters

"More than 180,000 deer hunters are anticipating the start of the 1957 deer season opening November 9. For all it means participation in one of Minnesota's finest recreational outlets. However, for a few it will mean unnecessary grief, death and crippling."

This was the prediction issued today by Lee Kuluvar, state firearms safety coordinator. However, he added a highly optimistic note that should help give the families left at home peace of mind. "Our casualty rate for the past three deer seasons has been exceptionally low with a two death average per season. Compared to the previous three-year average of eight deaths by gun shot per season this is really a big improvement. It appears that deer hunters are starting to realize their individual responsibility to see to it their hunting is done safely." Each fall, before the major seasons open, Kuluvar lists specific safety pointers for the hunters based on actual study of Minnesota's previous accidents for that species. This year Kuluvar's deer hunting primer consists of the following 12 questions each hunter should answer "yes" to before the hunt:

(One) Is your rifle unloaded right now, are you familiar with your rifle, and have you "sighted in" your rifle? (Two) Are you familiar with your visual capabilities and willing to act accordingly? (Three) Have you got adequate clothing, footgear, compass, waterproof matches, rope, knife, etc.? (Four) Do you know the country you are to hunt, do you have it mapped, do the folks at home or camp know approximately where you will be hunting? (Five) Will you refrain from even shouldering your rifle until you are positive it is a deer by shape and form not color? (Six) Are you willing to pass up a deer whenever there is some doubt about the backstop or what is beyond the target? (Seven) Are you willing to give up a deer quietly should any dispute arise? (Eight) Do you know all your partners hunting safety habits so well you are willing to put your life in their hands? (Nine) If you are taking a beginner (less than five years deer hunting experience) are you willing to assume the responsibility that goes with taking a beginner? (Ten) Are you willing to get off the roads and hunt the back woods? (Eleven) Are you hunting mainly for the sport and not for the meat? (Twelve) Have you protected your fellow hunters with adequate public liability insurance?

This year's Antarctic tractor train departed from Little America for Byrd Station, 645 miles distant, on Oct. 1. The Navy believes this to be the first time in Antarctic history such an operation of this magnitude has been launched so early in the season.

Park Sticker Sale Higher This Year

Sales During 1957 Hit New High of $125,255

A sharp upswing in 1957 cash receipts by the division of state parks over the four previous years was revealed today in a report on the fiscal affairs of the division to George A. Selke, commissioner, by U. W. Hella, parks director.

Receipts from automobile entry stickers in 1957 reached an all time high of $125,255 compared with $96,451 in 1954, $115,435 in 1955 and $114,463 in 1956.

Revenue operations, which include receipts in state parks from the sale of souvenirs, cabin rentals, camping fees, etc., scored their greatest gain with 1957 gross receipts of $291,702 compared with $191,202 in 1954, $218,623 in 1955 and $221,539 in 1956. An increase of more than $100,000 over 1954 receipts.

In his report, Hella pointed out that not more than 10% of the "revenue operations" receipts at the close of the 1957 fiscal year shall be used for construction or purchase of parks equipment. This is a provision of a law known as the "State Park Working Capital Fund." Any unencumbered balances, from this source, each year in June 30, in excess of $30,000, revert to the general revenue fund.

Sticker receipts are earmarked for improvements and park maintenance.

To Be Held in Trinity Church at Crookston

Pastors, choir directors, organists and others interested in church music from all of Northwestern Minnesota and Eastern North Dakota will attend a church music workshop and choral union on November 23 and 24 at the Trinity Lutheran church in Crookston. Professor Oscar Overby, director of the International Choral Union and an outstanding authority on Lutheran Church music, will be the clinician and director.

Saturday's clinic, November 23, beginning at 2:00 p.m. will include sessions on "Music and the Sunday School Teacher," "Children's Choir," "Junior Choir," and "Church Music as it Pertains to the Pastor, the Organist and Choir Directors." The choirs of Trinity Lutheran Church will demonstrate music of each type.

Sunday's sessions, November 24, beginning at 2:00 p.m. also will include discussion of the "Choir Director's Problems," and a choral union rehearsal and business meeting. A banquet will be held, in the church, at 6:00 p.m. Professor Overby will be the main speaker.

Over 200 singers are expected to participate in the choral union concert Sunday evening along with solo choirs from several area churches.

All sessions on Saturday and Sunday are open to anyone interested in Lutheran church music and its many phases. All correspondence concerning the workshop should be sent to T. W. Thorson, Box 214, Crookston, Minnesota.

Drivers License Division Is Active

License Suspensions in Nine Months Total 27,768

Driver license activity showed a substantial increase during September, according to G. A. Hatfield, director of the driver license division of the Minnesota highway department. The increase was noted in examinations, suspensions and revocations of licenses.

License revocations are up 1,19 over last year, while suspensions are up 8,536 to a 27,765 total through September 30.

Drivers examers were busy in September, the report shows. Through the first nine months of 1957, 115,186 written examinations were given throughout the state, compared to 108,455 during the same period last year.

During the same periods, 94,834 road tests were given in 1956, jumping to 99,765 in 1957. During September, 21,573 written and road tests were given.

During September 3,919 persons received letters from the department, reminding them that they were beginning to accumulate enough "points" to merit a warning that their licenses were in jeopardy. During the year 43,700 persons have received such warnings.

The First Contenental Marines were authorized on Nov. 10, 1775, and consisted of the "First and Second Battalion of American Marines".

Editorials . . .

"The truly honest man, here and there to be found, is not only without thought of legal, religious, or social compulsion, when he discharges an equitable claim against him; but he is without thought of self-compulsion. He does the right thing with a simple feeling of satisfaction in doing it, and is indeed impatient if anything prevents him from having the satisfaction of doing it."

—Herbert Spencer

Why Worry About Genius?

An internationally known biologist, serving at an Illinois university, is upset because a former assistant of his, doing his hitch in the armed forces, has been put to work as a clerk-stenographer. According to the professor this young fellow is "the outstanding mathematical genius I have encountered in 30 years of scientific research."

We can understand the good professor's reaction to the news when he learned that the army was not taking advantage of the capabilities of this young man. We do not share his concern however. Maybe this is as it should be.

The mathematical genius the Illinois professor is worried about is not going to be crippled permanently by a little military service as an ordinary fellow. As a matter of fact he might become a more useful genius to society if he does have to serve a few weeks as a kitchen police or as a latrine orderly.

In considering matters of this kind we naturally refer back to our own experiences. Our genius was not appreciated either, and in the recruit stage, we were sure we were being assigned to the shovel detail much too often.

The armed services have many shortcomings, but there is much to be said in their favor too. From our standpoint it is encouraging to know that a mathematical genius must prove himself the hard way and not be given preferential treatment because of his previous record, or the influence of a congressman.

We don't have to worry about the gifted young men who enter the military service. They will survive. The important thing is that all of us have a fair opportunity to prove ourselves.

Accept The Gift, Mamie

Big issue of the moment seems to be whether Mamie Eisenhower should accept as a gift a mink coat offered to her by a group of Maine trappers. We will go along with those who say the gift should be accepted, with thanks.

We are sure Mrs. Eisenhower is going to be able to survive the winter without this new mink coat, and, if she needs one, Dwight no doubt would be able and willing to provide it. The question of need may properly be [illegible] out.

We recall, a few presidents back, when some of us concluded our community should provide the turkey for the president's Thanksgiving dinner. The turkey was shipped. Delivery was acknowledged with thanks.

We would not have liked it if the turkey had been returned to us with a regret that gifts could not be accepted. And just to make the Maine trappers happy we think Mamie should accept the mink coat.

Three Cheers for Fido

Before launching Sputnik No. 2 the Russians released a picture of a dog in a space suit, the kind of dog we all like. This dog, we are led to believe, had frequently floated safely back to earth after being projected into space to heights of up to 130 miles.

Then came the announcement that a second space ship had been successfully launched, and that it carried with it a dog as a passenger. Pictures of the kind of a dog we all like, and the announcement of the launching of another "Moon", were released to hit the sensation-seeking metropolitan press in time for the usually dull Monday morning issues.

Now, as Sputnik No. 2 whirls around us several times a day, we think of it in terms of the kind of dog we all like, and hope that, somehow, Fido will get safely back home.

And let us not be surprized if the gullible metropolitan press soon carries a Russian-released picture of the kind of dog we all like, returning safely to its home after prowling through space at 18,000 miles an hour.

The Russians have declared their intention of visiting the real moon, and take it over as a Red satellite, by right of conquest. They may even say they were the first to discover it. They may arrange to have a few of the conquerors back in time to march in their annual parade, next year.

We say these things may happen because we know that the Russians are great show people.

By saying this we do not detract from their achievement in the field of science. We recognise their scientific achievements, but we think they are still greater as showmen. In their league Barnum would be a bat-boy.

Barnum acquired fame, and wealth, on the assumption that there is a fool born every minute. Barnum, good "pitchman" that he was, gained public confidence with a proven fact. Having secured that confidence he had little difficulty in cashing in on the credulity of his customers.

Great Achievement, But—

Uncle's atomic submarine, the Nautilus, travelled 300 miles and back under arctic ice, approaching closer to the north pole than any ship ever had. It was a great achievement and probably opens the door to new areas of development that in some ways compare favorably in importance with the launching of another moon.

We were disappointed, however, with the comments of the skipper of the Nautilus in giving his version of the importance of the achievement. He pointed out that it now would be possible to reach the north coast of Russia by traveling under the ice, and from that vantage point throw guided missiles at the unsuspecting Russians.

For that dumb statement we recommend that Captain Anderson be forthwith busted and returned to school for further instruction on the importance of silence.

Captain Anderson's statement will be quoted thruout Russia as proof of our intentions to destroy them. And the Russian people will react exactly as we would react if a Russian submarine commander should brag of having discovered a new way of reaching our coasts safely, within easy bombing range of our cities.

Such incidents enable us to understand more clearly why the officials in our state department, charged with the responsibility of keeping us out of war, have such a haggard look.

We Have Secrets

It comes as somewhat of a shock to us to learn that we may soon be exchanging secrets with our friends about atom bombs and missiles and things like that. President Eisenhower and Prime Minister McMillan of England seem to have reached such a tentative agreement.

The shock is not due to fear of the consequences of such an exchange of information. The thing that surprises us is that an exchange of secrets is looked upon as something new.

We are surprised to learn, for instance, that we have been withholding secret information. It has been our impression that we have been doing a very thorough job of revealing all of our military secrets through regular press and radio releases. All an enemy spy would have to do to learn all about us would be to buy our newspapers and listen to our broadcasts.

It is thrilling to learn that there may be some things we have not been told. Life may still become exciting.

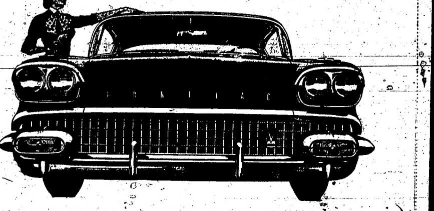
A NEW KIND OF CAR IS BORN!

At Your Pontiac Dealer's Nov. 9



BOLDEST ADVANCE IN 50 YEARS!

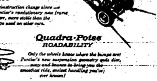
THE GOLDEN JUBILEE CAR!

It's a revolution on wheels—boldly planned from the very beginning as a Golden Anniversary showpiece for Pontiac and General Motors.

This one you really must see—here is a car unlike any you have ever known! This Golden Jubilee Pontiac is actually an all-new breed of cars—in four brilliant series and 16 sleek models covering virtually every price bracket.

In all of them you'll find engineering advances so daringly different yet so basically sound that they will trigger the next big change in automobile design. You'll find a few of these ideas illustrated here, but even they can't begin to tell the full story.

Why not be among the first to discover the newest. When you meet this bold new Pontiac, you're in for a driving thrill that is impossible to duplicate in cars of conventional design. So make it a point to see your Pontiac dealer soon and prove to yourself that no car in history ever left yesterday so far behind!



Aero-Frame STABILITY

Here is the biggest basic construction change since the early days of motoring. Pontiac's revolutionary new frame design is lighter, stronger, more stable than the conventional box type used on other cars.

Quadra-Poise ROADABILITY

Only the wheels know where the bumps are! Pontiac's new suspension geometry ends dive, sway and bounce to bring you the smoothest ride, easiest handling you've ever known!

Ever-Level Air Ride*

The most perfect suspension system ever designed—and Pontiac's revolutionary Aero-Frame is specifically designed for it! Air cushions on all four wheels literally float you over the bumps . . . keep the car perfectly level regardless of load or road!

*An extra-cost option.

Circles-of-Steel SAFETY

Pontiac's completely new body construction surrounds you with girder steel protection above, below, fore and aft. Now you can drive with wonderful new peace of mind!

Tempest 395* PERFORMANCE

Try Pontiac's new jeweled-action response! Scores of exclusive engineering innovations make Pontiac's hefty power plant a miracle of smoothness . . . and you can choose from four horsepower ratings including Tri-Power Carburetion* and Fuel Injection*.

In the language of the timberman, softwoods are trees that bear cones and hardwoods are trees that bear broad, deciduous leaves. The terms often mislead the layman, since softwoods such as long-leaf pine yield lumber harder than such hardwoods as the tulip tree and cottonwood.

Centennial Contest for Poems and Plays

Cash prize contests in poetry and play writing in honor of Minnesota's 1958 Statehood Centennial were announced November 6 by James Lombard, chairman of the Centennial committee on the arts.

The contests are among a series being conducted in the field of fine arts as part of Minnesota's 100th birthday celebration. Contests announced earlier include music composition, both symphonic and chamber music, and distinguished books.

Twelve cash awards are offered in the play writing contest. They are $300, $150 and $50 for full-length adult play; $200, $125 and $50 for full-length high school play; $200, $125 and $50 for a children's theater play; and $100, $50 and $25 for a one-act play.

The contest is limited to persons born or now living in Minnesota. Theme of the play need not necessarily relate to Minnesota or the Centennial.

Scripts should be sent to Frank M. Whiting, Centennial theater and dance division subcommittee chairman, 105 Shevlin Hall, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis 14. Deadline is May 1, 1958.

Poetry contest rules require all entries to relate in some way to Minnesota, past or present, and entries must be of 60 lines or less.

First prize in the poetry contest, which is open to anyone, is $100. Other prizes in order are $75, $50, $25 and 10 prizes of $10 each. Each contestant may submit only one poem and entries must be unsigned, but accompanied with the author's name, address, title and first line of the poem in an attached envelope.

Manuscripts must be postmarked not later than March 1, 1958, and sent to the Minnesota Centennial Poetry Contest, Box 6119, Minneapolis 24.

WILDLIFE in Minnesota

by JIM KIMBALL

"You extended the pheasant season—give us farmers a break and move the deer season up a week too." "If we cannot get permission to hunt from the farmers, how can we shoot all the pheasants you claim are there—you and your goofy laws." "You call yourselves conservationists—well you sure are conserving the pheasants with this trespass law." "I agree the pheasant season should be extended but why didn't you include our area." "Those who don't like the trespass law and are crabbing about its inconvenience don't belong in the field in the first place." "We feel the early deer season is not fair to the game, the hunter or the area in general." "I hope someone wakes up in St. Paul."

The number of letters received or the number of signatures at the bottom is not nearly as important as what each letter says. For example, whenever any change is made in a regulation, letters pour in and nearly all are in protest. Actually, most of the sportsmen may like the change but contented people are not stirred to letter-writing. Thousands of sportsmen and farmers too must have liked the idea of starting to shoot pheasants at 10 a.m. instead of noon but they didn't write letters about it.

But what a letter says, the thought or idea it carries, can be most important. I recall one letter from a north woods trapper which was so badly written that it took two secretaries a half hour to decipher it for me. It must have been one of the few letters the man had ever written but it carried an idea which was put into practice to improve our trapping regulations.

Most of the hunting regulations are determined in August and after they are set we look them over and wonder which ones will cause the fireworks this year. Now October is gone and of course we now know of the hunting rules caused us to answer the greatest number of letters of protest. Strangely enough it was not department regulations but two laws passed by the 1957 legislature which stirred the most sportsmen and farmers to "take pen in hand". These were the law opening the deer season earlier and the law requiring permission to hunt on lands in crops or containing livestock. The fact that the department had nothing to do with the introduction of these bills was never understood—or at least never heeded by the letter-writers.

The fact that crops are late in being harvested this year is giving both of these laws a severe test. The law which required us to move the opening of the deer season up to November 9 has been bombarded from every angle. There must be some sportsmen who like it too, but of course, they never write. The farmer who plans all year on his annual trip to the north woods after his crops are in has a serious problem. His corn probably will not be harvested by November 9 this year. And speaking of this year, the same thing could happen next year because an early deer season is scheduled under the present law. After that comes the 1959 session of the legislature and it is a safe bet that the Marble Halls will resound with arguments for and against an early season. Possibly someone will even advance the thought that these seasons should be determined by the Department of Conservation.

The late crop harvest has also put the new trespass law to the acid test. Some farmers believe that hunters do little damage in unpicked corn but many do not agree. One sportsman wrote that he had been denied permission to hunt by 21 farmers, another had 17 rejects. On the other hand, some sportsmen report excellent relations with farmers and the development of new and valued friendships.

Everyone agrees that unharvested crops and heavy cover have made hunting difficult. The fact that is not well recognized is this: Even with a good pheasant population the birds are scarce under these conditions because they are evenly distributed. Suppose we have 100 pheasants on a section of land. That is one bird for each 6.4 acres and it takes a lot of walking to cover this area and see one bird. Now suppose the crops are in and most of the ground is bare, pheasants may be concentrated on 10% of the land, which means that a hunter would flush 10 birds, rather than one, in covering his 6.4 acres of ground.

Getting back again to the early deer season and the trespass law, we're going to have these for two years. We should not decide to either like or dislike them until they have had a test. Why not give them an honest prejudice, then your legislators will be glad to have your views. They are anxious to promote good conservation and good farmer-sportsmen relations.

To Select Cookie Queen in St. Paul

Chosen at Farm Bureau Convention November 18

"Queen of the Butter Cookies" will be chosen on November 18 at Minnesota Farm Bureau's annual meeting in St. Paul.

Seven district winners will compete for the championship plus $100. Reserve champion wins $50, third place $25, while the other four each earn $15 awards.

"75 counties participated this past spring and summer," according to Mrs. Lewis Minion, Farm Bureau Women's Committee chairman. "Of the four contests our Farm Bureau women have sponsored to promote increased use of farm products, the Butter Cookie contest was most enthusiastically received," she added.

"Farm Bureau women sponsor this statewide contest to promote greater interest and use of surplus dairy and farm products, with emphasis on butter and eggs," she commented.

In the view of Sylvia Porter, the business and financial analyst, the overwhelming percentage of American homes are under-insured. She writes that a home that was built for $8,000 in 1937 would cost $21,000 today, and that a $38,000 erected just before World War II couldn't be duplicated for under $100,500 now. An improvement job that could be done for $5,000 in 1946 would cost $7,000 at the present time.

Always the heart of our business

Why do most drugstores sell everything from breakfast to dance wax . . .? The answer is simple. It is a matter of economic necessity. Americans, thank goodness, are generally healthy and there are not enough prescriptions to keep all drugstores going. Thus, we sell a variety of merchandise. By so doing we are able to stay open and render assistance whenever and wherever it is needed. Prescription service, however, continues to be the heart of our business and we are always pleased to assist you when medication is needed.

Six Months Accident Record Is Analyzed

There were 1,500 more traffic accidents in the first six months of this year than there were in the same period of 1956, according to a report issued today by the Minnesota highway department.

In a summary of motor vehicle traffic accidents in Minnesota, the report revealed that 27,866 motor vehicle accidents had been reported to the department during the six months through June 30, 1957. There were 26,319 during the comparable 1956 period.

Drivers of motor vehicles involved in accidents in Minnesota are required to report these accidents to the Commissioner of Highways should they involve death, injury or total property damage of $50.00 or more in the accident.

In the accidents, 236 were fatal resulting in the deaths of 282 persons. This was up 36% over the 215 persons killed during the same period of 1956.

There were 6,934 accidents resulting in injuries to 10,558 persons; while 20,696 resulted in property damage only.

The highest number of accidents reported resulted from collisions between motor vehicles, 23,160. The second group were those single vehicles which ran off of roadways, 1,822 in which 75 persons were killed and 1,333 injured.

The greatest number of accidents reported occurred on urban streets. The 20,966 reported resulted in 68 persons killed and 6,486 injured. In contrast, the 6,900 accidents on rural trunk highways and other rural roads resulted in 174 fatal accidents in which 224 persons died; while 4,072 persons were injured.

"The report bears out the department's stand against high speeds," a department spokesman said. "Whereas almost four out of five accidents occur in urban areas where speeds are reduced, three-fourths of the fatal accidents happen in rural areas where speeds are higher.

"This is not to say that speed in itself was the cause of the accident, but uncontrolled speed was an imporant factor which increased the severity of the accident that did happen."

Almost nine out of ten of the drivers involved in traffic accidents lived within 25 miles of the accident scene; while only about five per cent of the drivers were from points outside of Minnesota.

Twenty-one or Blackjack is often called "the old Army Game." It won this famous title during World War 1 when it was the most popular card game among the dough-boys on the Western Front in France and Flanders.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Additional information or assistance on veterans' benefits may be obtained by writing or visiting the VA Contact Representatives at the Minot VA Hospital, or the Bismarck or Grand Forks VA offices.

Q—My World War II GI term insurance policy lapsed two months ago. I'd like to reinstate and, at the same time, convert to a permanent plan. What premiums will I have to pay?

A—You will have to pay one monthly premium at the term rate plus the first premium at the rate required by your new permanent policy. Also, you must sign a statement that you are in as good health as you were when the term policy lapsed.

Q—If a school drops a veteran enrolled under the Korean GI BILL because of too many absences, would he be allowed to make his one-and-only change of course and study something else?

A—Only if he can establish that his unsatisfactory attendance record was due to reasons beyond his control. If he cannot establish this fact, he will be denied further training, under the law.

Q—I understand that World War II veterans may apply for GI loans before July 25, 1958. Does this mean I actually must have obtained my GI loan money before this date?

A—Not necessarily. Instead, the lender must have agreed to make you the loan, and must have requested VA's approval, before the deadline date.

Q—My daughter is eligible for schooling under the War Orphans Education program. Would she be permitted to attend school in France?

A—No. War Orphans schooling is educational institutions outside the United States is prohibited by law.

Q—I hold a Korean GI term insurance policy, the kind that doesn't pay dividends. May I add the special provision to this policy that would pay me a monthly income in case I am totally disabled?

A—No. The total disability income provision may not be added to Korean GI insurance policies that do not pay dividends. That's the law.

Q—I am selling my GI house. If I get relief from liability to the Government, does that mean I automatically will be entitled to another GI loan?

A—No. Relief from liability does not automatically restore your entitlement to another GI loan. Restoration of loan rights is possible only under certain conditions, such as selling your home for reasons of health, a change of job, etc.

Q—Under the Survivor Benefits Act, will the widow of a deceased peacetime veteran receive less than the widow of a war veteran? There is a difference in payments under the old death compensation program.

A—Payments under the Survivor Benefits Act will be the same whether death occurred as a result of peacetime or wartime service. There is no payment differential, as there is under the death compensation program.

Q—I am a retired peacetime veteran, and I have elected to receive disability compensation from VA. Would I be entitled to outpatient treatment for my service-connected disability?

A—Yes. You would be entitled to VA outpatient treatment...

Maybe no one has ever actually bound your wrists with a rope. But haven't you, at times, felt as if you were literally hand tied? You struggle and strain with your problems and anxieties, and you are completely unable to get free.

Such moments come to everyone, and they are not easy to face. It's simple to be serene when things are going well. But when your hands are tied—when you feel helpless, even hopeless—then you begin to realize life cannot be lived alone.

It's then that you know how important Faith is—how it is something you absolutely must have. With Faith to sustain you, you inevitably begin to see your way out. Without it, you flounder.

Turn to the Church—not just because you are troubled, but because it can give you spiritual freedom.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.
